

Four Safe After Night In Woods

Searchers Find Kiddies Early Saturday Morning

Four Urbenville school children who spent a rainy night lost in the woods were found early Saturday morning by searchers deep in the woods about three-quarters of a mile from Wellington.

Although wet and cold and a bit hungry, they suffered no other ill effects from their experience, and at the time of their discovery were following the sound of the fire siren at Wellington which had been kept going to serve as a directional guide both for the lost children and for the men who took part in the search.

When overtaken by rain and darkness the two boys built a makeshift shelter of bows under which the four children spent the night. They were discovered by two members of a large search party, William Arsenault and Ralph Arsenault, who provided the hungry children with sandwiches, and fired several shots signalling to the other searchers that the children had been found.

The children, Roger Arsenault, age 14, and his two sisters, Yvonne, 10, and Louise, 9, and Reggie Hitchcock, 12, became lost in a large wooded area near their home in Urbenville where they had gone after school on Friday to look at some rabbit snares.

One of the largest searches in this province was organized under direction of R.C.M.P. officers on Friday night when approximately 125 men formed an extended human chain that searched sections of the large woods despite heavy rain and strong wind until after 1 a.m. when the main search was discontinued until daylight. However, some of the men continued the search independently until

Waterfront At S'side Busy Over Week-end

The waterfront at Summerside presented a busy appearance over the week-end with two large freighters in dock, one at the new Marine Wharf to load potatoes, and the other completing the unloading of fertilizer chemicals at Holman's Wharf before beginning to load potatoes. A fisheries patrol vessel was also tied up at Summerside.

Travelling conditions have been improved on the Marine Wharf roadway which had been very muddy and almost impassable after heavy rain recently. Yesterday the road was dried out and appeared to be in good condition. A top dressing of gravel has been added recently to give firmer traction.

Says Shortage Of Reefers To Be Eliminated

Mr. J. Watson MacNaught, M.P., returned from Ottawa over the week-end with assurance from railway officials that the shortage of refrigerator cars for shipment of potatoes will be eliminated immediately.

While in Ottawa Mr. MacNaught received a telegram from produce dealers in this province regarding the present shortage of "reefer" cars. Mr. MacNaught took this matter up with the proper authorities and said last night that the situation will be remedied that reefer cars will be directed to Prince Edward Island at once and that arrangements will be made with private lines to supply additional cars.

Successful School Parade Program

On Friday evening, October 29th, another successful School Parade program was broadcast from the studios of radio station CJRW with Clarence Mercer handling the program in the absence of Charles Linkletter. The talent displayed by the young participants was very good, showing care on the part of both performers and instructors to bring out the best of which their particular talent was capable.

The "dollars for scholars" portion of the program sponsored the worthy cause of the "Boy Scout and Cub apple day" held on Saturday, October 30th. The "jack pot" quiz question successfully answered by Anne Leard, who drew the lucky number, was based on the scout motto "Be Prepared" and $7.50 was won by her, while $2.50 went to the local Boy Scout and Cub groups. Questions sent in by students last week will be carried forward and included in the draw on next week's program.

In the interscholastic quiz contest featured on the program, Seaview School won by a close margin over Lower Beedee; the final score being 14-12. The students participating were: Seaview: Vivian Duggan, Helen Murphy, Walter Stewart, Lois Murphy, Lower Beedee: Janet Affleck, Alan Wright, Anne Leard, Katherine.

Will Continue Stamp Series On Prime Ministers

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's stamp series commemorating all her prime ministers since Confederation will be continued Monday with the issue of new stamps bearing the likeness of two 19th-century heads of state.

The new stamps will portray Sir John Thompson, prime minister from 1892 to 1894, and Sir Mackenzie Bowell, prime minister from 1894 to 1896. Both were Conservatives.

The issues will carry the portrait of Sir John Thompson on a purple four-cent stamp while Sir Mackenzie Bowell's likeness will appear on a blue five-cent stamp. The stamps were designed from photographs in the public archives.

Post office policy is to commemorate former prime ministers on stamps only after they are dead.

Under this policy, the new issues will leave only two prime ministers since Confederation: Sir Charles Tupper, May-July 1896 and R. B. Bennett, 1930-35. Stamps bearing their portraits will be issued later.

