

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 30, 1896.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Since the election Sir Richard has come to the front, and the industries of the country tremble.

The last important work of the Liberal Government is the settling of the contract for a Fast Atlantic Service.

We are compelled to-day to hold over editorial matter and also the concluding part of our special correspondence on the International Sunday School Convention.

The problem for Mr. Laurier: How to cut down the expenditures according to promise, and at the same time satisfy the office-seekers and boosters to whom the "grand triumph" is due.

We hope and believe that the Liberal Conservative Government will not, in its last hours, do anything to sink the splendid record that has been made, or lengthen the period of Grit rule in Canada.

Mail and Empire: Already the Ottawa correspondent of the chief Liberal organ in this city begins to broach the subject of spoils. The atmosphere down there seems to be fragrant with the smell of soap, and the hungry cuts are gathering.

The New York Times accounts for the result in Canada by quoting the text "Jesus in waxel fat and kicked." In the next three paragraphs will not add to his adipose tissue to any extent, but at the end thereof he will kick even more emphatically than he did on Tuesday.

There can be no question that Sir Charles Tupper would be constitutionally justified in holding office until after the meeting of Parliament. The only question is would such action on his part be expedient in the interests of the country and the Liberal Conservative Party.

It is certain that Mr. Laurier has a majority behind him sufficient to defeat the Government, the sooner the better. Let Mr. Laurier and his incongruous following be satisfied that the responsibilities of government as soon as possible. Give them no cause for complaint upon that score.

The story that Hon. D. Davies' little steamer had been disabled by torpedoes in Murray Harbour was a base fabrication of the press. It now appears that the steamer had nothing whatever to do with the matter, and that the statement was one of the many "nonsense" published on the eve of election to create a prejudice against the Liberal Conservative Party.

It is remarkable, says the Gazette, that in all the "slater" of the Laurier Cabinet the newspapers are making, a number of provincial public men, some of them not even in parliament, are included. To quote again the classic phrase of the Toronto Globe, applied to the Conservative Ministers, there would seem to be a popular agreement that a good many of the successful Liberal candidates come under the classification of "a lot of duds."

Montreal Gazette: Sir Leonard Tilley's death has drawn from the press many tributes to his high personal character and political ability. When Sir Leonard was in active life the sneering snobs of the same papers were in the habit of alluding to him as "Sir Bolus" at the point of the supposed joke being that in his youth he had earned his living as a druggist. When their words cannot affect voters, Liberal papers are willing to admit virtue in even the ablest of Conservative public men.

Behind the lines of Torres after the grand manner of Mr. Laurier, or behind a tree or an abatis, after the sneaking manner of the Indians who used to harass the early white settlers, may be a good point of vantage for an Opposition member not proud to take it up. But in either case the Liberal Leader will find he has to leave his defences and either advance or retreat. He will have to fight in the open, and in the open he will be met by a party which does no "skulking," and which will win the House if it is on. So says the Mail and Empire.

Mr. McMillan, a Congressman, of Tennessee, says: "We are rejoiced to see that this principle of 'Trade is now to be extended, and that Canada is likely to agree to more liberal commercial relations with us. New tariff laws on the part of Canada will increase our trade with our northern neighbors and furnish an outlet for our own goods. Canada will be the gainer from more liberal laws with the United States, and the more unrestricted you can make trade between the two countries, the better it is for each. Canada will gain, and the United States will also gain proportionately."

The Ottawa Journal, which supported the Conservative party in the general elections of 1887 and 1891, and whose sympathies have been generally Conservative and are likely to remain so if the party leaders will permit, holds nevertheless that this Liberal victory is a good thing for Canada. It was time for a change, for two reasons: first to teach a lesson to the unscrupulous elements of the Conservative organization; secondly to give the Liberal a chance to identify themselves loyally and resolutely with the fortunes and progress of their country. It was worth the while of the people of the Dominion to risk something for these objects, to risk some distance of tariff and trade, some possibility of incompetence in the public guidance. The Liberal have won; they must now prove themselves, and the country's eyes will be keen.

It is reported that England is suffering from a glut of money.

It is rumored that the great European powers have agreed to a joint action in respect to the preservation of the status quo in Cuba.

Mr. Harrison, the Crown Surveyor of British Guiana, who was arrested by Venezuelans, has been released by orders from the government at Caracas.

Some agitators want to institute shower-baths in the Boston Public schools for the benefit of the pupils. The school committee has already introduced cooking and sewing schools, but it shrinks from undertaking to establish baths.

It was doubtless with the idea of bringing the Matachele uprising to an end with a little bloodshed as possible that Milno, the Kafir god, who went forth the fiery cross from his cave in Matopo hills, was shot the other day. He supplied the religious enthusiasm of the movement by the rebels to recover the country from the British. His death will tend to dishearten them, and at the same time to suppress the horrid rites which are practiced whenever it is sought to excite a war fever among them.

IT IS DIFFERENT IN THE COUNTRY.

City people don't begin to know all the discomforts a long cold winter brings to people in the country. There is no hardship in leaving a warm house merely to step into a heated street car and be rapidly conveyed in comfort to wherever one's business takes one. But when one must go right out and face the elements either walking or driving with no protection except what one's clothing affords, it is different. No one cares to be weighed down with the burden of many garments, and yet warmth must be had by some means; and thus the idea of using a Fibre Chamoo's interlining in all winter clothing has become deservedly popular. Its weight, without weight, and wind and waterproof qualities are highly appreciated by all who require to be much out of doors.

Another young woman from the ranks of society is to make an attempt at commercial enterprise. Miss Helen Brown of the New York "four hundred," is shortly to open a millinery establishment.

Fast Atlantic Service.

A Game at Which Two Can Play.

OTTAWA, June 30. The Cabinet had a three hour session yesterday, and at its close the Secretary of State informed your correspondent that it had been decided to ask the Imperial Government to concur in awarding the contract for a Fast Atlantic Steamship Service to the Allan Line.

Sir Charles also informed me that the Government-General would return to the capital on Thursday.

When asked whether this implied the immediate resignation of the ministry thereafter the Premier replied: "By no means." Until such time as the period for holding accounts had elapsed the government would certainly not step out.

On being informed that the grits were indicating their intention of protesting a number of conservative seats in close constituency, Sir Charles said that "that was a game at which the other side could play," and added with a laugh, "one in which we have generally come out ahead."

Great Expectations.
