

CHURCHES TOMORROW

CHURCH OF ENGLAND

S. PETER'S CATHEDRAL Anglican Rookford Square The Reverend Canon G. E. Moffatt M.A., B.D. Rector The Reverend W. G. Hogg Honorary Assistant Priest. Organist and Choir Director Miss Suzanne Brenon, Lic. Music.

S. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH

The Parish Church Established 1769 by Royal Foundation. The Reverend Canon J. T. Ibbott, Rector. Organist and Choir Master: Paul Cudmore, A.Mus. (McGill).

PRESBYTERIAN

THE KIRK OF S. JAMES The Reverend T. H. B. Somers, M.A., S.T.M. Minister. Miss E. Lillian McKenzie Mus. B., F.M.C.M., Organist and Director of the Choirs.

ZION PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Cor. Prince and Grafton Sts. The Reverend T. H. B. Somers, M.A., S.T.M. Interim Moderator Mr. Frank Johnson, A.T.C.L. Organist and Choir Director

MORNING SERVICES

10 a.m. Sunday School, 11 a.m. Church Service conducted by Captain Titcombe of the Salvation Army. Sermon: "A Day of Remembrance."

EVENING SERVICE

7 p.m. Communion Service conducted by the Rev. T. H. B. Somers, M.A., S.T.M. Anthem: Selected. "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Bible Lecture

"The Necessity of the Second Coming of Christ to this World." by Rev. H. F. MacEwen, B.A., B.D. Sons of England Hall Sunday at 7:30 P. M. You are cordially welcome. Inspirational True to Scripture

WORDS FOR THE WORLD

"The unity which is productive of unlimited results is first a unity of mankind which recognizes that all are sheltered beneath the overshadowing glory of the All-Glorious; that all are servants of one God; for all breathe the same atmosphere, live upon the same earth, move beneath the same heavens, receive fulfilment from the same sun and are under the protection of one God. This is the most great unity. . . ."

Special Sale

FINEST QUALITY PLATE CORNED BEEF at only 85 Cts. Per Lb. Buy With Confidence at J. M.'s MEATS Market Building DIAL 5535

1804 - 1953

The British and Foreign Bible Society IN CANADA Commendation By The Churches. Because of the essential character of the service it renders, and the fact that it is confined to the translation and distribution of Holy Scripture only, and "without note or comment," the Society enjoys the commendation and support of practically every Reformed Communion of the world, as well as the ancient churches of the East. The central and governing bodies of these communions have repeatedly reminded their ministers and people of their obligation to the Society, and urged them to share in its support.

Charlottetown Upholsters

REPAIRING and UPHOLSTERING to Furniture and Auto Cushions 133 EUSTON ST.

Special Sale

Help the Prince Edward Island Auxiliary as it shares in this great work. THE BIBLE HOUSE, 100 Fitzroy Street, Charlottetown.

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

Trinity Church Observes Ninetieth Anniversary

The Ninetieth Anniversary of Trinity United Church will be observed tomorrow, Sunday, November 8, with fitting services to mark the occasion.

The Very Reverend C. M. Nicholson, Principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall and former Moderator of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, will be the special preacher, both morning and evening. There will be special music at both services.

On these anniversary occasions, it is well to recall to mind the early days when this great congregation was established, because it was only through the vision and sacrifice of a small band of devoted souls in each generation that this present church edifice was erected and maintained.

Methodism on the Island dates back to May 31, 1774, when Benjamin Chappell and his wife came to this Province—then known as the Island of St. John's. They settled first in New London, on the North Shore, and moved four years later to Charlottetown, where Mr. Chappell was Post Master.

Here was "set in motion a train of measures" that resulted in the organization of the Methodist Church.

Later, Mr. Chappell was joined by Thomas Dawson, a native of County Cavan, Ireland, and one of John Wesley's early band of local preachers.

Mr. Dawson had served as an officer in the Cavan Militia and under Lord Cornwallis had fought in the American War. Some years later, he came to the Island to take charge of an estate which he bought about twenty-four miles from Charlottetown.

He at once exerted himself in the cause of religion and his name is intimately connected with the rise of Methodism on this Island.

