—EDMONTON VISITOR—Mrs. James Johnstone (Minna Bowness) of Edmonton is visiting at Kensington with her sister Mrs. George Simms. It is quite some years since her husband was proprietor of Mill Valley Mills, but time has dealt generously with her. Mr. Johnstone passed away about fifteen years ago. The lure of their "Island" home brings them all back at intervals of some years—some one every year. The place would be dull indeed without them. Sunt and lonesomeness would overcome us.—K

—TOURISTS FROM PENNSYLVANIA—Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hamilton of 2153 Chestnut St., Ardmore, Penn., who made a brief tour of P. E. Island, were interviewed by your scribe last Thursday in Summerside. This being their first visit to the province they were eloquent in praise of its pastoral beauty, and superlative in comparison with other tourist resorts; also regretting that their stay was necessarily too brief. Mr. Hamilton seemed satisfied that he had found the sweet Elysium for surcease from the high tempo of life in the crowded cities. They intend coming again next year to stay much longer. It looks as if we really "have something" in this province that other tourist resorts lack: the gently undulating nature of the land has a soothing effect on all human nature. No doubt it was ever thus from the time of Jacques Cartier, the first white man to leave a written record of a visit—found by the late Professor Caven in the archives of the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris over forty years ago. (Lief Ericson, the Norwegian explorer may have been here, but he left no known written record); the exact words here escaped memory but it was to this effect: "A fair and pleasing land, with myriads of wild birds, brooks and streams teeming with game fish, with practically every part of the surface arable", ad lib. The precise quotation is a good one, which every school child here would do well to commit to memory. K

THE LESSON OF LIFE

This life it is a struggle great,
If you would gain renown,
Step after step we try to rise
And then go tumbling down.

Tho' pained, and bruised, and broken so,
With eyes made dim with tears,
Be brave and take a firmer grip,
Grow steady with the years.

Then hitch your wagon to a star
And never plan to fail;
Don't mind the kicks and knocks you get,
They'll help to blaze the trail.

This world a heaven can be made,
In spite of grief and pain,
The rose you plant on life's pathway
Will surely bloom again.

Never exchange an old, tried friend,
Be honest, good, and kind,
As through this world but once you go,
Sweet memories leave behind.

Give to the poor in their great need
And help the weak grow strong;
Touch the sore and the broken hearts
With a kind word or song.

Bury your troubles deep my friend,
The world will have their own;
Confide in the Eternal One
He'll bear your burdens alone.

When you come to the end of time
Look back over the way,
Rejoice because of victories won
In battles fought today.

—Mrs. John D. Crockett.

J. Patterson; Alberta, by Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, responded to by J. J. Bowlen, M. L. A., Calgary; British Columbia by Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie, responded to by Premier T. D. Pattullo; the Liberal Party of Canada, by Senator Norman Lambert, head of the National Liberal Federation, and Senator Cairine Wilson of Ottawa, and to "our leader" by Mr. Lapointe, both responded to by the Prime Minister.

The banquet was scheduled to start at 7:45 A. D. T., but it was long past that hour before the head table guests were led into the main banquet hall by a piper. Meanwhile, the hotel lobby was a scene of color and considerable acrimonious debate as the harrassed staff of committee clerks attempted to smooth out ticket difficulties.

Less than 1,000 could be accommodated in the main banquet chamber and those forced to sit elsewhere objected strenuously. But provision was made that the Prime Minister and his cabinet, with others of the head table group, would make a visit to each dining room just before the speech-making started so that all might see the guest of honor.

While this round of visits was proceeding the main banquet hall tables were removed and chairs placed to increase the accommodation to nearly 2,000 to listen to the speakers.

In addition to the cabinet, provincial premiers and ministers, the head table was occupied by officials of Liberal Dominion and provincial organizations and dignitaries of the party, old and young.

Sir William Mulock, former chief justice of Ontario and a long-time friend of Mr. Mackenzie King, was to have attended but was prevented through indisposition.

Senator Sir Allan Aylesworth, a minister under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, sat at the Prime Minister's right and Mr. Lapointe at his left. Former Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec also was at the head table.

Senator Dandurand, Government Leader in the Senate, voiced tribute to Mr. Dunning. He read a letter from the Finance Minister which said Mr. Mackenzie King was the leader of the only real national party in Canada.

Premier Campbell's Speech

Responding to a toast to Prince Edward Island, Premier Campbell said it was the Island's honor that she had provided seats at various times for Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Dunning.

