A New Crisis in the Balkans.

The course of Russia, in insisting upon the dismissal of the Commandant and Prefect of Philippopolis because of the arrest of a Russian conspirator, and in ordering the truculent Gen. Kaulbars to leave Bulgaria, together with all the Russian consuls, revives the troubles in Bulgaria and creates a new crisis. The withdrawal of Gen. Kaulbars in itself would be a subject for congratulation, as he has done nothing but mischief; but it seems to be generally apprehended that the exit of Kaulbars will be the signal for the entrance of Russian troops. If this happens, events will move rapidly. A few days ago it seemed probable that the acceptance by the other Powers of the Russian nomination of Prince Nicholas of Mingrelia to the Bulgarian throne would result in an investment of affairs which would be, at least outwardly, pacific. To be sure Bulgarian aspirations would be, in that case, as effectually crushed as if by the iron heel of war, for the Prince is a vassal of the Czar, and having already sold to him for the money consideration, one principle, would be ready, on modern terms to dispose of another. But the Powers are not troubled by any questions of mere sentiment, and so long as there was no rupture of the peace, the disappointed patriotism of a weak but brave people would not disturb the tranquility of a single diplomat.

But the open occupation of Bulgaria by Russian troops on a flimsy pretext is another thing. Austria has declared, in language as plain as could be found, that she would not tolerate it. Will she eat her words? England has given notice that she can be counted upon as one in an alliance to resist such an aggression. Will she reconsider the declaration? Will the Powers which signed the Berlin Treaty quietly watch Russia tear that instrument into fragments and touch a match to the warnings of Austria and England were intended to be given only a Pickwickian interpretation.—Boston Journal.

Hampton Court Palace.

Hampton Court Palace, in Middlesex, partially destroyed by fire a few days ago, is an historic old palace. It is situated on the Thames, twelve miles from London, and was originally built by Cardinal Wolsey in 1515 on the site of the Manor-house of the Knights hospitaliers, and by him presented to Henry VIII. in 1526, and was for a long period a favorite royal residence. Henry VIII., who added considerably to the Cardinal's buildings, passed much of his time there. In this palace Edward VI. was born and Jane Seymour died. Queen Mary and Philip of Spain passed their honeymoon there, and a great Christmas supper in the great hall is recorded to have taken place in their reign. Queen Elizabeth held high state at Hampton Court, and in James I.'s time the palace was the scene of the great conference between the Puritans and the Established Church. It was a favorite residence of Charles I., and after his execution passed into the possession of Oliver Cromwell. Charles II. and James II., occasionally visited the palace. William III. and Mary made it almost their permanent place of abode, and greatly enlarged and improved it. Their immediate successors also lived at Hampton court; its last royal occupant having been George II. At present suites of apartments are granted in the palace to ladies and gentlemen favored by the Crown. Cavalry barracks are attached to the palace, which are generally occupied by a detachment of the Household brigade or some other corps d'elite. There are many pictures of great interest, principally in their relation to English history; the beauties of the court of the second Charles, painted by Sir Peter Lely, being in this respect particularly noticeable. There are also pictures of Holbein, Kneller, Titian and other masters, but many of the paintings are of doubtful origin. The magnificent gardens attached to the palace are the chief attraction for the public.

The Burden on Europe.

(From the New York World.)

The standing army of Germany, on a peace footing, consists of 427,274 men, the ordinary expense of which is about $90,000,000. But the machinery is in order in case of war to call out 1,500,000. France keeps 502,866 men in constant service, with a reserve of over 3,000,000 besides. Both these nations have, moreover, their navies to pay for. Austria-Hungary sustains a regular army of 284,000 men, with a reserve of over 1,000,000. Russia has on a peace footing 780,000, and 2,300,000 ready to be called on in time of war. Italy keeps 170,000 constantly under arms, with 750,765 in a state of organization for emergencies. The list might be extended, but the above furnishes a sufficient indication of the tremendous drain that is made upon the productive energies of Europe by the ambitions and fears of its rulers.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected, and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when these diseases make their appearance will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price 75 cents, large bottles.

During the year 1885, 4,691 males and 1,300 females committed suicide in Germany.

Boston Markets.

