any political and economic matters nor any military problems not related to Korea. (This obviously referred to such things as Red China's bid for membership in the United Nations, recognition as the government of China, and her claims on Formosa.)

The five-man U. N. team began taking off at 9.35 a.m. today from Munsan in helicopters for Kaesong, 12 miles northwest.

Allied headquarters later announced that the delegation reached Kaesong at 9.55 a.m. and went directly to the conference room.

As the U. N. delegation was leaving, Maj.-Gen. Henry I. Hodges, a delegate, told reporters he had not heard the Red's radio statement on the proposals.

He is deputy chief of staff of the U. S. 8th Army.

The helicopter bearing Joy and Maj.-Gen. Paik Sun Yup of South Korea was the first to leave the Munsan camp.

The other 'copters followed quickly. The last one bore Hodges, Maj.-Gen. L. C. Cairns and Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke, the other three members of the delegation.

Correspondent could not reach Joy and Paik. They boarded their helicopter inside the heavily-guarded camp.

Plans to permit 16 Allied correspondents and photographers to attend today's session were cancelled. The Allied negotiators Tuesday proposed press coverage of the meeting, but the Reds did not agree immediately.

A spokesman for Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme U. N. commander, said Ridgway "will do nothing to jeopardize the success of the conference."

On their return from Tuesday's initial sessions, the U. N. delegates said the meeting had "made progress toward an agenda to discuss an armistice."

It was expected a test of the Red's sincerity would come in their reaction to Joy's refusal to discuss anything except Korean military matters, as well as an Allied proposal for neutral inspection of behind-the-line activities on both sides.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A brief Fashion Show by members of W. I. sewing clubs, with the costumes and accessories loaned by Moore and McLeod Ltd., of Charlottetown.

Supervisors' reports were given by Miss Robin and Miss Maylea Boswell, her assistant, and the session then broken into sections for special interest groups. These groups visited various points of interest where they were served supper.

Life Memberships

During the evening session life memberships were presented to Mrs. L. B. Mellish, Montague; Mrs. Walter Laird, Beedee; Mrs. F. A. Davis was heard in a brief greeting from England, and Mrs. Malcolm MacLeod reported on the A.C.W.W. conference.

Entertainment during the evening was provided by the Highfield Dancers under the direction of Mrs. J. MacKinnon, and by vocal soloist Miss Maureen Blake.

Stressing the need of wider culture in this Province Miss Robin reviewed the names of some of the world famous entertainers who have left Canada in the past fifty years because there was little or no love of music and drama in the hearts of Canadian people. Among those she named were Mary Pickford, Raymond Massey, Ruby Keeler, Deanna Durbin, Guy Lombardo and Jack Carson.

"If the Musical Festival and Drama Festival never produce great artists in the Province, which they may well do," she said, "they will have served well by instilling an appreciation for these arts and creating a demand for them which will keep our talented young people within our borders."

Turning to rural beautification and the part it may play in the welfare of a community, Miss Robin said it cheers old and young alike to live within beautiful surroundings. Well painted buildings, tidy yards and lovely gardens give young people a keen appreciation of home and rural life. A young teacher is happier teaching in a well-groomed community than in a district with littered yards, broken-down buildings in front of the houses, chickens scratching in the front yards, and a dingy, unimproved school.

Referring to the effect on visitors, she added that rural beautification puts "our best foot forward." "It doesn't hurt to give former Islanders who are returning for a visit a touch of nostalgia for Island scenes when they depart," she said, "or perhaps a few regrets that they left this paradise. If things look lovely and prosperous here, they are less likely to depart with the nephew who graduated from St. Dunstan's, or the second cousin who intended to leave for the Prince Edward

Miss P. E. I. And Attendants After Crowning Ceremony Saturday

Miss P. E. I. of 1951 and her attendants are pictured above as they left the Market Square after the crowning ceremony last Saturday evening to be driven through the City to the race track where they were presented to the large crowd in attendance at the night races.

Left to right are Miss Jennie Kowanz, 22, daughter of Mrs. Helen Kowanz, and employed at DeBlois Bros. in Charlottetown, (Talent - acrobatics); Miss Lorena Ann Rooney, 21, daughter of Mrs. Frances Rooney, Orwell, and a nurse-in-training at the Charlottetown Hospital, (Talent - public speaking); Miss Donald MacLeod, Victoria, crowned Miss P. E. I.; Miss Anne Ruth Boswell, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Boswell, Victoria, has finished her first year of music at Mount Allison University, (Talent - pianist); and Miss Roma Margaret Cavanagh, New Haven, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cavanagh, and also a nurse-in-training at the Charlottetown Hospital, (Talent - public speaking).

