

Escaped With Minor Injuries In Car Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hurry Jr., and their two infant children escaped serious injury when their light motor German-made automobile was in collision with another car at the corner of Rochford and Kent Streets Saturday afternoon at 4:40. The small car is reported to have been completely turned over a couple of times but the only injuries suffered were by Mrs. Hurry who received a gash on the head which was taken care of at a doctor's office.

Mother In Stork Derby Will Die

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Arthur Timleck, 57, mother of 18 children and who benefited from the Millar "stork derby" will die Saturday.

Mrs. Timleck and three Toronto mothers profited from the will of lawyer-sportsman Charles Vance Millar, who died in 1926. Mrs. Timleck, who had 13 surviving children, got $100,000.

Mr. Millar left the bulk of his $500,000 estate to the Toronto mother who, in the 10 years after his death, gave birth to the greatest number of children.

In 1936 six mothers were tied with nine births each. After two years of litigation four split the $500,000. Mrs. Timleck was the wife of a $30-a-day city employe when she received her share.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of a dear Father and Grandfather, John Henry Pidgen, who departed this life March 21st, 1951.

Today brings back sad memories, of a loving voice we hear, How and how lonely our home, Without you Daddy dear.

Ever Remembered by Daughter Millie, Son-in-law Elmer and Granddaughters, Jean, Lottie and Frances.

In loving memory of my father, John D. MacLeod, who passed away March 20th, 1953.

Two lonely years have passed away, Since that sad day, But the heavenly gates were opened.

A gentle voice said "come" The angels from the other side Welcomed the loved one home.

Lovingly remembered by daughter, Ruth, son-in-law, Howard.

In loving memory of our son, Angus Lowell Matheson, aged 3 months, 7 days, died March 20th, 1953.

No one knows how much we miss you No one knows the bitter pain, We have suffered since we lost you

Life will never be the same, In our hearts your memory lingers

Sweetly, tender, fond and true, There is not a day dear son, That we do not think of you.

Always remembered by father and mother, sisters and brothers, Major and Agnes Matheson.

In loving memory of my dear brother, Alvin T. Chapman, who passed away 3 years ago March 20, 1952.

Looking back with tenderness, along the path he trod I bless the years I had him, and leave the rest with God.

Sadly missed, fondly remembered by his sister (Phyllis), Mrs. Louis Harris, Jr.

In loving memory of my dear husband, J. D. MacLeod, who passed away March 20th, 1953.

We are lonely here without you Somehow life does not seem the same, Since death called you away.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife and granddaughter, Florence.

In loving memory of my father, John D. MacLeod, who passed away March 20th, 1953.

You are not forgotten father dear, Your memory will never fade, We loved you then, we love you still

Forget you father, we never will, Lovingly remembered by daughter Beulah, son-in-law, Wallace, grandchildren, Charles and Dolly.

Island Odds And Ends

Prince County had quite a snowstorm last week with deep drifts blocking highways and snow-fighting equipment called in to action to clear the way for truck and car traffic.

While the western end of the Province was contending with winter conditions, fishermen in the eastern part of the Island were fitting out their draggers for an early trip to the fishing grounds. Weather permitting, some dragger captains may put to sea about April 1. The draggers may not bring many haddock ashore this early in the spring, but they hope to land some flounders. The big flat-fish seem to be running most any time of the year. If the draggers have any luck some of the seasonally unemployed people in and around Souris will go back to work.

After the fish are landed they must be filleted and transported to markets. Skilled men and women fillet and package the fish, and trucks carry the product to American cities. Souris comes alive quickly when the draggers commence regular fish landings. Last year alone it is estimated that dragger crews consumed more than $30,000 worth of groceries, while operating out of Souris, which is very welcome business to merchants of the town. The oil companies, too, do very well. The diesel-driven draggers consume large quantities of fuel.

Political bickerings, financial worries, the income tax and hockey quarrels are all forgotten by the people who look forward every year to the opening of the trout fishing season. There's nothing like a day on a pond or stream to banish the cares of every-day life. Unknowingly, perhaps, the fisherman gets sustenance for mind and body when he thrusts all care aside and goes fishing. At any rate, it is a traditional pastime which has never lost its appeal. A thousand fishing rods are being made ready for the provincial opening of the trout season on April 15.