He found only four members of the church in Charlottetown—Benjamin Chappell and his wife, Joseph Robinson, and Mrs. Smith. Services were frequently conducted by him and Mr. Chappell at the home of Mrs. Smith, which adjoined the residence and Post Office of Mr. Chappell on Water Street.

He also visited every settlement on the Island, holding services among the people who hailed his coming with great delight.

There were no roads, no bridges, few horses and no carriages and the whole Island was, for the most part, a trackless forest with small settlements scattered at distant points. Through hardships and privations, this devoted man did the work of an evangelist. In the words of his youngest son, "no obstacle seemed too great to hinder him from performing what he considered his duty."

Although a man of strong constitution, the exposure and long journeys proved too great a tax on his strength and after a short illness he died at the early age of forty-two. Mr. Dawson was an intelligent and pious man of liberal education, whose practical ministry was a most acceptable boon to the people.

The first Methodist minister to visit Charlottetown was the Rev. William Black, one of Wesley's converts—an "Apostle of Methodism in the Maritime Provinces." Under the date, October 20, 1783, he wrote in his journal: "I set off for the Island of St. John's at the earnest and repeated invitation of Mr. B. Chappell, where I arrived on the 22nd and tarried about a fortnight. I preached several times at Charlottetown and St. Peter's; but alas! the people in general seemed altogether ignorant of the nature of true religion and of that faith that worketh by love."

Mr. Black made a second visit 11 years later, when Mr. Nathaniel Wright of Bedouque, crossed to Nova Scotia in his own vessel to lay before Mr. Black the moral condition of the people and to convey him to the Island. At Bedouque, Mr. Wright and his family were baptized and a church of 30 members organized. In Charlottetown, "the people heard Mr. Black gladly and Governor Fanning offered assistance in the erection of a chapel." Mr. Black's work proved to be a genuine and permanent character and classes were formed at Charlottetown, Bedouque, Tryon, Murray Harbor and other settlements.

In November, 1814, the frame of the first Methodist Church was raised—with special assistance from the British soldiers who were stationed in the town—and the first sermon was preached in the partly finished church in June, 1816. In order to accommodate the rapidly increasing congregation, a site was secured on Prince Street and in 1835, a new church was dedicated with a seating capacity of 600.

To quote from "Methodism in Eastern British America": "Of the original trustees the most widely known was Isaac Smith, an Englishman of most estimable character, good mental powers and an acceptable local preacher; Henry Smith, his brother, who died in New Zealand, Robert Longworth, of Loyalist parentage; Thomas Dawson, son of the early local preacher of the same name; also John Boyer, Christopher Cross, John Treanman, Charles Welsh and William Tanton—all faithful and zealous men." Associated with the trustees was the following committee: Ralph Brecken, James Moore, George Beer Jr., William Heard, John Williams, Mark Butcher and John T. Thomas.

The corner stone of the present spacious edifice was laid with appropriate ceremony on May 24, 1863, by Mrs. Dundas, wife of the Lieutenant Governor, in the presence of a large number of people as this was Queen Victoria's birthday and a public holiday. The scroll deposited with the stone contained the signatures of the Circuit Superintendent, the Rev. John Brewster as well as the church trustees. The opening services were held on November 13, 1864, when the new building was solemnly dedicated to the worship of God.

Thirty-four years later, in 1897 at a cost of more than $5,000 extensive improvements were undertaken which entailed great sacrifice as the membership was then only 430. The names of the men comprising the committee are recalled to mind with sincere appreciation by many relatives and friends still living. These are: Richard Heartz, L. L. Beer, W. A. Weeks, William Boyle, F. S. Moore, James Paton, L. M. Poole, W. W. Stanley, Mark Wright, Henry Smith, Trustees, with whom were associated representatives from the congregation: Benjamin Rogers, Dr. Taylor, Benj. Heartz, Phillip Large, W. W. Beer, G. A. Sharp and Benj. Sellar.

The story from the turn of the century to the present has often been recorded. Grace Church, which was established in 1871, and Kensington Hall, which was a Mission in the Eastern part of the town built in 1839, were finally absorbed into the First Church.

