

PIT RENOVATIONS COMPLETE

by Laura Kilfoil

On Sept 13, the Pit was finally opened. However, very few people were there to see it. They were most likely getting their morning coffee at the Vet College cafeteria, thus flooding these other Marriot facilities.

The opening was delayed by the contractors as construction always seems to run into these little holdups. The contractors had anticipated being done by the third week of August.

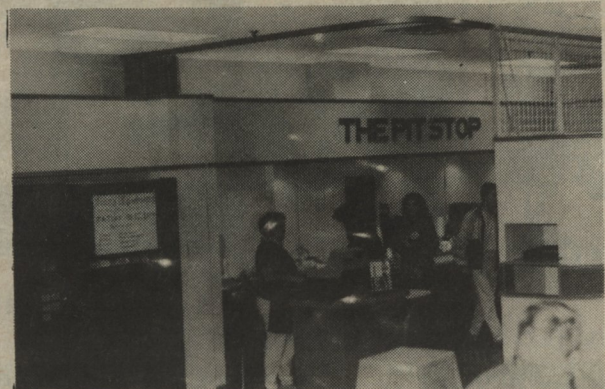

The Pit itself has a brand new and brighter appearance, but the food items are relatively the same. The food service hopes to build on the new amount of space for the display of food. A Minute Maid juice dispenser has been added to the Pit already.

The overall costs of the renovations has been a shared cost between Marriot Corporation and the University. This will not affect the price of the food here on campus.

The new changes were sparked by the need for such a facility in the Pit. What started off as just a coffee cart, grew over the years to include sandwiches and muffins and now is set up properly to accommodate the volume of business taken in. In the summer months, the Pit will also serve as a luncheon area, and be open for other special conference functions. As for a drive-thru, well everything is still expanding!

Question: What began as a mere coffee cart and now sports almost everything except a drive-thru?

Answer: The Newly renovated Pit.
