Driver Exonerated At Inquest Into Truck Fatality

"That Byron Leith MacPhee came to his death by accident in a truck driven by William MacPhee in collision with the Clyde River Bridge, due to road conditions, and that no blame be attached to the driver."

This was the verdict reached by the coroner's jury at the inquest held last night at City Hall, empanelled on February 16 following the death of Byron Leith MacPhee at 12:45 p.m. on that date.

Evidence was given by Dr. Harold Shaw, Provincial pathologist who performed the autopsy, describing the nature of the injuries which caused the death of the deceased. Cons. B. J. Hatcher, R.C.M.P., testified to having been called to the scene of the accident where he took a series of photographs which were submitted and examined by the coroner, Mr. J. C. Nicholson, representing the Crown and the jurors individually.

Cons. Watson, R.C.M.P., gave evidence as to having driven with others to the scene of the accident and stated that the pavement was clear except for a patch of snow four to five feet from the pavement. Slush did not bother driving at 30-35 miles per hour on approaching the scene. Four wooden posts on the bridge approach were sheared off at ground level and six iron posts on the bridge proper.

Driver's Testimony - William MacPhee, the driver of the truck, was cautioned by Mr. Nicholson and proceeded to give evidence regarding the trip from Charlottetown which was without incident except that he noticed the steering wheel a bit loose. He said he was driving 35-40 miles per hour at the top of the hill approaching the bridge and eased the gas off and coasted from there on.

He testified that he was driving at the time the deceased was in the centre with Elmer Ernest Oldwill on the other side. When the truck was moving with one wheel on the dry part of the pavement, came in contact with the snow, witness tried to brake but they would not hold in the snow.

Other giving evidence were Mrs. Colin MacPhail who observed the accident from a distance of two or three hundred yards as the truck went over the bridge, Mr. Louis MacPhee and Mr. Colin MacPhail both of whom were called from the home of the former by Mrs. MacPhail, who was seated in a car outside, immediately on observing the accident. They at once repaired to the scene and saw Oldwill standing on the truck and Wm. MacPhee endeavouring to release the deceased from the pressure of a rail pipe which projected through the radiator to a point just under the steering wheel.

On concluding the hearing of evidence, the jury retired under instruction from Coroner Dr. L. E. Prowse, and returned with the above verdict.

Jurors were Messrs. Hugh John MacLean (foreman), Lorne William MacNevin, Keith Burns Young, Elmer Orman Frizell, John Daniel Walker, Stanley John Newman and John Alexander Gillespie.

In Washington, United States officials looked on Chiang's action as largely a gesture which put the diplomatic record straight and helped morale. Authorities doubted that it had any connection with talk of a naval blockade, or Nationalist plans to raid the mainland.

Outgrowth of Yalta - The 1945 pact, an outgrowth of the controversial wartime Yalta Agreement, gave the Russians special rights in Dairen and Port Arthur, joint operation of the Changchun railroad and formalized the separation of Outer Mongolia from China proper.

That was part of the price Moscow exacted from Britain and the U. S. at Yalta to enter the final phase of the Pacific war.

Russian troops entered Manchuria a week before Japan surrendered.

Death Yesterday (Continued from Page 1) Father McQuaid was a man of great simplicity in his manner of living and of great piety. His life was an example to all who came in contact with him.

He was born in Charlottetown, a son of the late Andrew McQuaid and his wife, Catherine Trainor. He attended Queen Square School, St. Dunstan's University and the Grand Seminary at Quebec. He was ordained.

IN MEMORIAM - In memory of baby Finley Bernard Farrell, who passed away on February 24th, 1951.

IN MEMORIAM - The family of the late Mrs. William Keeping wish to thank their neighbours and friends for the many acts of kindness shown them during their recent bereavement; also those who sent flowers, cards and messages of sympathy.

Discussed Potato Problems At Meeting Horticultural Council

The potato situation was thoroughly discussed at the annual meeting last week at Ottawa of the Canadian Horticultural Council, reports Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture. All the provinces were well represented, but there were particularly large groups from Ontario and British Columbia.

Mr. E. D. Reid, representing the P. E. I. Potato Promotional Committee, and Mr. J. A. MacDonald of the P. E. I. Potato Marketing Board, were in attendance.

After the general meeting the conference broke up into Commodity Committees. The Potato, Turnip, and Vegetable Committee was under Mr. Shaw's chairmanship, and was the largest committee of the conference.

A survey of the conditions across Canada indicated some surplus of potatoes, but not a sufficient quantity to embarrass a marketing situation.

It was reported that some potatoes were coming in from the Maine border adjacent to New Brunswick, but not in sufficiently large quantities to really embarrass the situation. The shortage of impending imports, and a generally weak position in the United States, were having a decisive effect on the market, but there was a feeling that, when seed demand begins to take hold in the United States, possibly in March, and supplies immediately inside the Maine border were whittled down, the general situation should improve.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the incidence of surface scab in potatoes, and it was felt that a more generous attitude toward scab should be provided in the grades. It was very definitely agreed, however, that Canada No. 1 potatoes should not be lowered in this grade, but rather strengthened, and if anything were done to assist the sale of scab infested potatoes it should be through some other grade. A resolution which provided for a commercial grade of potatoes to supplement the present No. 2 grade was turned back to Provincial authorities for further consideration.

