Air Force PRO At Summerside Is Transferred

Flying Officer Bert Wilson, who has, for the past two years, been engaged in public relations work at R.C.A.F. station Summerside, has been posted to the Greenwood air station in Nova Scotia, and leaves Summerside today to assume his new duties.

The new public relations officer at Summerside is Flight Lieutenant M. A. "Ez" Everard, who has been attached to the Summerside, air station since June of last year.

The departing public relations officer, F/O Wilson, whose home is Halifax, has been stationed at Summerside since the spring of 1949, and for much of that time has been doing jointly the work of P.R.O. duties as well as that of a staff radio officer.

During the last war he served in France and Germany; and came to Summerside from Centralia, Ontario, three years ago.

F/O Wilson is a talented musician specializing on the trumpet, and he also has an excellent voice.

"Bert" as he is widely known, will be greatly missed on the station and in Summerside where he made many lasting friendships.

F/L Everard is from Timmins, Ontario, and prior to coming to Summerside last year was resident staff officer at the University of Toronto where he also served as photographic officer, and public relations officer within the university reserve training plan.

He is a graduate of Queens University and the Ontario College of Education.

Prior to serving in the R. C. A. F., he served for nine years with the reserve army.

His hobbies are fishing and cooking, with Chinese, French, and Italian dishes predominating in the menu. By virtue of serving with the Royal Air Force Transport Command in many foreign lands he has been able to add many exotic recipes to his collection, and he is now trying to pick up a lot of Island fish recipes and other local specialties in cooking.

F/L Everard says he is most highly impressed by the hospitality of Prince Edward Island residents he has met, and whom he says, make one feel just like home.

The new P.R.O. together with his wife and daughter, Beverly Ann, live at Slemmon Park, at R.C.A.F. station Summerside.

F/L Everard is a brother of Wing Commander Everard, a Sabre jet test pilot for Canada, Montreal, who, it may be recalled, was in command of No. 401 Reserve Squadron which conducted the Vampire jet aircraft display on Air Force Day last year at Summerside.-S.

ario-Command spokesman John Steer of Cornwall disagreed with him and backed the original motion.

McGulgan later withdrew his amendment.

One French-speaking delegate named J. Bourassa from Shawinigan Falls, Que., urged continuation of the volunteer system of recruiting but another French-speaking veteran, Napoleon Champagne from Saskatchewan, endorsed conscription as long as it wasn't called conscription.

displayed less regard for the rights and welfare of prisoners of war."

Joy asked about the 50,000 Allied soldiers, mostly South Koreans, whom the Reds once claimed they captured but whose names were not on prisoner lists exchanged last Dec. 18.

The Admiral said the Communists "unilaterally disposed of four-fifths of their captives and to get equality in negotiations the Allies should incorporate in their army four-fifths of the prisoners in their camps.

Joy emphasized, however, that "our side does not ask for such equity at the expense of the welfare of the prisoners."

Nam II replied the Allies planned to impress four-fifths of their captives into their armies in Korea.

months the men selective service drafted and that the public has been lulled into thinking they are much more efficient than they really are.

The core of the selective service resolution was this passage: "That all measures for national defence be speeded up and that the government bring into effect without delay some form of selective service for the armed forces for service anywhere in the world they may be required for the defence of Canada and her sister democracies along somewhat similar lines to those in effect in the U.S.A. and that selective service for the reserve forces be instituted forthwith."

This appeared to urge compulsory training in both the regular and reserve forces. An official interpretation from the head table for the press said it means steps now to institute compulsory training for the reserves and compulsory training for service anywhere in event of war.

The hottest words of the day were uttered about immigration.

Alex. Solomon of Montreal, Quebec Command's first vice-president, charged that "swashbuckling bullies" inclined towards Nazism and Communism were among the 32,000 Germans who entered Canada last year. He won approval for his request that the Immigration Department tighten up its screening of them.

One other delegate charged that Germans "we fought" are taking Canadians' jobs in Northern Ontario and an Ontario veteran agreed with Mr. Solomon that Canada has already brought in a potential fifth column.

The convention called, too, for a law to provide that any immigrant must apply for Canadian citizenship within six months of arrival or be deported and for strict enforcement of employment conditions under which displaced persons are brought in.

The main opponent of conscription now was a young man named Nick McGulgan of Blenheim, Ont., who moved that selective service be shelved until voluntary recruiting falters or war comes. He said the Defence Department couldn't handle the men drafted anyway and the months since the 1960 convention have seen Canada build up a record pool of trained men. On-

O'Leary Co-op Plans To Build New Store

On Tuesday night, May 20, there was a very large number of the members of the O'Leary Farmers Co-Operative who met in the O'Leary community hall. Arnold Wood, president, presided. Ivan Webb was secretary.

After considerable discussion it was decided to erect a new and modern store $2x80. It will be two stories, of wood construction. Groceries and hardware will be featured. It is planned to have a lunch counter and rest rooms. The hatchery will be stored in the old store. The office is to be moved to the new building.

The new store will be on the main street in the very centre of the partially incorporated village of O'Leary. Three buildings on the land owned by the Co-Op will be moved to make room for the new store. One is a building owned by E. W. Turner of O'Leary; the second is a building known as the Dennis building and the third is Noonan's Restaurant.

This new store will be among the most modern in the Province. It has become necessary as the O'Leary Co-Operative last year did a record business of $639,717.00, the largest total of any Co-Op in the Province. The manager is Bernard M. Shea, formerly of Alberton now living in O'Leary.

A committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Errol Stetson, will supervise all details in connection with the new store. Last year the sum of $35,251.00 was paid in salaries to residents of O'Leary. An important factor in the economic life of the village, and the Farmer's Co-Operative are showing their faith in the future growth and continued prosperity of O'Leary by planning the erection of this modern store which is to be started as soon as possible.

Consider B.C.G. Vaccination In Town of Borden

Under the chairmanship of Mayor Leard, representatives from various organizations in Borden met in the Borden Town Hall on Tuesday evening to discuss a programme of B.C.G. vaccination which had been offered to the town by the Department of Health and Welfare.

Attending the meeting were Dr. P. A. Creelman of Charlottetown; Miss Mona Wilson, director of public health nursing; and Miss Alice Trainor, public health nurse, whose district includes the Borden area.

Mayor Leard, after explaining the purpose of the meeting called upon Dr. Creelman who spoke about the one of the methods to help in the control of tuberculosis and that in places where large numbers of people were vaccinated the development of tuberculosis had been reduced. "Although the death rate in this province has dropped from 117 in 1930 to 20 in 1951," he said, "the problem of the control still remains difficult." Dr. Creelman mentioned that vaccination had been done in approximately two hundred homes in the province and that it is now routine to vaccinate the nursing personnel in the general hospitals. He said that if the people of Borden accepted this opportunity offered to them, they would have the honor of being the first in the province to have in-
