

THE DAILY EXAMINER. JUNE 26, 1890.

The Poisoning Case.

The Grand Jury did not find a bill in the Weeks-Sutherland poisoning case. We presume that they came to the conclusion that the chain of evidence was too weak to justify the finding of a bill against anyone.

Supreme Court.

JUNE 26.

This morning Mr. Justice Hensley gave judgment in the cases arising under the Pedlars Act, tried before him at Summerside last October, and which were subsequently argued before him at Charlottetown.

Mr. H. C. McDonald, on behalf of Dr. G. A. Baynes, obtained a rule nisi calling upon the Medical Association to show cause next Monday why the president should not register his name as a member.

Military Camp.

To-night Rev. James Carruthers will deliver a lecture. His subject will be "Short Sketches of Scottish Characteristics." Col. Dogherty will occupy the chair.

An Important Move.

Mariners have always looked upon Sable Island as one of the most dangerous points of the coast, and many of the most serious shipwrecks have occurred in the vicinity of that island.

Personal.

Rev. Geo. McMillan, of Malpeque, leaves on Monday for a three months' trip to Europe. His visit will be confined principally to Scotland, but he will visit London, Paris, and possibly other important cities.

THE CITY SCHOOLS.

Midsummer Examinations.

QUEEN SQUARE SCHOOL.

The Prize List.

QUEEN SQUARE SCHOOL was examined, gave its entertainment, and was closed for the holidays this forenoon. Among the visitors were Hon. David Laird, Hon. A. A. Macdonald, Hon. Patrick Blake, Mr. L. H. Davies, M. P., Mr. and Mrs. T. Handrahan, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McLeod, Father McDonald, Father McLean, Principal Seaman and Miss McKinnon, of Upper Prince Street School, T. C. James, D. Farquharson, M. P. P., R. R. Fitzgerald, I. Oxenham and J. McIsaac.

The examination proved that the pupils are carefully taught and thoroughly grounded in all the elements of learning. Good work is evidently done by the lower grades, the fruit of which appears in the higher departments, and will, we have no doubt, count for much in the battle of life which each pupil who may continue to live must fight.

The entertainment in the upper hall was a very pleasing one, the singing and recitations being exceptionally good. Mr. L. H. Davies, Hon. David Laird, Hon. A. A. Macdonald, R. R. Fitzgerald, Esq., Hon. P. Blake and Father McLean delivered short addresses. All the speakers complimented the teachers and the scholars upon the excellence of the school.
