

Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew
W. J. Hancock, Publisher
Wallace Ward Managing Editor
Frank Walker Editor

ada under license from the U.S. and Britain.

It is also assumed, rightly or wrongly, that in a country like Canada the secrets are less well protected because they are not Canadian secrets to begin with.

According to an Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Telegram, there is as much active spying going on under the shadow of Parliament and the Peace Tower as anywhere in the world.

It is hard to reconcile this, he says, with the image created by some of its exposed leaders in the federal capital. Vasily Tarasov, expelled last year for trying to get industrial secrets from a civil servant, was a popular member of the parliamentary press gallery.

Some years ago the FBI issued a booklet on famous cases that showed a surprising number of postwar spies entered the U.S. via Canada, and on Canadian passports.

Some years ago the FBI issued a booklet on famous cases that showed a surprising number of postwar spies entered the U.S. via Canada, and on Canadian passports.

Food Price Inquiry
Hearings have begun in Washington on a subject of lively concern on both sides of the boundary line.

It is too early to speculate on what the findings will be, but one point is coming through loud and clear at the hearings: The national mania for trading stamps and such gimmicks as free kites and parking lot circuses for the kiddies is a definite factor.

Retailers both large and small agreed that if they failed to offer stamps and giveaways, shoppers would go elsewhere.

The same point has been made by retailers in Canada, on various occasions, and there seems no doubt as to the effect such practices have in keeping prices up.

They still keep trying
The royal commission that investigated the defection of cypher clerk Igor Gouzenko from the Russian embassy at Ottawa in 1945 found that this case was just one link in an espionage chain, and that there were at least four or five other unbroken links to be dealt with.

EDITORIAL NOTES
The next Latin-American trouble spot to erupt into view, says a Washington dispatch, may well be Colombia.

UNFAIR TREATMENT
Sir,—It seems like the Islanders are left out in the cold again. We have a new coastal freighter, to serve between the Island and Newfoundland and it was understood that she was going to have an Island crew on board after she came down from Quebec, but that wasn't the case.

PRINTER'S DEVIL

OTTAWA REPORT By Patrick Nicholson

Flight Stewardesses In Growing Demand

"Want to see the world and meet interesting people?" This is the suggestion being posed to attractive young single women in all parts of Canada by our national air line.

Life In Antarctica

The animal known to live farthest south is a pink mite about one hundredth of an inch long. It is a tiny spiderlike creature that feeds on algae and fungi.

PUBLIC FORUM

This column is open to the discussion by correspondents of questions of interest. The Guardian does not necessarily endorse the opinion of correspondents. All letters published are subject to editing and condensation where necessary. The Guardian is unable to enter into any correspondence regarding letters submitted.

The Neglected RIN

Separatist elements thought they had staged a major coup by their noisy demonstrations at the time of the Queen's visit to Quebec City last fall.

Vitamins No Value

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen
Mrs. C. writes: "For three years I have been treated for myopia of the right eye. The ophthalmologist explained this is a chronic condition. Tests to determine if it resulted from an infection elsewhere in my body have been negative. The doctor said it will burn itself out, but in the meantime, it is affecting the sight in my right eye. My sister believes vitamins can cure anything. Your advice will be appreciated."

To Wage Verbal Combat

College campus opposition to American policy in Viet Nam has given birth to an all-night phenomenon called the teach-in. And it's finest hour yet will come in Washington Saturday.

Somebody Should Know

Prime Minister Pearson isn't expected to know everything, but some things he doesn't know, Justice Minister Favreau should know.

Our Yesterdays

YESTERDAY Prime Minister Churchill placed Lord Beaverbrook in charge of aircraft production in a hurry.

Our Yesterdays

YESTERDAY Prime Minister Churchill placed Lord Beaverbrook in charge of aircraft production in a hurry.

Our Yesterdays

YESTERDAY Prime Minister Churchill placed Lord Beaverbrook in charge of aircraft production in a hurry.

Our Yesterdays

YESTERDAY Prime Minister Churchill placed Lord Beaverbrook in charge of aircraft production in a hurry.

Our Yesterdays

YESTERDAY Prime Minister Churchill placed Lord Beaverbrook in charge of aircraft production in a hurry.

Advertisement for Holland-America Line, featuring a ship and contact information for Halifax, N.S.