

Canada's Role In U.N., Mine Disaster, Highlights

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Russian military might intervened in Hungary to turn the nationalist uprising into a blood bath, but at week's end pockets of Hungarian resistance still defied Soviet tanks and field guns.

In the Middle East, too, Russia posed a threat of intervention. This took the form of recruiting "volunteers" to serve with the Egyptian armed forces.

Britain and France secured the Suez Canal zone in a quick airborne invasion, then declared a cease-fire and agreed to withdraw their forces once the United Nations police force moves into position. Israel also agreed to pull out of Egypt, once the UN takes over.

CANADA'S ROLE
It was on Canada's initiative that the UN adopted the police force plan. A Canadian—General Burns—was chosen to head it. And Canada was first with detailed plans to get its part of the police force started for the Middle East. The Canadian contingent was expected to leave Halifax on or before Nov. 21. Some aboard the Carrier "Magnificent."

Ottawa announced Canada's major contribution to the UN force will be the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, of Calgary. Altogether Canada will provide 1,200 men to the UN group, which will total 5,000 or more.

U.S. ELECTION
American voters gave President Eisenhower a resounding vote of confidence. They sent him back to the White House for another four years with about 35,000,000 votes, against 25,000,000 for Adlai Stevenson. The president carried 41 of the 48 states.

The voters' preference for Eisenhower was not shared by the Republican party generally, however. The Democrats retained their small margin in the Senate and increased their House majority. So, for the first time in a century, a president was elected without carrying his party to control of Congress.

DULLES ILL
At the height of the Middle East crisis, and on the eve of the general election in his own country, the U.S. secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, fell ill with sharp abdominal pains. What was at first thought to be appendicitis turned out to be a cancerous intestine. The diseased section was removed and doctors said the 68-year-old statesman will be back at work in about six weeks.

MINE DISASTER
Sunday is to be an official day of mourning in Nova Scotia for 39 miners who died in the Springhill explosion. The blast trapped 113 men in the shafts. Eighty-eight were rescued, the last group being brought to the pithead Monday 3 1/2 days after the explosion.

DIPLOMATIC SNUB
On the 39th anniversary of the Russian revolution, Soviet emissaries around the world staged elaborate parties. In Ottawa, representatives of the Canadian government stayed away, not wishing to exchange toasts with Russian troops were massing women and children in Hungary.

The Soviets encountered a similar diplomatic boycott in London.

HUNGARIAN AID
While there was nothing much the West could do to help the Hungarian patriots in a military sense, both Canada and the U.S. acted to give preferred treatment to Hungarian refugees wishing to settle on this side of the Atlantic.

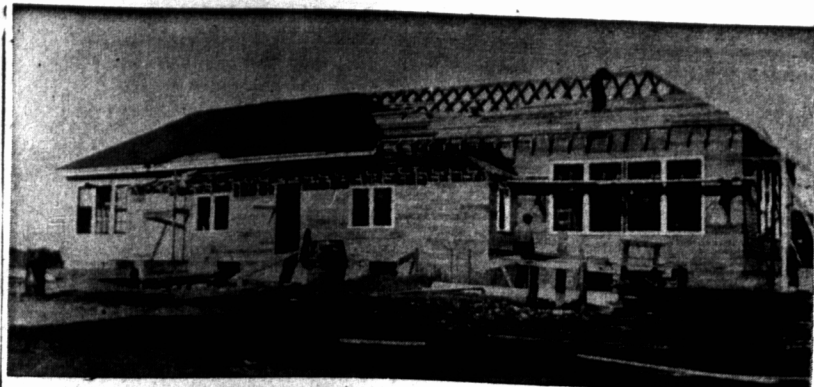

More than 11,000 Hungarian refugees now are in Austria. Canada announced they will be eligible for assisted passage as immigrants. In Washington, President Eisenhower ordered "extraordinary measures" to take care of 5,000 of them as U.S. immigrants.

ST. LAURENT LETTER
At the height of the Middle East crisis, Prime Minister St. Laurent Eden, a London report later described it as "the most blistering between two Commonwealth prime ministers."

A program of interest, drawn up this year by some of the alumni members of the college, received enthusiastic response on Wednesday evening when an "alumni night" was held. Proceedings got underway with a number of lively sets of square dancing. Dr. Joe MacMillan lent his keen talents in calling. Next on the program was an hour of variety entertainment. Kay and Elmer Gallant gave an hilarious minstrel performance. Two songs, "Gaudemus Igitur" and "Love's Old Sweet Song," were rendered by members of the Glee Club. A singing group, called the "Tomkats" purred a few tunes. Father Arsenault's French Chorale gave a fine performance of medieval French folk songs.

The downtowners then took over the show as they played for a large number of dancers.

