Island Ayrshires Featured In Current Issue Of Review

Prince Edward Island individual animals and Island herds are unusually prominent in the current issue of the Canadian Ayrshire Review, the official publication of the Ayrshire Breeders Association of Canada. It is a Maritime edition this time but Island herd names are noticed even in the sections devoted to other provinces.

For example the Nova Scotia Artificial Breeder's Co-operative features four sires in their full page advertisement and two of them were bred in this Province. They are Royalty Fashion Guard and Fairvue Butterboy. The former was bred by Col. F.I. Andrew on his Royalty Lake View Farm at East Royalty and is sired by Glengarry Bit O' Fashion, the preferential three star sire that won so many grand championships here and at Amherst for his owner.

The other was bred by A. MacRae and Sons on their farm at Central Royalty and was sired by Fairvue Bandsman.

P.E.I. CLUB FEATURED
The Prince Edward Island Ayrshire Breeders club, organized in 1919, is properly featured in this issue.

W.R. Shaw notes that back in 1922 this club organized the first boys and girls heifer club in the province. It was known as the Pioneer Ayrshire Breeder's Club.

He observes that the same quiet constructive work that has characterized the activities of the club and its breeders over the years, is still in evidence and the supporting program is functioning with excellent results.

The Review notes that Col. Andrew had the leading producer reported in June in the junior 2-year old class in R.O.P. in the 365-day division. She was Royalty

Lady Kitty who is classified "Very Good" as a first calfer and produced 11,452 lbs of milk, 482 lbs fat for an average test of 4.22.

Incidentally Col. Andrew is the immediate past president of the Ayrshire Breeders Association of Canada.

A number of Prince Edward cows are listed among those qualifying in R.O.P. In the mature class and the 365-day division Fairvue Duchess, a former Grand champion both here and at Amherst, produced 11,255 lbs milk and 442 lbs fat for the farm of A. MacRae and Son.

Columario Molly produced 11,194 lbs milk and 436 lbs fat in the same division for owner Willard Prowse of Brackley Point Road.

OTHER LISTINGS
Royalty Fashion Floss produced 9,272 lbs milk, 384 lbs fat as a senior three year old for Col. Andrew.

Kimberley Bulova Bubbles produced 11,229 lbs milk, 526 lbs fat for N.W. MacLeod and Sons of Cardigan in the mature class 365-day division.

The Experimental Farm placed second in the junior four year old class, 365-day division with Charlottetown Fair Fanny who produced 10,984 lbs milk, 512 lbs fat.

In the senior two year old class Col. Andrew's Long Hill Benefactor Rita placed second with 13,303 lbs milk, 504 lbs fat.

In former years cows qualifying in R.O.P. had to produce a certain minimum quantity of milk and butterfat a year. In recent years that has been eliminated and now they are classed on the basis of what percent of the breed class average their milk and fat production actually is. Thus each cow is still in evidence and the average for her class in the breed.

It is worthy of note that of all the Island animals listed as qualifying in July the one with the highest percentage of the breed class average was Long Hill Benefactor Rita who had 164 percent of the breed class average in milk and 151 percent in butterfat.

ANY POLE IN A STORM

In Portugal's "festas do coleto encarnado" (red waistcoat festival) bystanders take their lives in their hands as the young bulls are driven from the ranches to the arena through the streets of the city of Vila Franca de Xira. Caught in the enthusiasm of the festival, many of the town's young men run before the bulls in the risky tradition of the matador. But as shown here the nearest pole comes in mighty handy if the bull's snout proves superior.

Denies Former Thrill-Killer Leopold Release From Prison

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Governor William G. Stratton of Illinois Tuesday denied thrill-slayer Nathan Leopold an early unconditional release from prison.

The youngster was lured into a car, killed by blows of a cold chisel, and his body stuffed into a culvert. After the killing, Leopold and Leopold wrote a note to the boy's father, Jacob Franks, demanding $10,000 ransom and promising his safe return.

The governor's action on Leopold's plea for executive clemency actually turned down the prisoner's proposal that the 35-year term be cut to 64 years. The issue of parole was not involved. Had Stratton granted clemency, Leopold with maximum credit for good behavior, would have gone free in December.

The clemency plea was based on Leopold's contention that he has been rehabilitated, and is no longer the cold-blooded youth who, at 19, teamed with his college chum, Richard Loeb, 18, to commit the crime which shocked even the blasé public of the roaring 20s. Loeb was slashed to death by another convict's razor in a prison fight in 1936.

Their crime was the bludgeoned slaying of Bobby Franks, 14-year-old son of a wealthy neighbor family of the Loeb and Leopolds. The youngster was lured into a car, killed by blows of a cold chisel, and his body stuffed into a culvert. After the killing, Leopold and Leopold wrote a note to the boy's father, Jacob Franks, demanding $10,000 ransom and promising his safe return.

Trial of the youths caused a world-wide sensation as details of their "perfect crime" and search for a "thrill" in the murder unfolded.

Woodworkers Union Rejected

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A second application by the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) for certification as bargaining agent for wood employees of the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Co. Ltd. at Grand Falls, Nfld., has been rejected by the Newfoundland labor relations board, it was learned Tuesday.

The board said the IWA had not been established as a trade union in Newfoundland at the date of application and the union had then established no local.