With the union of the three Protestant Churches in 1925, the Methodist Church in Charlottetown, as elsewhere in Canada, merged its identity with the Presbyterian Unitarian and Trinity Church began a new cycle of Christian activity.

With this brief glance over the years, one cannot but marvel at the faith and courage of those people of an earlier time. For the most part, they lived plain, simple lives with none of the luxuries or even comforts of our time, but rich and poor; young and old, were ever ready to respond to the need of their beloved church. Through their sacrifice, Trinity stands today, a power and an influence for good in the community.

At the Ninetieth Anniversary of Trinity United Church will be observed tomorrow, Sunday, November 8, with fitting services to mark the occasion.

The Very Reverend C. M. Nicholson, Principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall and former Moderator of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, will be the special preacher, both morning and evening. There will be special music at both services.

On these anniversary occasions, it is well to recall to mind the early days when this great congregation was established, because it was only through the vision and sacrifice of a small band of devoted souls in each generation that this present church edifice was erected and maintained.

Methodism on the Island dates back to May 31, 1774, when Benjamin Chappell and his wife came to this Province—then known as the Island of St. John's. They settled first in New London, on the North Shore, and moved four years later to Charlottetown, where Mr. Chappell was Post Master.

Here was "set in motion a train of measures" that resulted in the organization of the Methodist Church.

Later, Mr. Chappell was joined by Thomas Dawson, a native of County Cavan, Ireland, and one of John Wesley's early band of local preachers.

Mr. Dawson had served as an officer in the Cavan Militia and under Lord Cornwallis had fought in the American War. Some years later, he came to the Island to take charge of an estate which he bought about twenty-four miles from Charlottetown.

He at once exerted himself in the cause of religion and his name is intimately connected with the rise of Methodism on this Island.

He found only four members of the church in Charlottetown—Benjamin Chappell and his wife, Joseph Robinson, and Mrs. Smith. Services were frequently conducted by him and Mr. Chappell at the home of Mrs. Smith, which adjoined the residence and Post Office of Mr. Chappell on Water Street.

He also visited every settlement on the Island, holding services among the people who hailed his coming with great delight.

There were no roads, no bridges, few horses and no carriages and the whole Island was, for the most part, a trackless forest with small settlements scattered at distant points. Through hardships and privations, this devoted man did the work of an evangelist. In the words of his youngest son, "no obstacle seemed too great to hinder him from performing what he considered his duty."

Although a man of strong constitution, the exposure and long journeys proved too great a tax on his strength and after a short illness he died at the early age of forty-two. Mr. Dawson was an intelligent and pious man of liberal education, whose practical ministry was a most acceptable boon to the people.

The first Methodist minister to visit Charlottetown was the Rev. William Black, one of Wesley's converts—an "Apostle of Methodism in the Maritime Provinces." Under the date, October 20, 1783, he wrote in his journal: "I set off for the Island of St. John's at the earnest and repeated invitation of Mr. B. Chappell, where I arrived on the 22nd and tarried about a fortnight. I preached several times at Charlottetown and St. Peter's; but alas! the people in general seemed altogether ignorant of the nature of true religion and of that faith that worketh by love."

Mr. Black made a second visit 11 years later, when Mr. Nathaniel Wright of Bedouque, crossed to Nova Scotia in his own vessel to lay before Mr. Black the moral condition of the people and to convey him to the Island. At Bedouque, Mr. Wright and his family were baptized and a church of 30 members organized. In Charlottetown, "the people heard Mr. Black gladly and Governor Fanning offered assistance in the erection of a chapel." Mr. Black's work proved to be a genuine and permanent character and classes were formed at Charlottetown, Bedouque, Tryon, Murray Harbor and other settlements.

In November, 1814, the frame of the first Methodist Church was raised—with special assistance from the British soldiers who were stationed in the town—and the first sermon was preached in the partly finished church in June, 1816. In order to accommodate the rapidly increasing congregation, a site was secured on Prince Street and in 1835, a new church was dedicated with a seating capacity of 600.