The picture was especially posed for this newspaper as the young ladies were grouped on the Moore and MacLeod Garden Float on which they left the crowning platform.

Each of the seventeen contestants received beautiful prizes donated by local business houses. Miss P. E. I. was also presented with a lovely basket of roses donated by the Williams Estate, and each of her four attendants received corsages, given by Tait's.

Prizes and their donors were as follows: For the winner, a Gruen watch (G. H. Taylor) and a chest of silver (Oneida Silver Co., through W. W. Wellner), Housecoat, (Holmes and Bradley); Du Barry make-up kit, (Jenkins Pharmacy); Julian Sable purse, (Hughes Drug); Two pair hose, (Nu-Mode Beauty Salon); Revlon manicure set, (Nu-Mode Beauty Salon); Slip, (Gloria); Cologne, (Hughes); Vita-Ray make-up kit, (Hughes); Three pair hose, (Kennedy's Ladies Wear); Three pair hose, (Kennedy's); Sweater, (Greenland); Umbrella, (Suniers); Billfold, (A well wisher) and Hostery (Brady's).

The golden crown worn by the new Queen was the work of Adella's Milliners.

Island Hospital next fall.

Miss Robin said it is important to keep the young people at home by encouraging entertainment, beauty and by giving them opportunities for education and satisfying occupations.

Wider Activities

In her annual report, the Supervisor referred to the broadening activity in many fields of the work of W. I. and stated they have expanded their work at home, in the Province, and have looked beyond to national and international levels.

She continued by saying that many groups have helped improve their schools until only sixty-six of the five hundred and fifty rural schools remain without new or renovated buildings.

Twenty-two organizations have received co-operation from the Women's Institutes during the past year, including monetary contributions to the Musical Festival Association and the Drama Festival Association.

Miss Robin also referred to a shipment of handicrafts sent for exhibition at the Maritime Association meetings in Edmonton early in 1950, and another shipment which went to the Maritime Winter Fair last year.

She stated the organization was looking forward to improved facilities for food display at the annual exhibition in this City, and that crafts were of a superior design and quality at the last Fair in Charlottetown.

Concluding her report, Miss Robin stated that twelve new institutes have been organized during the past year, three have been re-organized, and none have been discontinued. A leadership course was held for District Executive members in March, and it is hoped to conduct another this year.

In her report on Girls' Club Work, Miss Boswell stated that seventy-five Sewing Clubs were organized last Fall, and eight Food Clubs during the Winter.

Successful Year

In her Presidential report, Mrs. MacLeod referred to the great deal of work accomplished during the past year. One of the achievements has been the installation of septic toilets in nearly half the rural schools.

The Provincial Government paid for one half of the project, but much credit is due the local institutes for providing sanitary, healthful accommodation for the boys and girls.

Mrs. MacLeod also referred to the Jubilee Endowment Fund Scholarship for $100, which will be given to a rural girl this Fall, entering the Home Economics Course at an accredited college with a view to obtaining a degree.

Names of eligible girls may be submitted by each Institute through the W. I. Office to the selection committee.

These girls must have completed satisfactorily two year's academic work at P.W.C. or Grade eleven of Maritime Board of Education, and must be desirous of taking a Home Economics Degree at Acadia, MacDonald College, Mount Allison, Mount St. Vincent College, or another Canadian University offering this degree. The first two years work in Home Economics is now offered at P.W.C., and candidates wishing to enter this course will also be eligible providing they plan to finish at one of the above mentioned colleges. Only girls residing outside of Charlottetown are eligible.

6 Witnesses Heard In Highway Fatality Case

The trial of Justice George J. Tweedy opened in the Queen's County Court Judge's Criminal Court yesterday before Judge C. St. Clair. The trial was adjourned until 10:30 this morning after the testimony of six witnesses had been taken. The charge, that of driving to the common danger, arose out of an accident involving a car driven by Justice Tweedy which caused the death of Gerald Solomon on the night of April 14 last.

The original charge had been manslaughter but the Grand Jury did not find a true bill; however, they brought in a bill on the lesser charge above mentioned. The accused elected to stand trial under the Speedy Trials Act.

When asked to plead yesterday, Justice Tweedy said "Not Guilty". He sat at the table with his counsel, Messrs. H. Frank McPhee K.C. and D. L. Mathison, K.C. The Crown was represented by Hon. Walter E. Darby, Attorney General.

The first witness on the stand was Mrs. Isabel Seller but she later stepped down when Dr. E. S. Giddings, another witness, arrived in court. Dr. Giddings, a practising physician and surgeon for 19 years, said he had performed an autopsy on the body of Gerald Solomon Sunday afternoon, April 15. He found the cause of death to be hemorrhage and shock from a ruptured lung, ruptured right kidney and displaced spine.

