

Cards' Sluggers Pacing NL All-Star Team Balloting

NEW YORK (AP)—Three St. Louis Cardinals sluggers are pacing the balloting for the 1956 all-star baseball game at Washington on July 10.

at third were leading Tuesday as the polling entered its last four days. The Cards are the only team in either league with the possibility of placing three men in the starting lineup, picked by the fans.

Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, currently pacing New York Yankee in the American League race, are running one-two in the individual race.

Pittsburgh's Dale Long remains the leader in the national league with 23,666.

Thousands Flock To Opening Of Racing Season At Ascot

ASCOT, England (Reuters)—Despite gloomy skies Tuesday thousands flocked to the pagoda-filled opening of Ascot's June racing season—as much to look and to be looked at as to cheer their favorite horses to the wire.

At Ascot, as famed for its fashions as its fillies, bluebloods of the social world compet with bluebloods of the turf for the crowd's attention.

The crowning event of the opening was the entrance of Queen Elizabeth and members of the Royal Family riding in five open horse-drawn carriages up the course to start the racing.

The Queen, in a red and white patterned silk dress with a wide-brimmed straw hat, and the Duke of Edinburgh in morning dress with a black silk hat instead of the traditional grey topper, waved to the crowds as they headed the jingling procession over the turf.

Around the royal box 2,000 flowers—hydreangeas, violas and delphiniums added color to the scene.

The Queen's party, escorted by mounted outriders, arrived just before the first race, the Queen Anne Stakes, won by Sir Victor Sassoon's Kandy Sauce at 10 to 1. This event is named after the Queen who one day in the 18th century when she was cantering across Ascot heath, thought it would be fun to organize horse races.

The royal pageant has been maintained ever since. Even Queen Victoria, who loathed horse racing, seldom miss the Ascot meeting.

In its early days Royal Ascot was not always conducted with the impeccable decorum of today. Highwaymen used to lie in ambush on the roads to relieve winners of their cash. King William IV was hit on the head with a brick thrown by a drunken sailor and King George III had his watch stolen by a pickpocket.

Though the course itself has been modernized, several social taboos are as strong as ever. Entrance to the most exclusive patch of turf in Britain—the royal enclosure—is limited to a privileged few. Members of the aristocracy must apply in advance for admission and royal officials scrutinize every application with microscopic care.

Howell Receives Indefinite Suspension From Baseball For Part In Night Club Fracas

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Catcher-coach Homer E. (Dixie) Howell of the Montreal Royals Wednesday was suspended from baseball "indefinitely" for taking part in an early morning fracas at a night club.

Howell, 35, and pitcher Billy Harris, 25, of Dorchester, N.B., were fined $25 each on disorderly conduct charges in city court this morning and Robert F. Walz, 25, also a pitcher, drew a $50 fine on charges of creating a disturbance and resisting arrest.

Howell told Judge Albert Saperstein he had been suspended for one year and later said the action came from E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi, executive of the Brooklyn Dodgers, parent club of the Royals.

Bavasi, who is president of the Montreal team, said the suspension was "indefinite."

Greg Mulleavy, manager of the Royals, said he knew nothing of Bavasi's action but that he had suspended Howell indefinitely.

"DRASTIC ACTION"
 Mulleavy said Harris and Walz will face "drastic action" but declined to say what their punishment might be.

Howell told the judge "if I were found not guilty, that might help some." Saperstein said he was taking into consideration the fact that the players faced further discipline from baseball authorities and called the city court sentences "very lenient."

The three players were arrested early Tuesday at the Harem Club. All were charged with disorderly conduct and Walz also was charged with drunkenness and resisting arrest.

Harris said a man in a white shirt struck him in the club men's room. Police said the baseball players went looking for the assailant.

None of the three was in uniform Tuesday night when Miami defeated the Royals, 4-3, in the first of a three-game series.

Denies Race Is Cruel To Horses

LONDON (AP)—Kent Hughes, Australian chairman of the Olympics organizing committee, Tuesday denied suggestions that the cross-country course in the Stockholm equestrian games was cruel to the horses.

"I have had a lot of uncalculated attacks about the course being cruel," Hughes said on arriving from Stockholm.

"It was a wonderful race with fine horses. The cream of the world was competing on a tough circuit."

"If it had been easy, everyone would have got over and there would have been no competition."

Two Swedish societies for protection of animals had charged the course was cruel. A Swedish horse had to be destroyed after a chase, and a dozen were injured, mostly only slightly.

Brough And Hoad Top-Seeded In All-English Tennis Play

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Lew Hoad of Australia and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., drew the top-seeded singles spot Tuesday for the annual All-England tennis championships beginning here June 25.

With the 1955 champion, Tony Trabert, now a professional, the United States turned up with one of its weakest challenges in the men's singles division.

Only three American men were seeded and, surprisingly, the best placed of these was the veteran tennis tourist, Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris, who is fourth.

Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., was placed sixth and Vic Seixas, who won the Wimbledon title in 1953, was given the No. 8 spot—an indication of the ground he had lost in the last 12 months.

Hoad was placed No. 1 in the men's division over his Davis Cup