Mr. Shaw headed the committee to take care of the selection and the details governing a potato trophy for the Royal Winter Fair. This committee convened and arrangements were made for a suitable trophy, to cost in the vicinity of $1,500, and to be devoted to competition in seed potatoes - 30 potatoes to a sample.

While civil servants are not usually appointed to senior official positions on the Horticultural Council, Mr. Shaw was selected first vice-president of the Council because of his excellent contributions to Council work, particularly on the Potato Committee. He was also for the fourth successive year made chairman of the latter committee, and received some very high compliments on his work in that connection.

Commenting on some representations that had been made to Ottawa regarding the potato situation, he said "do not know what the representations are, but I rather deplore the practice of individuals, even distinct groups, making representations to Ottawa authorities without first consulting those organizations which are recognized as representing the potato industry of the Province before such representations are forwarded. This practice can only confuse and defeat the legitimate demands of the potato industry as formulated by and presented by recognized potato organizations. As far as I am aware neither the Canadian Potato Committee of the Horticultural Council, the Potato Promotional Committee of Prince Edward Island, nor the Potato Marketing Board, were consulted with reference to this matter."

Interesting Talk On Rotary

Darrel McGuire was guest speaker at the weekly Rotary luncheon at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday and delivered a mirth-provoking resume of his experience while editor of the weekly bulletin over an extended period. As hearked back from time to time with flashes from his old records, revived incidents brought more than smiles and chuckles to those in attendance, and frequently a red face.

On a more serious note he referred to the founding of Rotary on February 23, 1905 and the success which has followed the organization through the succeeding years. There are now 7,600 Rotary Clubs with a membership of 360,000. Mr. McGuire expressed his gratitude for the experience which has been his since becoming a citizen and a Rotarian, and regretted that he would be leaving the city to assume another position on the mainland about the end of March.

Fine Tribute Paid To Island Gaelic Scholar

The following eloquent tribute to the late Mr. George Sinclair, formerly of Belfast, P. E. I., by R. MacGregor Fraser, Acadia University, appeared recently in a New Glasgow exchange.

In the passing of George Sinclair another point of contact between two worlds has been broken, and a living centre of culture has been removed from the little village of Hopewell. On the last day of the old year, at the early age of 57, he was laid to rest in the cemetery at Glenbard, in the County of Antigonish, beside his distinguished father, and close to the last resting-place of the Bard MacLean.

Perhaps no place of his kind in North America better represents the culture and the spirit of the ancient Gaelic race than does this little-noticed, but intensely interesting burial-place. In a more imaginative era than ours legends connected with it would be already in the making, legends such as are gathered around the old church of St. Clement at Rodol in Harris where the poetess, Mary Macleod, lies sleeping.

As things are today Glenbard may well become a neglected spot about which will cluster some memories vaguely transmitted by the people of the district. Yet it is there that the most representative Gaelic Bard of the New World lies buried, and near him is the grave of the greatest Gaelic scholar born on Canadian soil, the grandson of the poet, and the father of the subject of this sketch.

His First Language - It is, indeed, appropriate that George Sinclair should find here his last earthly abode; for while he was very much alive to what is moving in the world of the present, his roots reached back into the past with its ancient culture and traditions. Gaelic was his first language, and, like all members of his family, he spoke it with fluency and learned to read it with ease. From his earliest years in Bel-

Cavendish World Day Of Prayer

Twenty-three women of Cavendish, representing Baptist, United Church, Presbyterian and Anglican Churches, met in the schoolroom of the United Church to join with the Christian women of the world in a service of prayer.

This beautiful service, with the theme "Walk as Children of Light" was prepared through the cooperation of the African Christian women.

Christian prayers and worship began at dawn in the P.I.I. Islands, circling the globe. The same service was taken upon islands and continents until the day closed with a service on St. Lawrence Island, Alaska.

The leader parts were taken by Mrs. Jeremiah Simpson, Mrs. Lowell Wyand, Mrs. Alfred Moore, and Mrs. George Gough. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Cecil Simpson, Mrs. Cedric Simpson, Mrs. Olaf Stevenson, Mrs. Sterling Stewart, Mrs. Alfred Moore, Mrs. Ira MacCoubrey and Mrs. Ernest MacCoubrey. Appropriate hymns were sung with Mrs. Reginald Simpson at the organ.

Brief remarks were given by Mrs. Jeremiah Simpson and Mrs. Geo. Gough, and those attending were favored with a trio by Mrs. John MacNeill, Mrs. Ralph Burdett and Mrs. Reginald Simpson, who sang "When I Kneel Down To Pray."

An offering amounting to $8.00 was taken by Mrs. Olaf Stevenson and dedicated. A hymn, "The Day Thou Gavest Lord, Is Ended", and Benediction, closed the meeting.