There were some who maintained that the Island should not be a province but she definitely was "on the map" as such as far as the Liberal Party went. For in one election, 1935, she had wiped out the Conservatives.

A solid bloc of Liberals represented the Island at Ottawa, Mr. Campbell continued. He predicted there would be another bloc after the next general election because Mr. Mackenzie King held a "spell" over her. The Island was "sold" on Liberalism.

Rumors had been rife that the Liberal Party was divided and so was the nation. Disproof of the latter was the royal visit.

"The gathering tonight dispels the illusion of Liberal disunity," said the Prince Edward Island Premier, declaring that Mackenzie King policies held united both his party and the Dominion.

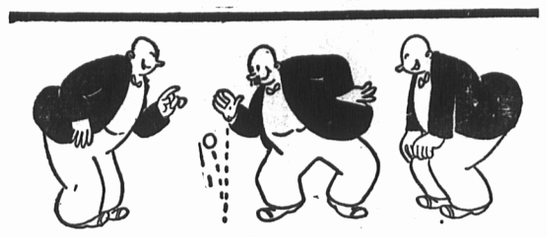
Hero Of Lusitania Disaster Passes

GAINESVILLE, Tex, Aug. 8 —(AP)—Robert J. Timmis, 75, a cotton merchant who was one of the heroes of the Lusitania disaster, died today. On May 7, 1915, shortly after Timmis and a fellow cotton merchant, Ralph Moody, finished lunch aboard the Lusitania, the ship was torpedoed. They gave their lifebelts to two women and plunged into the ocean. Moody drowned, but Timmis swam for several hours until rescued.



Puzzle Over Infant With Exposed Heart

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, Aug. 8—A cooing Filipino baby, with heart completely exposed on its tiny chest, breathed steadily today, baffling medical men as to what they should do.

The seven-pound infant was born yesterday at a maternity hospital in the Tondo slum section. Resting on the chest at birth, completely outside the body, was the heart, connected to the body by a large artery. Otherwise the infant apparently was normal.

Through a stemless cocktail glass, placed over the heart at birth to protect it, doctors and people prominent in Manila have watched the regular beat of the organ. Each pulsation moves it forward with a jerk, then it quickly settles back.

Doctors debated as to when and how they should operate to place the heart within its natural place, the thoracic cavity. X-ray examination disclosed the cavity was underdeveloped, at least two-thirds smaller than the exposed organ.

Prof Lauries Latest Book Favors Germany

LONDON, Aug. 8—Professor Arthur P. Laurie, who revealed he had received a "lump sum" from a Berlin publisher for a book entitled "The Case for Germany", has angrily denied a charge made by the Home Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare last week that the Anglo-German Amity Association known as "The Link" was a tool of Nazi propaganda.

Professor Laurie, 77, prominent chemist and former principal of Watt-Heriot College, Edinburgh, is a member of the council of "The Link," whose activities elicited the following statement from Sir Samuel in the House of Commons last Thursday:

"The professed object of this organization is to promote understanding between England and Germany, but it does nothing to enable the Germans to understand the English view, and devotes itself to expressing the German viewpoints. The information shows that the organization is being used as an instrument of the German propaganda service and that money has been received from Germany by one of the active organizers."

Professor Laurie, discussing the latter charge with newspapermen, said "I cannot imagine that Sir Samuel Hoare was referring to me in his accusation."

After working on his new book for two years, the Professor explained, he offered it to London publishers, "but they said they would not publish a book favorable to Germany."

"On the suggestion of a friend," he went on, "I offered it to the International Publishing Company in Berlin. They said they would publish it and they did so, and I have been paid a lump sum for it. Copies are being distributed to certain people and the book will be on sale in shops in this country.

"It is a two-years' study of the Nazi system, which I examined at first hand, and described the good side of the Nazi organization."

The Link's only paid employee is a typist, and all other work done by the organization is voluntary, Professor Laurie said.

NAZI

gin within the next few days, authoritative Polish sources said tonight.

Warsaw's reply to the Danzig note requesting such negotiations was being drafted here as reports from the Free City said Albert Forster, Danzig Nazi Leader, had gone to Berchtesgaden for an important conference with Chancellor Hitler.

Settlement of the customs war revolving around the Amada Margarine Works at Danzig undoubtedly will be the first problem on the agenda of the Polish-Free City talks. Polish customs inspectors were withdrawn from the plant July 31, because of "Nazi interference" with their work. Warsaw's move automatically made Danzig Margarine subject to Polish customs duties and provoked a Nazi cry that an "economic war" was being waged.

