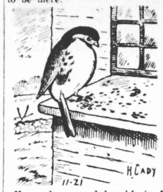
BEDTIME STORIES

Tommy Tit Takes A Sip

Likes and dislikes you will find Very much a state of mind.
—Old Mother Nature

It was near the end of summer. Tommy Tit the Chickadee and Mrs. Tommy were back in the Old Orchard. They had been away starting their children out in the Great World, getting new fall suits; and enjoying a chance and rest while they did this. Now they were back and it was good to be there.



He made a good breakfast of seeds, doughnuts and suet.

Several of the summer folk were still around, a few having their children, now as big as their parents, still with them. A few were already flocking in preparation for the long journey to the Sunny South. Skimmer the Swallow and his kind were among them. They would take no chances of being caught by unexpected cold weather. Tommy Tit has never been able to understand why so many folks are afraid of cold weather. He likes it. It takes a very bad winter storm to make Tommy Tit other than cheerful and merry.

Tommy flew over to Farmer Brown's dooryard to see if Farmer Brown's boy was still putting out food for his feathered friends. He was. Hairy and Downy, the Woodpecker cousins, were both getting a breakfast of suet. Yank Yank the Nuthatch was awaiting his turn. Kitty the Catbird and Welcome Robin were breakfasting on raisins and dried currants. Little Friend the Song Sparrow and his big cousins, the Chewinks or Towhees, were picking up chickfeed on the ground beneath the window feeding-shelf. On that were sunflower seeds and a doughnut. Farmer Brown's boy and Mother Brown feed their feathered friends all summer just as in winter for it keeps them about the house where the pleasure they give with happy voices, bright colors and merry ways more than pays for the food they eat.

"Dee, dee, dee! See me! See me!" cried Tommy Tit as he sat on the edge of the shelf and cracked open a seed.

He made a good breakfast of seeds, doughnut and suet, then, feeling lazy, sat quietly in a neighboring bush watching his feathered friends come and go. It was then that he noticed for the first time two small red cups on a stake near the feeding-shelf. They were not much bigger than one of Mother Brown's thimbles. Each seemed to be filled with water. He wondered about these, for nearby was plenty of water in a birdbath. Rubythroat the Hummingbird appeared as if by magic at one of those little cups and drank and drank, all the time moving his wings so fast that even Tommy Tit's bright little eyes could see only a blur. All the time he was keeping right in place in front of the little cup as if standing still in the air.

Rubythroat darted away. Almost at once Mrs. Hummer was there drinking as if she couldn't get enough. Neither of the two tiny birds had so much as looked at the water in the bath where other birds drank whenever thirsty. Tommy Tit did himself.

Mrs. Hummer flew away. Tommy was just about to fly over to the Old Orchard when back came Rubythroat and once more drank and drank, then darted away. Presently Mrs. Hummer was back drinking. When she flew away Tommy Tit decided that he was thirsty. He flew down to one of those little cups and took a sip. What was this funny water?

Tourist Officials Think 1957 Was Record Year

By JACK VAN DUSEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—It's too early for accurate figures but both federal and provincial officials are predicting 1957 will be a record year for the Canadian tourist industry.

Alan Field, director of the Canadian government travel bureau which spent more than $1,000,000 this year advertising Canada in the United States, says that preliminary figures show traffic into Canada is nine-per-cent higher than in 1956.

"This is going to be a record year and the greatest year in the history of the travel bureau," he said.

A Canadian Press survey shows that most of the 10 provinces agree.

VISITORS SPEND MORE

The bureau of statistics report that tourists to Canada in 1956 totalled 27,700,000. The visitors spent $337,000,000, $9,000,000 more than in the previous year.

But Canadians, who made 27,200,000 visits to other countries, spent nearly $500,000,000, giving Canada a travel deficit of about $160,000,000.

Indications are that the deficit will be narrowed this year. Influx of U.S. tourists, who spent $39,000,000 in Canada in 1956, is expected to be as good if not better than last year. Travel by Canadians in Canada is reported on the increase.