So until next week, from S.D.U. to all of us who have the gift of freedom that outside the clime of democracy "Learning would be a buffet-style repast was being

St. David's Church Hears K. A. Parker

A very interesting meeting was held in Georgetown by the Men's Association of St. David's United Church in the very useful and commodious hall for which the indebtedness will soon be liquidated. There was a good attendance present.

The president, Cecil LeLachur presided. Twenty men sat down to a supper, served by the Social Committee of the Women's Association. The usual sing song was enjoyed with the organist, Mr. Harry Yorston ably presiding.

Some items of business were attended to after which Rev. W. A. Paterson called on M. Kenneth A. Parker, Charlottetown, to address the meeting. His subject was "The Brotherhood of Child and the Brotherhood of man." Drawing from his experience in Japan where he resided for eleven years, he said that no child was born a savage, but through false teaching and indoctrination of the military spirit. The child can become a savior.

Christianity was the only religion teaching the Brotherhood of Man, and Mr. Parker firmly believed and he was able to convince the hearers that Jesus Christ is the World's Saviour and His Truth of God's Fatherhood is the Religion which alone will meet The World's need.

It was an excellent address, and was greatly appreciated. Mr. Paterson and Mr. Yorston and the President spoke words of thanks to the speaker. The ladies were thanked by Mr. Chester Walker. The meeting was closed with the benediction by the Pastor.

Pumpmen Re-enter No. 2 Colliery

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—The mines department Thursday allowed pumpmen to re-enter No. 2 Cumberland colliery here to investigate fire and gas conditions. Pumps were expected to be back in operation late Thursday night.

Mining operations may resume Monday if conditions are found satisfactory. Dosco coal chief Harold Gordon ordered No. 2 closed after last week's explosion-disaster which claimed the lives of 39 men and was sealed up with the bodies of 26 men still inside.

Mr. Gordon said No. 4 colliery will likely be closed for two months until dangers of fire and gas fumes are eliminated.

THE WEEK AT S.D.U.

The patter and the chatter have returned to the chain of college corridors, and the deleted all resounded by the exams has subsided, although the students have just received the results of these, the first set of exams. Despite the usual quibbling over marks, on the whole, indications of good disposition were noticed. The usual period of whiggish-gathering that follows the exams has come upon us and the anticipation of the spirit-reviving days that the athletic season brings seems ready to inject the needed tonic as the red and white colors once again make their presence felt on the ice and on the basketball court.

The campus has had a flurry of eventful activities this week. On Sunday, Catholic Youth Day was observed, and St. Dunstan's was host to a large number of Catholic students and young people from Charlottetown and vicinity in a new program of whiggish-gathering called the Catholic Youth Festival, YOUTH FESTIVAL.

This program was organized by Father Simpson, who is affiliated with the Movement for Catholic Action, and was inaugurated this year with the intention of bringing together Catholic young people and giving them a glimpse into the great program that the Catholic Church is carrying out in her attempt to bring the warmth and depth of the Catholic faith to other people.

The purpose of the organization, fundamentally, is to promote Catholic action among youth and bring them into active participation in the missionary work of the Church. The program was handled for the most part by the distinguished guest-lecturer, Miss Elizabeth Reid, noted Far East correspondent and Catholic newspaper editor. Her efforts in the vital role of missionary worker were commended by His Excellency Bishop MacEachern, who also stressed the importance of each person working together in saving souls. In the afternoon session Miss Reid brought out as her theme to the youth assembly that the challenge which the Church is meeting in Her missionary efforts in the Far East Countries demands a positive response on the part of each individual member through active participation and the offering of prayers.

A Youth Rally was included in the afternoon procedures as a group composed of members of the Basilica and Liguorian Youth Clubs in the city presented a playette called "A World at Stake". To conclude the Youth Festival, in the evening, Miss Reid in a public lecture, gave an outline of general conditions as they exist in Asia today. In her lecture she seemed to abound in ideas and vivid pictures of the experiences she encountered while living with many of these peoples. Indeed, she left her with the impression that there were many things she would like to say if she had time.

This zealous person has dedicated her efforts towards a noble Christian service, for it is through the work of such people that future special Charms indulgences detract view and Mr. Belleview. While in Ankerst, they attended the Winter Fair, and en route home visited the site of the Springhill Mine Disaster.

The Saints take up where they left off last year in the hockey wars as they renew their battle with Parkdale Flyers this coming Tuesday at the Sports Arena. This game will officially open the City League schedule of the five team circuit which includes Summerside, Montague, Basilica Youth Club and Parkdale. The Saints have pretty much the same team as last year, and from all indications they are as strong if not stronger than last year's outfit. They will, however, have two new defencemen to fill the positions left by the loss of Lewis MacDonald and Arnold Mullin. They will also show a few new faces in a revamped first forward line to complete their offense.

While the couples enjoyed themselves on the gymnasium floor to the strains of the sweet music, a buffet-style repast was being down under the hoofs of the multitude."