The first Canadian stamp bearing the likeness of a prime minister was an orange one-cent stamp showing Canada's first head of state, Sir John A. Macdonald, who served from Confederation in 1867 until 1873. It was issued in 1927.

NEW HOME TEST TO AID IN CONTROL OF HEART DISEASE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Development of a simple, inexpensive, home-style blood-clotting test which will allow many more people to benefit from valuable drug aids for the control of heart and blood vessel diseases was announced Sunday by a George Washington University doctor.

Capable of being applied in a patient's own home, it's a 1½-minute test for measuring the effectiveness of an assuring the proper use of certain powerful "anti-coagulant" drugs used to prevent or combat blood clotting.

These drugs include such substances as "dicumarol" and they have often proved "life-saving" in complications of coronary thrombosis. They also are useful in treating such conditions as thrombophlebitis of the legs and blood clots of the brain which can result in "strokes."

DAILY TEST

The new test must be done daily to make sure that just the right amount of a given anti-coagulant drug is being administered, but it can be performed at the patient's bedside by any physician or trained technician after 20 minutes of instruction.

A blood-clotting test is required in connection with anti-coagulant treatment because if too much of a given drug is administered, hemorrhage will result; if too little is given, the patient's blood continues to clot.

The new 1½-minute type requires only a drop of blood. The drop is then added to a small amount of a substance derived from the brain of a rabbit. According to the length of time required for clotting (14 to 18 seconds is normal), the amount of anti-coagulant drug to be administered is determined.

The test was devised by Dr. Benjamin Manchester, assistant clinical professor of medicine at the university.

Reports 59 Blind in Prince County As CNIFB Campaign Gets Under Way

"There are 163 blind persons registered with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Prince Edward Island, of whom 59 live in Prince County," said Mr. W. Chester S. MacDonald, campaign chairman in Summerside.

Mr. MacDonald, who heads a general canvass of Summerside for the Institute for the Blind in Prince County, said that the campaign will be conducted from November 1st to 15th, and a tag day will also be held in Summerside on Saturday, November 20th.

"Among the services available to the blind through the Canadian National Institute for the Blind," he continued, "are employment, recreation, library, home teaching and classroom service."

"The opportunity to earn a living is the desire of all of us and the loss of sight does not take away this urge. For this reason, the employment of the blind in full or part time work is one of the most important functions of the institute. It constantly seeks openings for blind persons on its own staff, in its canteens, in sighted industry, in small businesses and in part-time jobs in the home, which give them occupation and money for a few comforts which they would not otherwise enjoy."

"Recreation is most important in normal living and the Institute makes available a large variety of games such as checkers, chess, dominos, bingo, playing cards and puzzles and does everything possible to encourage the blind to enjoy these games, not only amongst themselves but with their sighted relatives and friends."

"The Institute library contains more than 23,000 volumes of Braille books, as well as a wide variety of talking book records and moon type books. These books and records are available on loan to blind persons without charge and postage free."

"The Institute classroom provides at cost, or less, a variety of games and appliances for the blind, as well as such handicraft materials as wool, leather, plastic and cane."

"To pay the cost of these and many other services to the blind people of Prince Edward Island," concluded Mr. MacDonald, "the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is asking the people of this province to support its campaign for funds which is now in progress."

Hog Marketing Expected To Reach Seasonal High In Next Few Weeks

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Marketing of Canada's hogs is expected to rise to a seasonal high during the next few weeks and although prices may dip federal officials feel they will remain higher than the government's support scale.

Prices in the United States likely will decide whether the government will enter the hog-buying business. As hog surpluses increase, Canada becomes more and more dependent on the U.S. as an export outlet. Canadian prices usually follow those in American stockyards.

Federal officials are watching the situation, but they feel it will not be necessary to purchase surplus hogs.

Canadian prices have dropped from peaks established earlier in the year, but are still higher than the government's support of 23 cents a pound, basic grade A dressed carcasses at Toronto and Montreal. Prices last week at Montreal were 21-2 cents a pound and at Toronto 26 1-2.

The support price varies regionally and prevails only at public stockyards. In Manitoba it is 20 cents, prevailing at Winnipeg only. Hogs sold at Winnipeg last week at about 23 cents a pound.