To the end of September, the federal travel bureau handled 575,796 requests for information from persons wanting to visit Canada, 121,524 more than in 1956. Most of the inquiries came from Americans.

Officials of Canada's national parks and historical parks and sites report 3,212,085 visitors between April 1 and Aug. 31, compared with 2,929,190 in 1956.

The only fly in the ointment was the Canadian dollar's premium over the U.S. dollar. Many U.S. tourists complained of being charged too much when they cashed American money, but officials predicted this would have little effect on the over-all picture.

PROVINCIAL REVIEW

Here is the tentative 1957 tourist industry outlook as reported by the provinces:

Newfoundland spent about $27,000 this year on publicity material and opened 56 guest-house units, eight cabin units, 24 hotels and 12 motels. Officials said, however, the year would be about the same as 1956.

Prince Edward Island estimates its tourist business will be up 20 per cent this year. The province spent about $55,000 for various forms of advertising.

Tourist bureau chief George Herman of Nova Scotia says the number of cars, both Canadian and American, entering the province is much higher than in 1956 and it may be the province's biggest year yet.

New Brunswick, whose tourist traffic was valued at a record $25,000,000 in 1956, predicts a 10-per-cent increase this year. The provincial travel bureau estimates 152,000 U.S. cars and 170,000 Canadian cars entered the province in the July - September period and, figuring on an average of three persons to a car, visitors numbered 966,000. They spent about $160 a car.

Officials say tourists to Quebec totalled 5,210,000, up nine per cent from last year. They spent an estimated $208,000,000 compared with $192,000,000 in 1956. The province estimated tourists stayed an average of five days and spent $8 a day. Seventy per cent travelled by car.

Ontario expects the tourist trade to increase from one to five per cent at $350,000,000. The average tourist spends between $30 to $40 in the province. Canadian travel increased this year but there was a slight decline in U.S. visitors.

Manitoba estimates tourists spent $27,776,000 in the first seven months of the year, compared with $28,923,000 in the whole of last year; 303,055 Canadians visited the province compared with 279,283 in the corresponding 1956 period. There were 452,000 American tourists against 412,835 last year. The government, which spent more than $50,000 in newspaper and magazine advertising alone, said the increase is a direct result of advertising.

SASKATCHEWAN REPORT

Saskatchewan estimates it has had 500,000 visitors from other provinces and 150,000 Americans this year, an increase of 15 per cent in Canadian visitors and eight per cent in Americans over 1956. They spent $20,000,000.

Alberta last year had record tourist revenue of $56,430,000 and expects an increase this year of up to three per cent. The province had its biggest year this year in highway construction.

British Columbia expects a slight increase over the 1956 tourist income of $90,000,000. Tourists spent $65,000,000 in the first eight months of this year. The province expects an increase of 200,000 in Canadian cars entering the province and a slight increase over the 1,200,000 U.S. autos of 1956.

Not A Saucer U.S.A.F. Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force said Friday it has looked into five recent reports of mysterious lights and strange objects from the sky — and there isn't a flying saucer in the lot.

The air force report gave the most severe description—"hoax" —to the most vivid of the stories. This was a Kearney, Neb., man's account of being shown around the interior of a spaceship by its German-speaking crew.

But the air force technical investigators also dismissed as exaggerations or misunderstood natural phenomena stories of a huge glowing object touching ground near Levelland, Tex., and causing automobiles to stall; somewhat similar reports from near Alamogordo, N.M.; bright lights seen from a coast guard cutter in the Gulf of Mexico and by planes patrolling near White Sands, N.M.

Ban Canadian Arms To East

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith said Tuesday the government is continuing to ban Canadian arms shipments to the Middle East.

He was replying to Lester B. Pearson, former external affairs minister, who asked whether the government is considering removal of the prohibition on arms shipments to Israel.

Mr. Smith said the government still is conforming to a United Nations resolution that UN members refrain from shipping military supplies to the Middle East.

The government also wished to avoid any action which might jeopardize the UN Emergency Force in Egypt and its Canadian contingent.