The new Coliseum in the Charlottetown Exhibition Grounds will fifth one of the world's big poses for which it was built when it becomes the scene of the annual Fat Cattle Show this week. It has a spacious show ring, lots of room for spectators and the lighting facilities are unsurpassed. In such a favorable setting the show could become one of the great agricultural events of the year.

Mr. Horace Pettigrove of Fredericton, N.B., Chief Councillor, Officer for the Dominion Department of Labor for the Maritime Provinces, was in Charlottetown last week. One of Mr. Pettigrove's duties is to see that the correct wages, as laid down in the contract is paid by contractors, carrying out Dominion Government jobs. He has acted as conciliator during labor disputes in many parts of Canada, leaving his Maritime post when called on by Ottawa. A man of recognized ability and many friendships, he is six feet, seven inches in height and physically and mentally is not easily forgotten. When Premier Matheson and Mr. Pettigrove met and shook hands at the Provincial Building one day last week those who saw the meeting stared in astonishment. Mr. Matheson is six feet, six inches tall.

War Hero In B. C. Bank Robbery Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 39-year-old war hero was convicted here Friday of bank robbery.

Daniel Haddon was remanded by Mr. Justice M. Manson for sentence after being convicted of being the gunman in a $10,600 holdup of the Park Royal branch of the Royal Bank of Canada Dec. 3.

Three men were believed involved in the holdup but Haddon was the only one charged.

Defence counsel Thomas Hurley twice tried to produce the lanyard citation for the award of the Distinguished Conduct Medal to Haddon, who as a Seafarer Highlanders corporal led an attack on a German machine-gun nest in the Second World War.

The judge refused, saying: "It doesn't prove good character or honesty. It only proves bravery."

In his defence Haddon claimed he had been at Whitehorse, Y.T., where he won $4,400 gambling. When arrested, he had $2,300.

Search Continues For Missing Jet

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Air force crash boats hunted the icy Gulf of St. Lawrence today for traces of a U.S. Air Force F-89 twin-jet interceptor that crashed Saturday off the west coast.

The plane was seen hurtling into the sea but a prompt search failed to turn up any sign of the pilot or observer.

The F-89 was based at Harmon field, about 10 miles from where it went down. The names of the two crew members were withheld until their families could be notified.

BOOM DAYS

Kensington Road Electrician Dies At Early Age

The death occurred at the Prince Edward Island Hospital yesterday of Mr. Gordon Alexander MacDonald of Kensington Road at the age of 32. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William MacDonald and was born in Charlottetown where he attended the Model School and later Parkdale School. He entered the hospital for treatment a few weeks ago where he underwent an operation from which he failed to recover.

The late Mr. MacDonald was an electrician and previous to his last illness was employed by Brown Electric City. He was a member of Five Signal Regiment with which he held the rank of Corporal.

Surviving brothers and sisters are Wilfred of Borden, Stanley, Mrs. (Mrs. Albert Godkin), Jessie (Mrs. George Howard), Faith (Mrs. Arthur Godkin) all of Charlottetown.

The funeral will be held tomorrow from the MacLean Funeral Home at 2 p.m.

Fighting In

(about 7,000 men) of Nung troops from the borders of China and one airborne battalion (about 1,000 men).

Bacut said fighting with army troops began Saturday, but it was not serious. If Diem attacked him in force he would be given immediate command of the entire Hoa Hao Army to fight back, he added.

This is believed to number about 16,000 troops, in addition to Bacut's own force estimated at 3,500.

The warlord said the Nungs and airborne troops have not yet reached his area. But more than 30 battalions of the Vietnamese national army were stationed in his area, which he said stretched southwest of the Bassac river from Ha-Tien on the Cambodian frontier to Ca-Mau on the southernmost tip of Indochina.

Bacut said the national army could not hold a region but he rules the countryside.

Bacut said the people of Viet Nam must unite under a government of national unity to fight the Communists. He thought only military conquest would uproot the Communists from Hanoi and North Vietnam.

Economists Are

post-war budgetary deficit — perhaps of $100,000,000 or more.

