A KING'S AMUSEMENT.

Otho Happiest When He Thinks He Has Killed a Peasant.

The one insane monarch who now occupies a European throne, King Otho, of Bavaria, shows no symptoms of recovery from his mental malady.

He has lucid intervals, which are very brief and occur but rarely, and it is as well, for these fleeting gleams of reason only serve to make the poor man miserably unhappy, for while they last he realizes his own wretched condition to the full.

Everything is done to amuse and interest him in his ordinary state, which is that of helpless as well as dangerous insanity. He spends his days in unceasing occupation of an insignificant and mechanical nature.

At one time he worked from morning till night in rolling cigarettes. Then he took to peeling potatoes, and bushels upon bushels of them were provided for his amusement.

Of late his favorite pastime is by no means of such an inoffensive nature. He has taken to shooting peasants, and will sit all day long with his gun at the window waiting for this new kind of game, on which to exercise his skill. Even this freak his guardians have contrived to satisfy without injury to any one of his subjects. His gun is loaded in his presence, as he always insists upon seeing the powder and shot duly put in, but for the latter his attendant substitutes dry peas.

Orders have been given that no person shal be allowed to pass along the road in front of his dwelling, lest King Otho should fire upon him or her, and be driven quite wild at seeing his intended victim walk off unhurt. But at stated intervals a man in a peasants's garb makes his appearance on the road.

The king takes aim and fires, and the man drops down, to all appearances dead. The supposed body is removed by two of the guards, and some hours later the performance is repeated, to the immense satisfaction of His Majesty.

The make-believe peasant is a figurant from one of the minor theatres of Munich. Generally he simply drops on hearing the shot and remains motionless, but occasionally he varies the performance by dying hard, turning round two or three times before he falls, and expiring in terrific convulsions—a catastrophe that always greatly interests the royal maniac.

IS LAND A PHENOMENA.

The Northern Half of Borneo, Where Storms Produce Strange Results.

The northern half of the Island of Borneo is the queerest and most unsatisfactory place to live that one can imagine. It is a land of constant recurring phenomena, where cyclones are frequent and deluges of water very common. The vegetation in that half is very fine, but in all probability the wildest and most tangled on earth—not even excepting that of Africa. The cause of all the trouble is the shallow condition of the sea north of it, great shoals of sand existing a few miles out which extend along its entire northern length. These shoals are covered by a depth of water not over five feet deep. The constantly recurring winds that blow in that climate change to hurricanes and sweep the smaller islands of all visible life. When such a storm strikes the sand shoals north of Borneo it sweeps up the shallow salt water into its course and drenches the island with it. Often it gathers up sand, great masses of it, from the clear-swept shoal and whirls it for miles high over the island, carrying it into the inland and scattering it everywhere. The work of these great storms does not always end with that. Entire shoals of fish, of all sizes, have been swept up time and again by the fierce winds with the water and scattered about Borneo. In some places the ground would be literally covered with fish, enough to supply a heavy population for weeks. But such luck is no reparation for the evil the winds do, and consequently the northern half will never be inhabited by those who value their lives.

Character in Nicknames.

When Austria was only a dukedom, there were three rulers who won for themselves the respective titles, "Catholic," "Glorious" and "Warlike." The first was perhaps a religious man, like Ferdinand, the Catholic of Spain. The second may have been like Lorenzo, the Magnificent, and the third a great warrior. And so from these titles or nicknames we have likewise some ideas of the conditions of the people while these dukes ruled.

France has had a most wonderful assortment of kings. One was the Little and another the Bold. One was the Stammerer, another Simple, while a third and fourth were Indolent and Fair. These names are descriptive of the kings themselves, but it is hardly to be supposed that a king who was indolent or simple did much to further the interests of his subjects. But when we find Robert II. called the Sage we realize that he ruled wisely, and that the people were better off for it.—Chicago Tribune.

Map of Ancient Rome in Prospect.