Forster was expected to arrive back in Danzig tomorrow, probably with instructions from Hitler on the course to be followed during the negotiations. Polish quarters indicated the Warsaw Government would reject any Free City demand for reduction of the number of inspectors assigned to Danzig.

Publisher Injured In Fall At Fair

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 —(CP)— Cecil Day, publisher of the Liverpool, N. S., weekly newspaper, The Advance, fell in the New York World's Fair Grounds today and broke his right thigh-bone. He was reported from hospital tonight as "resting comfortably."

Mr. Day's right leg is crippled and he fell when his crutch slipped on the rain-soaked pavement.

The Liverpool publisher was on a two day visit to the Fair with a group of fellow-members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

The Canadian newspapermen were guests of the Borden Company at luncheon and Mr. Day was entering the milk company's pavilion when the accident occurred.

Training Courses Lead To Employment

OTTAWA, Aug 8—(CP)—Practically 30 per cent of the youths taking the Dominion-Provincial training course intended to lead to employment last year were placed in employment, according to a review issued today by the Department of Labor.

In the year ended March 31 last, 15,878 youths took such courses and 4,747 were placed in employment. In other training projects, 55,934 other young men and women were enrolled, 31,676 in agricultural and rural training courses and 24,258 in physical training courses.

British Columbia topped the list in numbers taking courses with 21,893. Next came Quebec with 17,352; Alberta 10,714; Saskatchewan, 9,848; Manitoba, 5,292; New Brunswick, 2,712; Ontario, 2,029; Nova Scotia, 1,363; Prince Edward Island, 589.

Co-operation Stressed Need In Farming

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 8—W. W. Baird, superintendent of the Experimental Station at Nappan, N. S., told farmers who had gathered for the opening of a three day "at home" at the Experimental Station here today that they hadn't as yet begun to farm. "We've just been playing," he said.

He also took the farmers of the Maritime Provinces to task for complaining about markets for their products.

"Farmers in the Maritimes have a market, and a good one," he said. "But you must develop it. Further the farmer has a much greater control over the market than he thinks he has.

"et's get together and agree on the price of our products," he urged. "Let's find out what the market price of a pound of butter, or a chicken, is and then sell it for that price instead of at different prices."

He doubted that very many farmers knew the cost of their products. Only when they made a study of the actual cost of production would they know what they were doing.

"If the farmer farms intelligently," he continued, "there is no reason why he should not make as good a living as a man in any other business."

Report Substantial Gain In Car Sales

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—The General Motors Corp. put another bright touch on the summer picture of United States business improvement today by reporting a substantial gain in car sales.

Sales in July were put at 102,031, compared with 78,758 trucks and cars in the same month of 1938. For the first seven months the total was 802,492 units against 576,878 in the 1938 period. Latest sales reports from the field encouraged motor makers to look for further expansion over the next year or so.

Elsewhere the business news mostly confirmed recent indications of an upturn.

TELLS PRESS ONUS RESTS WITH CONGRESS

Roosevelt Comments On Defeat Of Neutrality And Lending-Spending Measures.

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 8—President Roosevelt asserted today that a coalition of congressional Republicans and Democrats had gambled with the welfare of 1,500,000,000 people in rejecting his neutrality program and with the jobs of 20,000,000 Americans in scuttling the lending and housing measures.

At his first press conference since the congressional session ended, the President said a solid Republican minority and 20 to 25 per cent of the Democrats in Congress had:—

Made a large wager with the nation, on neutrality, that there would be no war until sufficiently long after they returned to Washington in January for them to take care of things, and:—

Wagered that private industry and business would take up the slack occasioned by dropping 1,000,000 Works Progress Administration workers this year and by closing out next spring a Public Works Administration program which had been providing 2,000,000 jobs.

It was a combination of Republicans and rebellious Democrats which forced Administration leaders to postpone until the next session efforts to obtain Senate action on neutrality and, in the House, prevented consideration of the lending and housing measures.

If this coalition loses its neutrality wager, Mr. Roosevelt declared they have tied his hands and he has practically no power to make an American effort to prevent any war outbreak. He said that was a pretty serious responsibility.

As for the lending and housing programs, he said, W. P. A. roll would be cut from 3,000,000 to 2,000,000 by next spring, and the W. P. A. program, giving employment to another 2,000,000 individuals, will have ended. With dependents, he said, the individuals involved total 20,000,000.

If business does not take up the slack, he said, the country must place the responsibility for the condition on the congressional coalition.
