MacDonald-Jones Wedding

—St. Marks Church, Lot 7 ,was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday morning, September 7, when Martha Melvina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jones of Campbellton, became the bride of Garth Laurance, son of Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald of O'Leary.

The alter was tastefully decorated with gladioli and mixed flowers. Rev. Father Trainor performed the double-ring ceremony and celebrated nuptial Mass. Mrs. Bennet Haywood was organist and Miss Shirley Haywood, soloist.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and was attended by Miss Loraine MacDonald, sister of the groom.

LAC. Kenneth Goodin was groomsman.

The bride chose a suit of rose beige with wine accessories and wore a corsage of Talisman roses. She carried a white prayer book, gift of the groom.

The bridesmaid wore a mauve suit with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of blue crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The groom's mother was attired in blue nylon sheer with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents in O'Leary. The table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. The toast to the bride was proposed by LAC. D. J. Hardy and responded to by the groom.

Those assisting in serving were Mrs. Claud MacNeil, Mrs. Ira Ellis and Mrs. Arthur Harris.

Following a short honeymoon LAC. MacDonald will leave for Montreal and Gimli, Man., where the groom has been posted.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Russel Whittney, Jamaica Plain, Mass., Miss Bernice MacDonald, LAC and Mrs. Douglas Hardy, Summerside.

CROSBY AND HOPE IN "ROAD TO BALI," CAPITOL, SUMMERSIDE

Everybody talks about what this country needs—but Paramount Pictures has decided, and wisely so—that what this republic sorely lacks is plenty of laughs. This being their premise, they set out to produce a film that would go a long way in alleviating this alleged national laugh deficiency. They've come up with the answer in their new Technicolor comedy riot, "Road to Bali," which spread joy right up to the maximum in its gala opening at the Capitol Theatre today.

The story, which serves as an excuse for the inspired shenanigans of Crosby and Hope, presents them as a pair of hand-me-down song-and-dance men performing in an out-of-the-way Australian dance hall. Things become uncomfortably "warm" in the area when the boys learn that their respective girl friends have big brothers. They take off for parts unknown and wind up on a secluded atoll nearby the mysterious and colorful isle of Bali.

There Bing and Bob meet an unscrupulous South Sea island prince, villainously protrayed by Murvyn Vye, who hires them to dive for sunken treasure. What he forgets to tell the boys is that every diver who has braved the watery chore has been strangled to death by a giant squid. Dorothy Lamour, the prince's cousin awakens their interest and soon becomes involved in their wacky enterprise. Suffice to say, the laughs keep mounting as Bing, Bob and Dotty run into savage cannibals, beautiful native girls, ferocious animals, a fun loving gorilla and some surprise "guest stars."

long time," declared Peter. "There are some of the best things there that I have eaten all summer. Have you suddenly lost your appetite, or are you afraid?"

"I'll have you to know that I'm not afraid to go anywhere that you're not afraid to go, Peter Rabbit," declared Johnny somewhat sharply. "As for my appetite, I always have an appetite. I never lose it."

Peter chuckled as he looked at Johnny Chuck. Johnny looked to be almost broad as he was long. "I can believe that," said Peter.

Johnny Chuck moved a bit nearer the fence. He reached forward with an inquisitive black nose and touched a wire that was in the way. Perhaps he thought it was just a vine or a root that he could cut. Instantly, Johnny Chuck turned a back somersault, fat as he was. He fell on his back sprawling, and he was so fat that he had hard work to roll onto his feet again. Peter Rabbit was dancing about with glee. This is what he had hoped for. This was what had happened to him the night before. This was his idea of a joke. A lot of people are like this. They think that unpleasant things they cause to happen to other folk are jokes, are something funny to laugh at. They are altogether wrong.

LONDON, (CP)—Fines imposed for motoring offences in England and Wales last year totalled £687,500, or eight per cent more than in 1951. There were 396,392 prosecutions.

Confirmation Service At Seven Mile Bay And Borden

—The sacrament of Confirmation was administered in St. Peter's Church, Seven Mile Bay, on September 9 by His Excellency Most Rev. James Boyle, Bishop of Charlottetown, assisted by Rev. P. F. MacDonald, Chancellor of the Diocese, Rev. R. F. MacDonald, pastor, and Rev. T. P. Hammill, Curate.

Seventy children and three adults were confirmed. Acting sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. George Sherry. The children were under the supervision of Mrs. Austin Murphy and Mrs. Ellsworth Noonan.

A powerful sermon was delivered by His Excellency, the Most Rev. Bishop, in which he pointed out to the large congregation the great evil of the abuse of intoxicating liquor. He also stressed the importance of instilling into the mind of the child in early childhood what knowledge he can grasp of God and the things pertaining to him. He also intimated strongly that it was most difficult for the child to make up during its later years the religious training it missed in the early years.

His Excellency received from each child confirmed a pledge to abstain from alcoholic drink. An oral examination in Christian doctrine of those to be confirmed was conducted by the pastor. The choir was under the direction of Mr. Arnold MacGrath with Miss Florrie Green as the organist.

In the afternoon His Excellency Bishop Boyle and his assistants administered the sacrament of confirmation in Sacred Heart Church, Borden, to 35 children and one adult. Acting sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant and the children were under the supervision of Mrs. William McIvor and Mrs. Walter Farmer. The pastor gave an oral examination in Christian doctrine to those being confirmed. His Excellency Bishop Boyle again gave an inspiring address to both parents and children, stressing particularly the duty of parents to begin early training concerning the things of God, and pointed out the evils arising from the use of alcoholic drink.

The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Vincent Grant with Mrs. Clinton Howatt as organist. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament given by Rev. T. P. Hammill brought the ceremony to a close.

The churches at both centres were beautifully decorated with cut flowers. The children looked charming, the boys wearing a white ribbon bow on the right arm and the girls wearing white dresses, white shoes and long flowing veils. —L one string in his bow.

Some experts in North's position, recognizing South's double as a plea for a heart response, would consider the ace-jack-nine ample strength for a response in that suit. But this sort of aggressiveness (and relative "fanciness") was really unnecessary — all North had to do was to make the straightforward bid of three diamonds over West's shutout raise of spades. North, with a fair five-card suit, A-J-9 of hearts, and a singleton, had full values for this diamond bid — and then South could have bid the heart suit in safety.