To quote from "Methodism in Eastern British America": "Of the original trustees the most widely known was Isaac Smith, an Englishman of most estimable character, good mental powers and an acceptable local preacher; Henry Smith, his brother, who died in New Zealand, Robert Longworth, of Loyalist parentage; Thomas Dawson, son of the early local preacher of the same name; also John Boyer, Christopher Cross, John Treanman, Charles Welsh and William Tanton—all faithful and zealous men." Associated with the trustees was the following committee: Ralph Brecken, James Moore, George Beer Jr., William Heard, John Williams, Mark Butcher and John T. Thomas.

The corner stone of the present spacious edifice was laid with appropriate ceremony on May 24, 1863, by Mrs. Dundas, wife of the Lieutenant Governor, in the presence of a large number of people as this was Queen Victoria's birthday and a public holiday. The scroll deposited with the stone contained the signatures of the Circuit Superintendent, the Rev. John Brewster as well as the church trustees. The opening services were held on November 13, 1864, when the new building was solemnly dedicated to the worship of God.

Thirty-four years later, in 1897 at a cost of more than $5,000 extensive improvements were undertaken which entailed great sacrifice as the membership was then only 430. The names of the men comprising the committee are recalled to mind with sincere appreciation by many relatives and friends still living. These are: Richard Heartz, L. L. Beer, W. A. Weeks, William Boyle, F. S. Moore, James Paton, L. M. Poole, W. W. Stanley, Mark Wright, Henry Smith, Trustees, with whom were associated representatives from the congregation: Benjamin Rogers, Dr. Taylor, Benj. Heartz, Phillip Large, W. W. Beer, G. A. Sharp and Benj. Sellar.

The story from the turn of the century to the present has often been recorded. Grace Church, which was established in 1871, and Kensington Hall, which was a Mission in the Eastern part of the town built in 1839, were finally absorbed into the First Church.

With the union of the three Protestant Churches in 1925, the Methodist Church in Charlottetown, as elsewhere in Canada, merged its identity with the Presbyterian Unitarian and Trinity Church began a new cycle of Christian activity.

With this brief glance over the years, one cannot but marvel at the faith and courage of those people of an earlier time. For the most part, they lived plain, simple lives with none of the luxuries or even comforts of our time, but rich and poor; young and old, were ever ready to respond to the need of their beloved church. Through their sacrifice, Trinity stands today, a power and an influence for good in the community.

At the Ninetieth Anniversary of Trinity United Church will be observed tomorrow, Sunday, November 8, with fitting services to mark the occasion.

The Very Reverend C. M. Nicholson, Principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall and former Moderator of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, will be the special preacher, both morning and evening. There will be special music at both services.

On these anniversary occasions, it is well to recall to mind the early days when this great congregation was established, because it was only through the vision and sacrifice of a small band of devoted souls in each generation that this present church edifice was erected and maintained.

Methodism on the Island dates back to May 31, 1774, when Benjamin Chappell and his wife came to this Province—then known as the Island of St. John's. They settled first in New London, on the North Shore, and moved four years later to Charlottetown, where Mr. Chappell was Post Master.

Here was "set in motion a train of measures" that resulted in the organization of the Methodist Church.

Later, Mr. Chappell was joined by Thomas Dawson, a native of County Cavan, Ireland, and one of John Wesley's early band of local preachers.

Mr. Dawson had served as an officer in the Cavan Militia and under Lord Cornwallis had fought in the American War. Some years later, he came to the Island to take charge of an estate which he bought about twenty-four miles from Charlottetown.

He at once exerted himself in the cause of religion and his name is intimately connected with the rise of Methodism on this Island.

He found only four members of the church in Charlottetown—Benjamin Chappell and his wife, Joseph Robinson, and Mrs. Smith. Services were frequently conducted by him and Mr. Chappell at the home of Mrs. Smith, which adjoined the residence and Post Office of Mr. Chappell on Water Street.

He also visited every settlement on the Island, holding services among the people who hailed his coming with great delight.

There were no roads, no bridges, few horses and no carriages and the whole Island was, for the most part, a trackless forest with small settlements scattered at distant points. Through hardships and privations, this devoted man did the work of an evangelist. In the words of his youngest son, "no obstacle seemed too great to hinder him from performing what he considered his duty."

