S'ide Business To Change Hands

As will be noted by the advertisement appearing in today's issue, the radio and accessories business conducted by Mr. A. G. Rogers on Water Street has been sold to Mr. W. E. MacAusland and will operate under the new management on and after June 5th.

Mr. MacAusland has been attached to the Summerside branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia since 1946 and has held the post of relieving manager for the Island branches since that date. A native of Alberton, R. P., he was a member of the R.C.A.F. during the war and at the close of hostilities he returned to the banking profession which he entered in 1931. He is a member of the Summerside branch of the Canadian Legion and the Summerside Golf Club.

Mr. MacAusland plans on conducting a furniture and appliance store and in order to adapt the premises to this business he has renovations planned for the interior of the store. The present radio and repair shop has been conducted by Mr. A. G. Rogers since his discharge from the R.C.A.F. at the end of the war.—S.

Clarke-Simmons Wedding

Baskets of multi-colored tulips and apple blossoms formed the floral setting for an exceptionally pretty June wedding in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Summerside, on Friday evening at seven o'clock. The principals were Mary Emmeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Simmons, and Andrew Dominy Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke of Kelowna, B.C. Van. Archdeacon G. R. Harrison officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mr. Everett Penwarden, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. Ivan Phillips who sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her aunt, Miss Dorothy Simmons, as maid of honor; her sisters Miss Ruth Simmons and Miss Noreen Simmons were bridesmaids. The groomsmen were F. O. M. Derynrae and the ushers were P. O. J. Curzon and F. O. M. Desjardins.

The young bride was charming in her wedding gown of white brocaded satin, featuring a nylon yoke edged with a fold of lace and caught with pearl clips. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The moulded bodice was doctored with the back with dozens of tiny self-covered buttons, and the skirt, a hooped silhouette, was caught up to display rows of Peau d'Ange lace. Her full length veil of embroidered French net was arranged from a coronet of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of Better Time roses.

The maid of honor wore a gown of lavender flocked sheer with matching crownless hat in poke style, and mitts. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of Queen Elizabeth Yellow roses. The bridesmaids were attired in gowns of similar fashion to that of the maid of honor. Miss Ruth wearing Nile green and carrying a nosegay of Pink Delight roses and Miss Noreen wearing canary yellow and carrying a nosegay of Briarcliff Pink roses. The bride's mother chose a dove grey sheer gown with navy accessories and a corsage of pink delight roses.

Following the ceremony a reception for fifty guests was held in St. Mary's Hall, catered to by the Ladies' Guild. The bride's table with its artistic arrangement of spring flowers and lighted tapers was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a wedding bell beneath an arch of orange blossoms. The bride and groom left by automobile for Rivers, Manitoba.

lo — the radio listener — the cost of his licence fee would remain unchanged at $2.50 a year. The Commission rejected a CBC suggestion that the fee be boosted to $5 to meet new financial burdens.

Instead, the commission recommended that Parliament at five-year intervals make a statutory grant to meet the CBC's revenue deficiencies. In its broad report culminating a two-year study, the commission said there is need for a greater nationalism, a Canadian spirit that would give new vitality and meaning to an "anaemic" Canadian cultural life.

OTTAWA, June 1—(CP)—Main recommendations of the Massey Royal Commission report follow:
Radio Broadcasting
Annual radio-receiver licence fee of $2.50 to remain unchanged. CBC continue to control national and private broadcasting within an enlarged board of governors for wider representation.

No private station to operate as part of a network without CBC permission, as at present. Private broadcasters to be granted the right of appeal to the courts against miscarriage of justice through CBC decisions. CBC to refuse local commercial advertising except where no private station is available.

CBC to refuse all commercial programs not acceptable in content and to consider eliminating some of the "less desirable" commercial programs now carried. Establishment of a second CBC French network and a CBC French-speaking station for the Maritimes.

Television
Control and direction of television to remain with CBC, which is to continue with plans for telecasting. No private TV stations to be licensed until CBC has national programs available; private stations be required to serve as outlets for CBC national programs. Capital costs of CBC telecasting to be voted by Parliament; licence fee to be recommended by CBC.

CBC to exercise "strict" control over all TV stations "to avoid excessive commercialism and to encourage Canadian content and the use of Canadian talent." Telecasting in Canada to be re-considered by an independent body not later than three years after the start of regular service.

National Film Board
Board to be granted funds adequate for necessary expansion of staff and distribution activities. Board to maintain a national film collection as an historical record of events of national importance. Board to continue to produce such documentary films and still photographs as will serve public interest.

Board to produce no films for private persons or companies. National Gallery
Gallery to be housed as soon as possible in a new building with adequate facilities for display, storage, repair and other work. Present appropriation for new art purchases be maintained and increased when possible.

Present services of travelling gallery exhibitions to be developed and extended. Necessary increases to be made in funds, staff and facilities for extended services. National Museums
National Museum of Canada to be given adequate space and facilities for preservation and display of exhibits; name to be changed to "The Canadian Museum of Natural History".