NOVEMBER 20.
EGGS—Strictly fresh Eastern country scarce, and sales have been made at 27 to 28c. per dozen. Other kinds are in liberal receipt. Nova Scotia and P. E. Island command 24 to 25c., and Canada 24c.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes is firmer than last week, but it is not easy to get much advance. Houlton Hebrons command 58 to 60c., and Houlton Rose 53 to 55c. Burbanks and Prolifics go off fairly at 48 to 50c. Northern Hebrons and Rose rule at 45 to 48c. Sweetens are quiet and unchanged.

FISH TRADE.—The jobbing trade has fallen off considerably the past week and the market is quiet for all kinds of Fish. Mackerel continue in light receipt, but the demand from dealers is light and prices are without material change. Bays are quoted at $17 to $18 for No. 1; $13 to $14 for No. 2; and $11.50 to $12 for No. 3. Late caught Shores rule a little higher, but very few offering. Not much doing in Nova Scotia or P. E. Island Mackerel and prices hold about the same as last quoted—Unculled lots $11 to $14; No 1 extra $25; No 1 ordinary $15 to $16; No 2 $11 to $12; No 3 large $9 to $10. Total receipts of Mackerel at Boston the past week 1,376 bbls., including 778 bbls from foreign and 598 Eng-land catch to date 80,232 bbls. against 330,033 bbls last year and 422,187 bbls in 1884.

How to Manage Men.

A young lady of wide and varied experience declares that it is perfectly easy to manage men, and proceeding to elucidate, she says that there are but two methods of treatment: "You must either let a fellow plainly see that you feel yourself infinitely above him, that you are superlatively indifferent concerning him, and don't care a rap whether or not you put your two eyes on him, snub him, slight him, and sit down on him at every opportunity, or else you must make him believe that you regard him as the sweetest, dearest, and most charming creature on earth, and that he is the wisest and you are the silliest thing in all creation. In short, you must either act as a tonic or a sugar-plum, and if one plan fails the other is bound to succeed." I remarked to this wise female that there was a remote possibility of selecting the wrong method, and trying to work off the sugar plum on the man who required the tonic, but she promptly replied that in such a case, it was easy enough to reverse one's mode of procedure, and I had nothing more to say.

Thousands for a Trotter.

Major May Overton of Nashville, Tenn., has bought of J. S. Clarke, of New Brunswick, N. J., the brown horse Wedgewood, (record 2.19) by Belmont, dam Woodbury, the dam of Woodford's Manbrino. The price was $25,000. John Splan says the horse is cheap, and was the greatest trotter he ever drove except Rarus. Wedgewood has ten colts old enough to trot and five are in the 2.30 list. Wedgewood has been bought for stock purposes, Major Overton representing a syndicate of Tennessee gentlemen who have raised $250,000 to invest in a stock farm near Nashville. This syndicate spent $35,000 for brood mares at the great Glenville sale. The same syndicate is also largely interested in the new West End racing association at Nashville.

Advance in Italy.

In all countries the mark of the day is the rapid growth in the machinery of communication. Some Italian statistics are in point. From 1873 to 1883 the railway mileage from Italy increased from 1,590 to 5,871. In the same period the Italian telegraph lines increased from 11,551 to 17,702 miles, while the number of messages more than doubled. Italy is an old country; yet from 1871 to 1882 the number of post-offices grew from 2,600 to 3,500. In the same time the numbers of letters despatched increased over 30 per cent. Other statistics might be added to show the quiet advance that Italy is making. The Italian government has appropriated funds for the support of the recently organized International Statistical Institute.

A special to the Toronto Mail from London says Lord Brassey's book on the English navy has been issued. He refers to the elasticity of the resources which make Canada of great service to the empire. Newfoundland is also a nursery of seamen and an admirable ground for recruiting the sea militia. Lord Brassey points out the necessity for a reform in the navy department, and advocates a greater stringency in insisting upon water-tight compartments in all ships of war and an improvement for the defence of the machinery in naval vessels.

Count Kalnoky has made a second very important speech on the Bulgarian question, in which he says, while Austria's friendly relations with Germany remain unimpaired, more cordial feelings exist with Russia. Generally he is hopeful of a peaceable solution of the Balkan difficulty. Seed of the wheat and barley which took prizes at the Manitoba Provincial Exhibition has been secured by Prof. Saunders through the Manitoba Board of Agriculture for cultivation at the central experimental farm station.

Sir Donald Smith is said to have expressed his belief in the practicability of the Hudson's Bay railway, and that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was not only not opposed to it, but would rejoice at its success.

The traffic receipts of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ending November 14th, were $269,000, an increase of $74,000, compared with the corresponding week last year.