Although a man of strong constitution, the exposure and long journeys proved too great a tax on his strength and after a short illness he died at the early age of forty-two. Mr. Dawson was an intelligent and pious man of liberal education, whose practical ministry was a most acceptable boon to the people.

The first Methodist minister to visit Charlottetown was the Rev. William Black, one of Wesley's converts—an "Apostle of Methodism in the Maritime Provinces." Under the date, October 20, 1783, he wrote in his journal: "I set off for the Island of St. John's at the earnest and repeated invitation of Mr. B. Chappell, where I arrived on the 22nd and tarried about a fortnight. I preached several times at Charlottetown and St. Peter's; but alas! the people in general seemed altogether ignorant of the nature of true religion and of that faith that worketh by love."

Mr. Black made a second visit 11 years later, when Mr. Nathaniel Wright of Bedouque, crossed to Nova Scotia in his own vessel to lay before Mr. Black the moral condition of the people and to convey him to the Island. At Bedouque, Mr. Wright and his family were baptized and a church of 30 members organized. In Charlottetown, "the people heard Mr. Black gladly and Governor Fanning offered assistance in the erection of a chapel." Mr. Black's work proved to be a genuine and permanent character and classes were formed at Charlottetown, Bedouque, Tryon, Murray Harbor and other settlements.

In November, 1814, the frame of the first Methodist Church was raised—with special assistance from the British soldiers who were stationed in the town—and the first sermon was preached in the partly finished church in June, 1816. In order to accommodate the rapidly increasing congregation, a site was secured on Prince Street and in 1835, a new church was dedicated with a seating capacity of 600.

To quote from "Methodism in Eastern British America": "Of the original trustees the most widely known was Isaac Smith, an Englishman of most estimable character, good mental powers and an acceptable local preacher; Henry Smith, his brother, who died in New Zealand, Robert Longworth, of Loyalist parentage; Thomas Dawson, son of the early local preacher of the same name; also John Boyer, Christopher Cross, John Treanman, Charles Welsh and William Tanton—all faithful and zealous men." Associated with the trustees was the following committee: Ralph Brecken, James Moore, George Beer Jr., William Heard, John Williams, Mark Butcher and John T. Thomas.

The corner stone of the present spacious edifice was laid with appropriate ceremony on May 24, 1863, by Mrs. Dundas, wife of the Lieutenant Governor, in the presence of a large number of people as this was Queen Victoria's birthday and a public holiday. The scroll deposited with the stone contained the signatures of the Circuit Superintendent, the Rev. John Brewster as well as the church trustees. The opening services were held on November 13, 1864, when the new building was solemnly dedicated to the worship of God.

Thirty-four years later, in 1897 at a cost of more than $5,000 extensive improvements were undertaken which entailed great sacrifice as the membership was then only 430. The names of the men comprising the committee are recalled to mind with sincere appreciation by many relatives and friends still living. These are: Richard Heartz, L. L. Beer, W. A. Weeks, William Boyle, F. S. Moore, James Paton, L. M. Poole, W. W. Stanley, Mark Wright, Henry Smith, Trustees, with whom were associated representatives from the congregation: Benjamin Rogers, Dr. Taylor, Benj. Heartz, Phillip Large, W. W. Beer, G. A. Sharp and Benj. Sellar.

The story from the turn of the century to the present has often been recorded. Grace Church, which was established in 1871, and Kensington Hall, which was a Mission in the Eastern part of the town built in 1839, were finally absorbed into the First Church.

With the union of the three Protestant Churches in 1925, the Methodist Church in Charlottetown, as elsewhere in Canada, merged its identity with the Presbyterian Unitarian and Trinity Church began a new cycle of Christian activity.

With this brief glance over the years, one cannot but marvel at the faith and courage of those people of an earlier time. For the most part, they lived plain, simple lives with none of the luxuries or even comforts of our time, but rich and poor; young and old, were ever ready to respond to the need of their beloved church. Through their sacrifice, Trinity stands today, a power and an influence for good in the community.

At the Ninetieth Anniversary of Trinity United Church will be observed tomorrow, Sunday, November 8, with fitting services to mark the occasion.

The Very Reverend C. M. Nicholson, Principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall and former Moderator of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, will be the special preacher, both morning and evening. There will be special music at both services.