If a GNP of $24,400,000,000 — the amount in 1953 — would give the government a balanced budget, it would be reasonable to suppose that a GNP of $25,000,000,000 would give the government a surplus — providing there were no tax changes and no changes in spending.

Informants say it is inconceivable that Mr. Harris would want to budget for a surplus in 1955-56, but rather would be content with a balanced budget. Therefore there would be room for tax reductions.

In addition, Mr. Harris in his annual estimates has forecast the government's revenue requirements will be about 3.3 per cent lower in 1955-56 than in 1954-55.

A higher GNP, lower revenue requirements and no desire for a surplus all appear to lead to one conclusion: There will be tax cuts in 1955-56.

Shower At Clyde River

A very pleasant evening was spent on February 10, when the residents of Clyde River gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd MacPhail to honor them on the event of their recent marriage.

Mr. Arnold Beer acted as chairman of the gathering and after a few appropriate remarks called upon Mrs. John Darrach and Mr. John MacLean who escorted Mr. and Mrs. MacPhail to their places of honor. The address was read by Mrs. R. D. Matheson and the presentation of a purse was made by Mr. Lorne MacNevin.

On behalf of Helen and himself Lloyd thanked everyone for their generosity and kind wishes, and expressed the hope that all would return to visit again. During the evening a delicious lunch was served by a group of ladies. The following is the address:

Dear Helen and Lloyd, Here we are, your friends and neighbors from Clyde River. We have come to visit you for the first time since you married.

You, Lloyd, have been with us these years since your graduation from Prince of Wales College. Your business has carried you to all our homes. It has always been a pleasure to have you cross your thresholds. And now in your latest venture may happiness be yours.

You, Helen, although a stranger, you have been welcomed warmly to this district.

"Perhaps our thoughts to both of you can be expressed by the following:

"May your life be long and happy And your smiles be just as gay Like the lilies of the valley When they bloom in lovely May"

And now will you accept this gift so much for its true value. Your business has carried you to all our homes. It has always been a pleasure to have you cross your thresholds. And now in your latest venture may happiness be yours.

Later, at a service in Glasgow Presbyterian cathedral, Graham dedicated himself to his task in Scotland.

Wearing red and black robes and holding his Bible aloft, he said: "We promise by God's grace to be true to this book. . . . We pray that we may be channels through which the will of God will flow."

The 60-year-old cathedral was thronged.

The American evangelist got a welcome on his arrival Saturday that caused traffic jams in Glasgow and reverberated in the hills and glens of highlands and lowlands. He is here to start a six-week evangelistic crusade.

Scotsmen discovered he is of Scottish origin and it was as if a favorite son had come home.

Graham wiped everything else off the front pages of Glasgow's three evening newspapers in three smashing lines on Page One.

Graham was a little bewildered by it all.

"It's going to be harder than the London crusade last year," he said in an interview.

In London, no one expected very much, but it turned out to be a very fine success. Here, everyone expects so much and we shall need God's help to achieve the results for which we pray."

Evangelist Billy Graham Gets Welcome To Scotland

By ALVIN STEINKOPF
GLASGOW (AP) — American evangelist Billy Graham took a back seat at his first religious service in Scotland Sunday and then preached to a half-empty church.

While thousands were clamoring for tickets to Graham's six-week "Tell Scotland" crusade which opens today, the evangelist made a surprise visit to the Downhill (Presbyterian) parish church.

A few minutes before the morning service started, Graham, wearing a dark suit, took a seat in a back row. He was recognized by the minister, Rev. William J. Baxter, who described Graham as "this messenger with a new voice, which speaks in a soft, North Carolina accent."

"Billy Graham is not here to preach a new gospel, but the old gospel in fresh terms," Baxter said, in asking the American to speak.

"MOST CRITICAL HOUR" — From the communion table in front of the pulpit, Graham said: "I sincerely believe that the church today is living in the most critical hour of history."

"If the church does not present a clarion call to the peoples of the world there is a distinct possibility that the entire race could be wiped out in the foreseeable future."

"When we lose enthusiasm and fire for evangelism—at home and abroad—our churches begin to disintegrate and retreat."

"We come to you in all humility, not to teach you, not to tell or show you. We come as your servants in Christ's name. Pray that God may send a religious awakening to Scotland that will spread throughout the world."