The publication of a plan of ancient Rome has been undertaken by the Reale Academia dei Lincei, the leading scientific body of modern Italy. This map was begun by Professor Rodolfo Lanciani in 1867, in the course of the excavations made by Napoleon III. among the ruins of the palace of the Cæsars. Other important explorations were going on at the time. Baron Visconti was searching the domus Gelotiana, the marble wharf at La Marmorata, and the escubitorium of the transtiberine policemen; Guida the baths of Caracalla; J. H. Parker the Tullianum, the walls of Servius, the aqueducts; Prince Torlonia and de Rossi districts of the suburbs. As no plan of ancient Rome has yet been published, the advent of this map will be looked forward to with great interest.—Washington Post.

It's a Mistake to See Too Much.

Very miserable people are those who go through the world seeing too much. They plume themselves upon their ability and proclaim everywhere the wonderful secrets that sharp-sightedness has discovered. They find out small delinquencies and trifling offences of friends, neighbors and servants. We are not at all obliged to them for what they reveal. On the contrary, we are continually trembling lest our own petsin be brought to light or our friend's dear little secret weakness exposed. It is not hard to gain much peace of mind by studying the art of judiciously shutting our eyes. Let us refuse to see too much of other people's errors and mistakes.—Harper's Bazar.

Found a Rich Gold Mine.

LOWER JORDON BAY, N. S., July 3.—Mr. Samuel Locke, of this place, has just discovered a gold mine here that pans out 100 per cent. of pure metal to the ton. It was a rich vein of sound health to which he was restored, by the use of Dodd's kidney pills, and which he would not exchange for any other mine in America. All last winter he suffered from kidney trouble which would not yield to the prescriptions of several doctors. A few months ago Mr. Locke heard of the good work done by Dodd's kidney pills and tried them with the invariable result. To-day he is well and thinks no praise too great for this wonderful remedy. His neighbors are much interested in what they describe as a marvelous cure.

FIGHTING FOR RELIGION.

Men Often Fight Over Political Questions—Why Not for Their Favorite Church.

Soon after we passed Salisbury a man entered the car, having paper and pencil in his hand, and beginning with the first male passenger he said:

"I ain't after no political 'straw,' as they call it, because I don't care shucks how anybody votes or who is elected. What I want ter git is your religious belief."

"What do you want of that?" asked the man addressed.

"I'll explain bime'by."

"But you must explain now. This seems to be a curious sort of proceeding, anyhow."

"Methodist or Baptist?" queried the other as he wet his pencil on his tongue and made ready to write.

"None o' your business! By what right do you assume to ask me such a question?"

"Waal, I'll explain all about it. In the car ahead I've fell in with a cantankerous old Baptist, and we've bin havin it hot and heavy as to whether Methodists or Baptists, air the best."

"But what's that got to do with my religion?"

"A heap, stranger. I'm goin to canvass this train. If thar's a big show o' Baptists I'm goin to keep away from that old shellback and let him go down to destruction, while if thar's a bigger show o' Methodists I'm goin back and git him to call me a liar and then p'nch his blamed old head off!"

Doubted It.

The pretty girl at Old Point was just hopping mad, so she was.

"What's the matter?" asked a young man whom she had only met that evening.

"Those foreigners are too horrid for anything," she exclaimed.

"What have they been doing?"

"Why, that officer I was speaking to asked me if I spoke French?"

"And do you?"

"Why, of course I do. Hadn't I been speaking French to him for half an hour?"

The young man restrained his risibles for later developments.

Once Was Enough.

City Editor—I guess we'll have to discharge Mr. Rider, the bicycler you got to do cycling for us.

Managing Editor—What for? He is well up in the sport is a rider himself and knows all the points about the pastime.

"Oh, he wrote up a lantern parade and didn't call it a pageant."

"But it may have been an oversight. He may learn——"

"But he spoke of the bicycles and called them wheels, instead of glittering steeds of steel."

"Fire him! Fire him! He'll make us a laughing stock."

Happy She

Fortune Teller—You are soon to be married to the man you love.

Miss Calculate—Is he a blond?

"Yes."

"Is his name Harry?"

"Yes."

"Will he give me a ring with a turquoise and two diamonds?"

"Yes."

"Are we going to Europe on our wedding journey?"

"Yes."

Miss Calculate (to friend)—Isn't it wonderful?

It Was Reassuring.

A sailor who had escaped as the only survivor from a shipwreck was in great fear that he would encounter barbarous natives. But he had not gone far before he saw a man hanging on the limb of a tree. "Thank God," said the sailor, "this is a civilized country." And he added a little while after, joyfully: "It is not only civilized, but Christian." He had found a man drunk by the roadside!