On these anniversary occasions, it is well to recall to mind the early days when this great congregation was established, because it was only through the vision and sacrifice of a small band of devoted souls in each generation that this present church edifice was erected and maintained.

Methodism on the Island dates back to May 31, 1774, when Benjamin Chappell and his wife came to this Province—then known as the Island of St. John's. They settled first in New London, on the North Shore, and moved four years later to Charlottetown, where Mr. Chappell was Post Master.

Here was "set in motion a train of measures" that resulted in the organization of the Methodist Church.

Later, Mr. Chappell was joined by Thomas Dawson, a native of County Cavan, Ireland, and one of John Wesley's early band of local preachers.

Mr. Dawson had served as an officer in the Cavan Militia and under Lord Cornwallis had fought in the American War. Some years later, he came to the Island to take charge of an estate which he bought about twenty-four miles from Charlottetown.

He at once exerted himself in the cause of religion and his name is intimately connected with the rise of Methodism on this Island.

He found only four members of the church in Charlottetown—Benjamin Chappell and his wife, Joseph Robinson, and Mrs. Smith. Services were frequently conducted by him and Mr. Chappell at the home of Mrs. Smith, which adjoined the residence and Post Office of Mr. Chappell on Water Street.

He also visited every settlement on the Island, holding services among the people who hailed his coming with great delight.

There were no roads, no bridges, few horses and no carriages and the whole Island was, for the most part, a trackless forest with small settlements scattered at distant points. Through hardships and privations, this devoted man did the work of an evangelist. In the words of his youngest son, "no obstacle seemed too great to hinder him from performing what he considered his duty."

Although a man of strong constitution, the exposure and long journeys proved too great a tax on his strength and after a short illness he died at the early age of forty-two. Mr. Dawson was an intelligent and pious man of liberal education, whose practical ministry was a most acceptable boon to the people.

The first Methodist minister to visit Charlottetown was the Rev. William Black, one of Wesley's converts—an "Apostle of Methodism in the Maritime Provinces." Under the date, October 20, 1783, he wrote in his journal: "I set off for the Island of St. John's at the earnest and repeated invitation of Mr. B. Chappell, where I arrived on the 22nd and tarried about a fortnight. I preached several times at Charlottetown and St. Peter's; but alas! the people in general seemed altogether ignorant of the nature of true religion and of that faith that worketh by love."

Mr. Black made a second visit 11 years later, when Mr. Nathaniel Wright of Bedouque, crossed to Nova Scotia in his own vessel to lay before Mr. Black the moral condition of the people and to convey him to the Island. At Bedouque, Mr. Wright and his family were baptized and a church of 30 members organized. In Charlottetown, "the people heard Mr. Black gladly and Governor Fanning offered assistance in the erection of a chapel." Mr. Black's work proved to be a genuine and permanent character and classes were formed at Charlottetown, Bedouque, Tryon, Murray Harbor and other settlements.

In November, 1814, the frame of the first Methodist Church was raised—with special assistance from the British soldiers who were stationed in the town—and the first sermon was preached in the partly finished church in June, 1816. In order to accommodate the rapidly increasing congregation, a site was secured on Prince Street and in 1835, a new church was dedicated with a seating capacity of 600.

To quote from "Methodism in Eastern British America": "Of the original trustees the most widely known was Isaac Smith, an Englishman of most estimable character, good mental powers and an acceptable local preacher; Henry Smith, his brother, who died in New Zealand, Robert Longworth, of Loyalist parentage; Thomas Dawson, son of the early local preacher of the same name; also John Boyer, Christopher Cross, John Treanman, Charles Welsh and William Tanton—all faithful and zealous men." Associated with the trustees was the following committee: Ralph Brecken, James Moore, George Beer Jr., William Heard, John Williams, Mark Butcher and John T. Thomas.

The corner stone of the present spacious edifice was laid with appropriate ceremony on May 24, 1863, by Mrs. Dundas, wife of the Lieutenant Governor, in the presence of a large number of people as this was Queen Victoria's birthday and a public holiday. The scroll deposited with the stone contained the signatures of the Circuit Superintendent, the Rev. John Brewster as well as the church trustees. The opening services were held on November 13, 1864, when the new building was solemnly dedicated to the worship of God.