These injuries, he said, would be caused by two forces applied to the body. He stated that from the appearance of the body it seemed that some blunt object had penetrated through the skin on the left side and fractured the 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th ribs and torn the lower lobe of the lung as well as the diaphragm and perforated the liver. He expressed the belief that it could not have been done by the ribs. It was some blunt object penetrating.

Mrs. Seller's Testimony

Called to the stand by Mr. Darby, Mrs. Isabel Seller repeated her testimony at the inquest and preliminary hearing. She told of meeting Justice Tweedy at the corner of Grand and Church streets and getting into the car with him. They were going to Pownal. It was after 7 p.m. She sat on the right side in the front seat. After crossing the bridge she knew the lights were on because Judge Tweedy "dipped" them when meeting other cars.

After the turn past the Keppoch Road they continued on the highway until the scene of the accident. She did not see a truck stopped on the road just past the entrance to the Kinloch Road. Was first aware of anything unusual when she felt the brakes being put on. She felt something was wrong and the first thing she knew the car was stopped by a behind a truck. She felt no impact. It was not exactly a quick stop and she could not say she heard any screaming of tires.

The witness stated she did not see anything and first saw truck when she got out of car. She had been half-turned on the front seat and was not looking ahead. She thought they had met traffic. At the time of the accident she had heard no crash. It was then she realized she could not see out the windshield. It was shattered. She did not recall events just prior to the accident. The next thing she remembered was being on the right hand side of the car. That door was open, she got out the other one.

At the time of the car's stopping she did not know anything serious had happened. She saw an injured man sitting on the shoulder of the road. She also saw a girl in a red coat; she was leaning over. The witness did not see anyone else. Later she spoke to a lady near the car but did not recall the nature of the conversation.

While standing there she realized someone had been killed, but did not know who told her. She heard a girl crying. She went back to town with a Mr. Sheidow. Several cars had gone by without stopping.

Under cross-examination by Mr. McPhee, witness said the highway was rough all the way, particularly just before the scene of the accident where their car had almost come to a stop. She wouldn't say the speed of the car had gone up to normal between the last bad bump and the accident scene.

Miss Mary Macdonald, 21, Georgetown, fiancée of the man killed, said she was engaged to Gerald Solomon and was to have been married yesterday. She told of the three of them, including Charlie Gardiner, coming to the city that Saturday. She and Solomon had gone to confession at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer and then gone back to the Market Square where they had parked the truck. Gardiner was waiting there.

The group then walked over to the Vendor's where they got a quart of gin. Returning to the car the boys had a couple of drinks before they went to a restaurant to eat. They went back to the truck about 7 p.m. and started for home. They had no more drinks.

She related how the truck had passed over a bad bump and the boys noticed the tailboard was loose. Got out to fix it but Solomon had to come back for some tools. She sat in the cab waiting. She heard a screech of brakes and something on the truck moving ahead about four or five yards. She jumped out and went around to the back. She found Gerald Solomon killed on the pavement behind the truck. A car was there. She said that when the truck was hit the tools jumped out of the tool compartment in the cab.

She saw Judge Tweedy standing beside the car, also saw Mr. W. Smith put a blanket over Solomon. She had gone to talk to Gardiner but he did not say any-ing loaded last night for transportation to mainland points this morning. Berries will be moving out of the plant by truck daily from now to the end of the season.

Already this season about 125,000 quarts of berries have been handled at the plant with about 60,000 of the quarts being taken care of in the last two days.

About 150 people, mostly women, are employed at the plant during the berry season. The women's work is to separate the green and bad berries from the good ones.

An estimated 30% of the crop is processed at the plant.

The term processing means placing the good berries in cups or pans and covering them with sugar. These berries are then taken to the Cold Storage Plant in Charlottetown. Around 100 people are employed in the processing work.

The berries are placed in 15 ounce moncupcs and 24 pound pails. These berries can be bought in the middle of winter, thawed out and used with cream and sugar the same as fresh berries.

About 70 growers in the vicinity of Mount Stewart form the Exchange into which they ship all their berries. The berries that are not processed in the plant are exported or shipped to other processing plants in the Province.

The strawberry crop in that area is better than was anticipated, stated Mr. MacDonald. Earlier it had been forecast that the crop would amount to about 100,000 quarts more than that of last year. The 1950 crop totalled around 200,000 quarts.

This year the Exchange constructed a new building to handle their berries. The main part of the construction is 90 feet long and 25 feet wide. Adjoining it is an L-shaped structure where loading and unloading takes place. This structure is 30 feet long and 15 feet wide.