The board said the international union could make a third application through a newly-established local without waiting until the required 10 months of collective agreement has expired, or the usual period of six months after rejection of an application for certification. The first application was made earlier in the year.

Opposing the application are four independent loggers' unions and Bowater's Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mills at Corner Brook, Nfld.

Carpenters May Strike In St. John

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Local 1386 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America announced in a statement Tuesday night that carpenters in Saint John will go on strike at 8 a.m. next Monday if no wage agreement is reached with the Saint John builders' exchange by this weekend.

The local said the majority report of a conciliation board, recommending a 15-cent hourly increase in a two-year contract, was accepted by the union but not by the employers. Journeymen carpenters here have been receiving a minimum of $1.73 per hour.

A spokesman for the buildings' exchange said:

"The local made certain demands and they have given us a limited time to accept them. We are protesting that the time is too short. We are hoping to have a meeting on Thursday night."

Fredericton-area carpenters of the same union resumed work Tuesday after a month-long strike.

Rock 'n' Roll Grips Moscow

MOSCOW (Reuters)—An American rock 'n' roll singer brought down the house Tuesday night at a concert for delegates to the sixth World Youth Festival for peace and friendship.

About 1,000 young Muscovites clapped in abandoned rhythm as hip-swinging Bertie Reading belted into "rock baby rock."

Later they cheered a British group's swing version of the Russian Gypsy song "Black Eyes"—a tune normally frowned on here as reactionary. The last time it was played here, by an Italian group, the culture minister walked out in protest.

Russians said it was the hottest music they had ever heard, except on Voice of America radio broadcasts.

But there were a few muttered dissensions to the general applause. One girl said: "We must know about his music in order to appreciate better our Tchaikovsky."

Warn Aphids May Increase

The potato fields in both Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are still free of late blight, reports Weekly Potato Bulletin No. 7. In the Annapolis Valley the dry weather has prevented outbreaks. In Prince Edward Island, although humidity and rainfall have been ideal for an epidemic, temperatures have been too low.

A very small number of aphids appeared on potatoes during the past week and if warm, dry weather prevails the populations may increase rapidly. Malathion 25 percent wettable powder, 2 percent in 100 gallons of spray, will control them.

The bulletin is sponsored by F. M. Cannon, Crop Insect Section, and L.C. Callbeck, Plant Pathology Section, of the Science Service Laboratory, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Can Animals Predict Quakes?

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Can animals predict earthquakes? The keepers at the Chapultepec zoo say yes.

Almost 24 hours before Sunday's big quake here, elephants, giraffes, lions, tigers and several other caged animals came down with the shakes.

Veterinarians diagnosed the animals' trouble as emotional or nervous disorders and admitted at the time they had no idea what caused the disorders.

Dog owners also flooded veterinarians' offices with calls reporting their pets seemed nervous.

After the disastrous earth shocks, most of the animals got back their old zip.

R. C. A. F. Jets Renew Raids

MANAMA, Bahrain (Reuters)—Ten RAF jet fighters Tuesday blasted a mud-walled fort in a demonstration of firepower against rebelling Arabian Peninsula tribesmen.

The rebels, led by Ghalib bin Ali, the Imam of religious leader Alan Health Dornie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Heath E. Warren, of Summerside. An October wedding is planned in the U.S.A.

The British jets were reported to have flown 16 sorties against a fort at Firq, making the raid the biggest show of air power over rebel-held territory.

Firg is five miles from Niswa, the Oman capital and the headquarters of the rebels.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee Tuesday approved a new supplementary tax agreement with Canada providing increased relief to nationals of both countries from double taxation.

Under the agreement, submitted to the Senate by President Eisenhower Jan. 5:

1. An employee in a Canadian branch of an American firm would be considered an employee of a Canadian enterprise and receive the same tax treatment as an employee of a Canadian firm, and vice versa.

2. A U.S. trucking enterprise operating between points in the United States and Canada would be exempt from Canadian tax on income from such operations. Canadian truckers likewise would be exempt from American income tax.

Sends Messages Of Sympathy

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker sent messages of sympathy Tuesday to Japan and Mexico over the extensive loss of life and material damage they have suffered in recent disasters.

Japan last week was hit by torrential rains in her southernmost island, Kyushu, where many hundreds of persons were drowned and thousands were made homeless.

Mexico during the weekend experienced the severest earthquakes of her history.

Mr. Diefenbaker's message to Prime Minister Nobusuki Kishi of Japan read:

"The Canadian people have learned with the greatest regret of the disastrous floods which have fallen upon the unfortunate people of Kyushu. I wish to express to you and through you to the Japanese people the sympathy of the Canadian people and government in this great misfortune."

His message to President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico read:

"I have heard with great concern the first reports of the tragic loss of life and physical destruction which have just occurred in Mexico. The Canadian people join me in expressing our greatest sympathy for you and your people at this time."

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egypt blacklisted Tuesday the Danish cargo ship Birgitte Toft which passed through the canal July 22 bound for Israel.

The blacklisting, announced by the Egyptian customs administration, forbids the ship to load or unload at Egyptian ports.

The Birgitte Toft was the first Israel-bound ship to transit the canal after declaring her destination openly since the canal was reopened.

Other ships which did not declare their destination had been allowed through although bound for Israel. The Birgitte Toft carried a cargo of rice from Rangoon.