In Saskatchewan, the support price is 19 cents, prevailing at Regina, Prince Albert, Saskatoon

Pope Pius To Inaugurate New Annual Religious Feast For Catholics Today

By Patrick Crosse
VATICAN CITY, (Reuters)—A new annual religious feast for the world's 400,000,000 Roman Catholics will be inaugurated today by Pope Pius XII when he leaves his summer retreat in the Alban hills to conduct a ceremony in Rome.

Fifty thousand pilgrims from many parts of the world, including 40 cardinals and 300 bishops, will be invited to reach a seasonal peak of about 125,000 a week. Canada can absorb only 100,000 hogs a week at the most and most of the surpluses are expected to go to Chicago which likely will set the Canadian prices.

However, in the last year or so, hog prices have remained fairly high, encouraging more farmers to start production. Marketings are expected soon to reach a seasonal peak of about 125,000 a week. Canada can absorb only 100,000 hogs a week at the most and most of the surpluses are expected to go to Chicago which likely will set the Canadian prices.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. James O'Brien include: Mrs. Michael J. Morrison and Mrs. Thelma A. McKinnon, Grand River, and Messrs. Everett McKinnon and Mr. Alden MacDougall of Rumford, Maine.

Her many friends, both young and old regret to learn that Miss Lois Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Cameron of Summerside is a patient in Prince County Hospital, but are pleased that she is making a satisfactory recovery from an appendectomy operation.

Expect Record Hunting Season

VANCOUVER (CP)—Big game authorities anticipate a record hunting season in British Columbia this year.

Nimrod goes into a huge wild area as large as the states of Washington, Oregon, California and most of Idaho combined—and a peak yield is expected because of a change in big-game range management.

Hunters who notched their guns previously at the expense of some farmer's livestock will be able to try their luck this year on female deer and cow moose.

For the first time in half a century, elk hunting will be permitted on Vancouver Island.

In 1933, 27,900 deer and 5,190 moose were taken plus caribou, grizzly and black bear, and mountain goat and sheep.

In the same period, shotguns dropped 429,200 ducks, 355,700 grouse and 51,250 pheasant. Red-capped hunters took out more than 86,000 fire-arm permits.

Purpose behind this year's partial open season on female animals is to thin out an overabundance of game.

British Dock Workers Return To Jobs Today

LONDON (AP)—The waterfront strike that crippled eight great British ports is over.

The 44,000 strikers, most of whom quit work a month ago in defiance of their union leaders, voted Saturday to go back to the docks Monday and start unloading the more than $500,000,000 worth of imports and exports tied up in ships in warehouses.

The strike ended with a compromise on the main issue—the principle of compulsory overtime. The strikers agreed to work on a voluntary overtime basis while the matter is negotiated.

At 8 a.m. Monday the wharf gates will be thrown open and the dock workers will stream back to tackle the 350 ships left idle during a walkout that brought Britain's overseas trade to a near standstill.

Port officials said it will be weeks before the giant London docks are working normally. Thousands of pounds worth of Christmas exports have been cancelled and shipping companies alone estimate their losses at more than $2,000,000.

HAILS VICTORY

Vic Markey, unofficial leader of the strike, called the settlement terms "a glorious victory."

The London dockers who demand an end to compulsory overtime are to get their own way. Provincial dockers who quit work in sympathy have been promised new agreements to be negotiated locally.

Union leaders urged the men to work as much overtime in the next few weeks as possible to clear the docks of waiting ships and cargoes.

The back-to-work vote was made by cheering dockmen at a series of mass meetings across the country. The London vote first.

The other ports quickly followed suit.

Further meetings between employers and union leaders will be held in a month to review progress in getting a voluntary overtime clause written into agreements in London and the provincial ports.

NEVER CATCH UP

David Macdonald, general manager of the National Association of Port Employers, said: "We can never entirely catch up. Irretrievable damage has been done, schedules missed and cargoes possibly lost."

More than 5,000 London dockers attended the back-to-work meeting. Only 12 voted against.

The dispute began last Sept. 28 at London's Royal Albert docks with a walk-out over meat sorting pay and whether overtime should be compulsory.

The decision to return to work affects eight of Britain's largest ports—London, Liverpool, Garston, Birkenhead, Manchester, Southampton, Hull and Rochester.

Mr. Charles McKenna, returned to Rumford, Maine, last week after spending a pleasant holiday with his sister, Miss Mary and brothers, Joseph, Wilfred and Edward.
