Infantry Battalions Are Short In Canada

By DAVE MCINTOSH
OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Army is so hard-pressed for infantry battalions the defence department has had to select for United Nations duty in Cyprus the unit which performs the changing of the guard ceremony on Parliament Hill, a big summer tourist attraction here.

Officials disclosed Friday that the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards, will join the UN force in Cyprus in September after its Parliament Hill duties. If the UN mandate, as expected, is renewed then by the Security Council.

In recent years, the 2nd Guards has been far under normal battalion strength of 900 men. Last summer it was down to a strength of 570 and was unable to take part in brigade manoeuvres at Camp Gagetown, N.B.

Besides its daily summer parade on Parliament Hill, a duty it has performed since 1960, the battalion has provided trial teams for the armed and infantry schools and demonstration squads.

Informants said the battalion has been practically immobilized as a combat infantry unit and will have to be strengthened by men from other units, mainly the 1st Guards at Camp Pictou, Ont., before it can go overseas.

There are 13 infantry battalions in the regular army and they must fill roles in the Canadian Brigade in Europe, the 4,000-man special force, NATO airborne force, defence of Canada force and for UN service.

All six infantry regiments—each has two battalions except for the Royal 22nd, which has three—have provided units for UN actual or standby duty except the Black Watch. This regiment now has a battalion in West Germany and the other, at Camp Gagetown, is Canada's contribution to the NATO airborne force.

WAS STANDBY UNIT

It had been the standby unit for UN duty and with its departure a problem was encountered finding a replacement.

The 2nd Guards, stationed at Camp Petawawa, Ont., couldn't be chosen because of their Parliament Hill ceremonial drill even though they are the next unit scheduled for Cyprus service.

Until July 1, the 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, at Camp Valcartier, Que., has replaced the 1st Queen's own as the UN standby unit. It was the first Canadian formation to serve in Cyprus when the UN force was established in March, 1964.

What's your stand on life insurance as an investment?

Miss Pepper
Investment? I thought you bought life insurance in case something went wrong.

Interviewer
You do. But it's not just protection.

Miss Pepper
If it isn't, what is it then?

Interviewer
An investment, too. Your Mutual Life policy can give you insurance protection until retirement age. Then the same policy can be used to provide a monthly income for as long as you live.

Miss Pepper
So it really is an investment. Funny, I had never thought about insurance that way. Where can I find out more about it?

Interviewer
Call your nearest Mutual Life representative.