Revisiting Here After 63 Years

Visiting the Island at present, and enjoying every moment of his stay, is Mr. Louis B. Foote, of Winnipeg, who recalls the time, sixty-three years ago, when he worked for the Summerside Journal and later for the Cook Studio in Charlottetown, before moving westward and finally settling in the Manitoba capital. Before leaving here he engaged for a time in organizing the Ancient Order of Foresters.

A photographer by profession, Mr. Foote is now retired but in his day he was an expert at his work and photographed many of the leading celebrities and noted visitors to Canada. He travelled three times from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast with the Prince of Wales (now the Duke of Windsor) with whom he is on terms of friendship; and one of his biggest scoops was an unusual picture of the Prince in an ill-fitting naval uniform, worn only once, for which he subsequently received £25 from a London newspaper.

Mr. Foote did a lot of photographic work for the Canadian Pacific Railway, as well as for the Winnipeg papers and the London Times. Prince Arthur of Connaught, Sir Harry Lauder, Sir John Martin Harvey, Annette Kellerman, a noted swimmer and diver of her day, and numerous celebrities of stage and screen were among those whose pictures he took.

A native of Newfoundland, Mr. Foote was a youth when he resided in Prince Edward Island. He worked for a time in a lobster factory at Argyle Shore, where he boarded at the MacPhail's. His visit here at present was to attend the birthday party, held last Saturday, of Mrs. John C. Macdonald, to which he had been invited as an oldtime friend.

Mr. Foote paid a brief visit to the Island last year, but on this occasion he is making a longer stay and is meeting quite a number of old acquaintances, and making many new ones.

Final Tributes Paid At Impressive Funeral Of Monsignor MacAulay

The funeral of the late Rt. Rev. A. A. MacAulay, D.P., eighty-nine year old priest who died at the Charlottetown Hospital on Saturday morning, was held yesterday at St. Peter's Bay, and was attended by a very large congregation that overflowed spacious St. Peter's Church. Also in the sanctuary were Rev. E. W. MacInnis, P.P., Master of Ceremonies, Rev. Patrick McMahon, D.D., Assistant Master of Ceremonies, Rev. E. J. Roche, Thurifer, Rev. L. J. McKenna, Absolution at the grave was given by Rev. K. C. MacPherson, P.P.

Occuying a special place in the sanctuary, and assisted by Rev. Owen Kiggins, P.P., Georgetown, and Rev. A. A. Johnston, P.P., New Waterford, N.S., as chaplains, was the Most Reverend J. R. MacDonald, D.D., Bishop of Antigonish. Seated also in the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Maurice McDonald, Rt. Rev. J. A. Murphy, and Rt. Rev. R. V. MacKenzie.

The honorary pallbearers were Rt. Rev. J. A. Murphy, Rev. R. J. MacDonald, Rev. B. J. MacDonald, Rev. George MacDonald, Rev. W. A. Keefe, and Rev. L. J. Ayers, and the active pallbearers Messrs. R. L. Burge, T. R. Cullen, Wilfred MacKinnon, Raymond MacKinnon, Bennett MacIsaac, and Bennett Lewis.

The sermon for the occasion was delivered by Rev. J. P. E. O'Hanley, Ph.D., of St. Dunstan's University, who is a native of St. Peter's Bay and a former altar boy of the late Msgr. MacAulay. Taking as the text of his sermon words found in the Rite of Ordination of Priests, "Let your doctrine be spiritual medicine for the people of God; let the odor of your life be the delight of the Church of Christ; so that, by your preaching and example, you may build up the house, that is, the family, of God."

Rev. Dr. O'Hanley, after referring briefly to the achievements of the sixty-one priestly years of the late Msgr. MacAulay, paid highest tribute to his truly praiseworthy qualities: his fidelity to duty as "minister of Christ and dispenser of the mysteries of God," his detachment from worldly possessions, and his deep and lifelong interest in the study of theology.

Ever at his post, and never guilty of the "heresy of action," he said in part, "Msgr. MacAulay was, in truth, ever the good shepherd of his flock, and in the language of the fulfillment of his priestly calling he constantly reminded the members of that flock 'I am come that you may have life, and may have it more abundantly.' Therefore, when death came suddenly to him on last Saturday morning, as he was preparing to receive Holy Communion, he might raise his dying eyes to Heaven, and, in his expiring gasp, cry out in all truth to his Heavenly Father, 'I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do.'"

Concluding his sermon, he exhorted the large congregation to strive earnestly, and for their own edification, "to keep ever green in memory, the life of this 'great priest who in his days pleased God, and was found just,' and to pray for the eternal rest of his priestly soul."

In the passing of Monsignor Alexander MacAulay, the diocese of Charlottetown has lost a truly great churchman, and Prince Edward Island has lost an outstanding scholar and a most exemplary citizen.