Now as to This Case

Swipes—What ails you, old fellow?

Sweedle (with his arm in a sling, a patch over one eye, and a game knee)—Horse ran away with me last Sunday.

"Serves you right for going driving Sunday."

"Yes, but I was on my way to church."

Better Than Most Other Reasons.

"Man," said Mr. Wickware, oracularly, "views woman as a being to be looked up to."

"Is that the reason he lets her stand up when he has a seat in the car," asked Mrs. Wickware, and her husband looked disgusted and said not a word.

The Iron Enters One Man's Sole.

"With all my heart and soul," exclaimed Rivers, sitting down on the edge of the bed the next morning after the house cleaning and pulling something out of his heel with a strong pair of pliers, "I abominate and detest the income tacks!"

Pleased Him.

Hostess—Miss Telfer has no partner for this waltz. You will not mind dancing with her instead of with me?

Flakaway Jones—But, yo' big brack nigger! I'se gwine t' marry wif dat gal myself.

Thomas Jefferson—Mebbe yo' is. But I'se got de coat. —Judge.

Fashion Notes

LADIES continually scan the fashion plates for some new and becoming design in dress to enhance their beauty and charms. There is nothing more becoming than the healthy glow, bright eye, and the firm elastic step of vigorous womanhood. Ladies who suffer from nervousness, sleeplessness, weakness, anæmia, tired feelings, pallor, loss of appetite, hysteria, weak heart, weak stomach, or any nervous disorder, will find Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic a certain cure for all these troubles, and a perfect health restorer and invigorator to nerves, stomach and blood. Price 50 cents a bottle, 6 bottles $2.50. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ar

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Each number of McCLURE'S MAGAZINE contains two illustrated interviews with famous people. Jules Verne, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Tissandier, the famous French Balloonist, Archdeacon Farrar, Thomas A. Edison, F. Hopkinson Smith, H. H. Boyesen, Alphonse Daudet, Camille Flammarion, Edward Everett Hale, Professor Graham Bell and many others, have furnished material for especially prepared interviews, which will appear fully illustrated in this magazine.

HENRY M. STANLEY will contribute, especially for young readers, a story of AFRICAN ADVENTURE.

NATURAL HISTORY AND ADVENTURE.—There will be several articles written by Raymond Blathwayt, who has been called by Mr. W. T. Stead the best interviewer in England, from material furnished him by Carl Hagenback, of Hamburg, the great animal importer and trainer. These articles deal with the Capture of Wild Beasts, the Training of Wild Beasts, the Transportation of Wild Beasts, the Adventures and Escapes of Carl Hagenbeck. The series will be illustrated by an English artist of great skill in drawing animals.

JOHN BURROUGHS, C. F. HOLDER, J. A. C. C. ABBOTT, and other writers famous for their work in this field, will contribute to the Magazine.

Of interest to both Young and Old will be PROF. R. L. GARNER'S AFRICAN EXPEDITION TO THE GORILLAS. Arrangements have been made, in connection with a leading English review, to publish Professor Garner's letters descriptive of his present expedition to Africa. Professor Garner is noted the world over for the curious and interesting investigations he is making in the speech of monkeys. He sailed for Africa last September for the purpose of further pursuing his studies in the native haunts of the gorilla. The illustrations of these articles will be from photographs taken by Prof. Garner in Africa.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE also contains most interesting articles under the heads: "The Edge of the Future," "Newest Knowledge," "Knowledge of Immediate Value," "The Present Hour," "Stranger than Fiction," etc.

The Telephone Company

—OF—

P. E. ISLAND.

Parties using the telephone would find talking much more satisfactory if they would observe the following rules:—

1st. Speak with the mouth about four inches from the transmitter.

2nd. Speak in a moderate tone of voice, not too loud, and distinctly.

3rd. Place the telephone so as to cover the ear just as if you wished to shut out all other sounds. Do not press too hard on the ear.

It is possible to talk and be heard when standing back two or three feet from the transmitter, if you shout loud enough, but it is not a pleasant mode of conversation, is entirely unnecessary, and is a useless waste of wind and lungs, besides being very annoying to all within range of your voice.
