Luther's Lighter Side.

That Luther's life was not without its lighter side is attested by many of his letters, especially those addressed to his wife. A writer in Good Words points out such expressions with which he addresses her as "My Lord Catherine" or "My sweet wife, Catherine Luther von Bora," or "The very learned and deeply profound dame, Catherine Luther," or "Emperor Kate," jesting at the love of rule common to the sex.

In the year of his death he wrote to his "heart loved housewife, Catherine Lutherin Doctress Zeilsdorforess, Lowmarketress and whatever more she may be. Grace and peace in Christ, and my old poor love in the first place." At one time he says: "Catherine, you have a pious husband who loves you. You are an empress, thank God for it." His conjugal meditations were often in a gayer mood, as, for example, "If I were going to make love again, I would carve an obedient woman out of marble, in despair of finding one in any other way."

Four men sitting together were confiding to one another their general ignorance of the matter contained in textbooks. One said he had studied algebra for three years, but he would find it impossible to solve the simplest problem by an algebraic process. Another said he had been counted a good student in geology, and yet he doubted if he could name the principal periods in their proper order.

"Now let's see how much you do know," said one of the men. "How much is one divided by naught or nothing?"

"One divided by nothing?" repeated the man at his right. "Why, that's one. If one isn't divided by anything, it remains one."

"I think the answer is nothing," said another. "One divided by nothing is—nothing. Sure, that's right."

"You're the worst I ever heard," said the man who had given the problem. "One divided by nothing—that means how many times is nothing contained in one. It is contained an infinite number of times, and the correct answer is—infinity."

Then he had to talk to them for five minutes in order to convince them.—Chicago Record.