Thirty-four years later, in 1897 at a cost of more than $5,000 extensive improvements were undertaken which entailed great sacrifice as the membership was then only 430. The names of the men comprising the committee are recalled to mind with sincere appreciation by many relatives and friends still living. These are: Richard Heartz, L. L. Beer, W. A. Weeks, William Boyle, F. S. Moore, James Paton, L. M. Poole, W. W. Stanley, Mark Wright, Henry Smith, Trustees, with whom were associated representatives from the congregation: Benjamin Rogers, Dr. Taylor, Benj. Heartz, Phillip Large, W. W. Beer, G. A. Sharp and Benj. Sellar.

The story from the turn of the century to the present has often been recorded. Grace Church, which was established in 1871, and Kensington Hall, which was a Mission in the Eastern part of the town built in 1839, were finally absorbed into the First Church.

With the union of the three Protestant Churches in 1925, the Methodist Church in Charlottetown, as elsewhere in Canada, merged its identity with the Presbyterian Unitarian and Trinity Church began a new cycle of Christian activity.

COOK'S for Perfect Pictures.

JIMMY'S TAXI — Dial 7379 or 7370.

CRASWELL for Better Photographs.

ELDON SHUR-GAIN CONTEST, Monday, November 9th, 8 P. M.

"YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE—AT THE HUGHES DRUG STORE."

SUITE tailored-to-measure $39.00 up. J. P. MacPherson & Son.

CHESTERFIELDS—In rich velour. Special price. Toombs Music Store.

SAVAGE SHOES in four widths for children at LePage's where fitting is a specialty.

"WE TREAT THE SICK WELL." Giggey's Pharmacy, next Stewart's Bakery.

KEROSENE, Electric and Propane Gas Refrigerators. Bryenton and MacKay.

RESERVE Wednesday, December 2nd Annual Tea and Sale St. Peter's Cathedral Hall.

NEW RECORDS just arrived by your Favorite Artists. Toombs Music Store.

LADIES . . . FOR COMFORT unsurpassed Try Aptitudes and Revelations. LePage Shoe Co., Ltd.

CAPONS, CAPONS, CAPONS. We need 'em. Co-op. Services, Fitzroy Street. Phone 5573.

ISLAND GRILL, Queen Street, Dial 5228. Serving full course dinner. Specializing Chinese diet.

WHY NOT BUY that toilet set at Wellner's 85th Anniversary Sale and save? Sale ends Saturday night.

ALL WINTER coats and suits (Kilgorecks excepted) clearing at 25% off regular prices. The Gloria Ladies' Wear, Grafton St.

SKATES — Misses and Men's Skates at greatly reduced sell-out prices. Shop now at LePage Shoe Co.

GET YOUR ROAST CHICKEN at Pownall Ladies' Aid Cake and Pantry Sale, Saturday, November 7th, 2 P. M. at Moore and McLeod's.

BEAUTIFUL Fleetwood combination radio—3-speed record-player in mahogany, walnut and lined oak, $99.50. Combination table models, $29.50. Firestone Bryenton & MacKay.

UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA. Covehead—Union Road. Services for Remembrance Day, West Covehead 11 A.M. Covehead Road 3 P.M. Union Road 7:30 P. M. Norman Green, (Minister).

MILTON—RUSTICO PARISH. — Rector, Rev. A. E. Piercy. Services on Sunday, November 8th, are: St. Mark's, Rustico, 11:00 A.M. Holy Communion and Sermon. St. John's, Milton, 3:00 P. M. Evening Prayer and Sermon. Christ Church, Cherry Valley, 7:30 P. M. Evening Prayer and Sermon. "Come and bring the whole family."

SEE STOREY ELECTRIC AD. this issue for free polisher.

FINDLAY coal and wood furnaces. Douglas Bros. and Jones.

RAYNOR'S Happy Valley Eggs—they're fortified.

ACADIA ALUMNI annual meeting tonight, 8 o'clock at the Y.

BELANGER RANGES for coal wood or oil. Bryenton & MacKay