DRESS PARADE.

A gray feather bon is one of the necessities of a fashionable outfit just at present. A homespun wool material in a new weave, very loose and thin, like grenadine, is in the market. It comes in stripes, and is made up over the inevitable taffeta silk lining.

Swiss embroidered muslin of the finest kind is made up into dainty summer gowns over silk linings, and pretty figured lawns are tucked from the knee to the deep hem as they were years ago.

Transparent effects play a large part in summer millinery, and mull, chiffon, net and tulle are shirred into the prettiest shaped hats, with both lightness in color and weight to recommend them to favor.

Chiffon dresses, once worn exclusively for evening, have appeared among the day gowns, and pink, yellow, green, mauve and white chiffon is made up with gathered or accordion plaited flounces to the waist.

Ribbon belts made of two lengths of ribbon folded and crossed on the hips, so that they form points back and front, are a useful accessory of dress, since they are boned and hooked in front, and consequently are always in place.

Lace is more in demand than ever, and the woman who has a lot of old real lace is to be envied. Yet the imitations are exquisitely fine, and the art of producing pretty effects with inexpensive lace is well known to the dressmakers.

The latest sleeve is out in one piece, small gigot shape. Two plaits are folded at the elbow on the underside, and the seam is arranged well under the arm, while plaits in front at the top throw up a little fullness, which forms the puff.—New York Sun.

UNCLE PETER'S RECIPES.

First.—To keep your feet dry on rainy days: Stand on your head.

Second.—The best way to mind a baby: Do everything he tells you to.

Third.—The safest way to gather chestnuts: Take a pair of scissors and cut them out of the comic papers.

Fourth.—How to get soda water or candy for nothing: Persuade somebody else to buy it for you.

Fifth.—How to make a dollar go a long way: Put it in an envelope addressed to somebody in the Sandwich Islands and mail it.

Sixth.—How to go west at no expense whatever: Turn your back on the east and walk straight ahead.

Seventh.—To avoid stammering, whispering and impudence: Don't talk.

Eighth.—To avoid swallowing watermelon seeds and cherry stones: Eat no fruit but bananas or apples.

Ninth.—To learn to dance in one lesson: Walk on the hot sand at the seashore at midday in midsummer barefooted.

Tenth.—The surest method of remembering dates: Fix them firmly in your mind and don't forget them.

All children following these rules, which are the result of many years of experience on Uncle Peter's part, will find that they can accomplish the special objects for which the rules are made without any added effort.—Harper's Bazar.

Head Money.

When Dr. Schliemann was digging at the supposed site of Troy, he uncovered the remains of several ancient cities which had been built one after another on the same hill. In the second layer from the bottom he discovered masses of silver in the form of axe heads. Dr. Gotze now suggests that these were intended not for implements, but for money. Bronze axe heads have also been discovered in ancient remains, mingled with metal pieces in the form of rings, in such a manner as to suggest that all alike were intended to serve as money. After the axe head had disappeared as actual money the memory of it was preserved in the coins of Tenedos, which bore the figure of an axe head. Dr. Gotze also suggests that the "wedge of gold" which Achan stole from the spoils of Jericho and for the stealing of which Joshua had him stoned to death was a specimen of the ancient axe head money.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Catching at a Straw.

"They say a cow's age can be told by the rings on her horns," he said apropos of nothing in particular.

"It is evident," she returned, with a certain wistfulness, "that it is not considered improper for a cow to get engaged every year."—Chicago Post.

Answer a letter the day it is received and you will experience a sense of duty well done. Delay it, and after too long a time has elapsed shame will put a stop to its acknowledgment altogether.
