

LIFE IN CANTON.

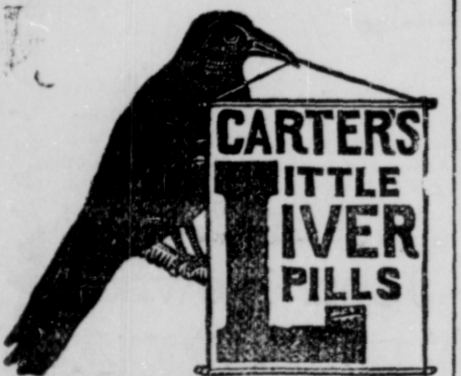

The People and the Customs of a Famous Chinese City.

There are Europeans at Canton, but they live in a settlement outside the native city. Their influence, like their place of abode, is merely upon the outermost edge of the community.

The streets of the city are of a pattern of immemorial antiquity. None is more than ten feet wide. The houses lean inward from the base and almost meet overhead, shutting out all but the narrowest strip of daylight.

Among the most interesting sights of this unchangeable city are the pawnshops. They are often great, square, solid granite structures, which look more like old border keeps than the residences of accommodating "uncles."

In the jade stone market we meet with the Chinese parallel to the western diamond. The best stones are very valuable and are brought from Turkestan, the only place in the world where mines of this stone are worked.

LESSONS OF THE PRESENT WAR.

Vice-Admiral P. H. Colomb, of the British Navy, one of the greatest naval authorities of the day, has written a striking article for the August number of the Pall Mall Magazine on the "Lessons of the Present War," so far as it has gone.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING.

One of the chief beauties of Canada as an agricultural country is that its climate and conditions of soil admit of a diversified system of farming being carried on.

The Canadian farmer, then, should make the most out of the advantages he possesses and follow a system of diversified farming.

KINLOCH NOTES.

The business establishment of Messrs. Anderson Brothers is doing a rushing business in the dry goods line.

Daniel A. Gillis bought the farm of the late James Smith, Newtown, and is now building a handsome house which when done will be a credit to Belfast.

Mr. Donald McKenzie, Orwell Cove, bought the famous milling establishment of the late Artemas Emms, of Grand View, and now in possession of Rod Nicholson.

Mr. J. A. Hale, Grand View, has opened a grocery and hardware store opposite the residence of Malcolm Martin.

The Orwell Dairying Company are doing good work.

A grand tea party will be held at Brush Wharf in a few weeks' time, in aid of a new school and hall.

The barn of John McDonald and the house owned by Angus McLeod were badly shattered in the storm of Sunday, 3rd inst.

Neil McPherson, the public blacksmith, is kept busy at his post night and day.

Mr. Daniel A. Nicholson, merchant tanner, is receiving the congratulations of his friends. A big, bouncing boy this time.

Before You Bathe. Before you take your bath in the morning take a tea-spoonful of Abbey's Effervescent Salt in a tumbler of water, and you will enjoy constant good health.

The Canadian Pharmaceutical Journal says: "A morning draught of this stimulating preparation will send a man to his daily occupation invigorated and ready for any task."

Sold by druggists everywhere at 60 cents a large bottle. Trial size 25 cents.

LESSONS OF THE WAR.

The lessons which the war teaches are now being considered by American as well as foreign observers, the most conspicuous being the necessity for preparedness on the part of a great country like the United States.

Drops From the Editor's Pen.

He who is habitually late to business is usually never a dangerous competitor in life's warfare.

Gas is all right for filling a balloon, but unsafe is it to depend upon for building up a business.

Protectionists and free traders alike are gratified when trade is free from the shackles of Hard Times.

It is no more dangerous to fool with a buzzsaw than it is to fool with bad and dishonest business methods.

When a business is not treated right all the logging chains in creation will not prevent its taking wings.

It is better to have common sense without a university education than a university education without common sense.
