

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

MARCH 4, 1891.

"OUR MOTTO, HOWEVER, IS 'WORK.' WE WANT TO MAKE THE SUCCESS OF OUR PARTY SO PRONOUNCED THAT NEVER AGAIN IN THIS GENERATION WILL PUBLIC MEN ATTEMPT TO WIN PLACE AND POWER BY APPEALING FOR HELP TO THE PEOPLE TO THE SOUTH OF US."—Sir Charles Tepper.

TO THE POLLS!

Thousands upon thousands of Canadian freemen will go to the polls to-morrow to decide by whom and how this country shall be governed in the next five years.

The two contending parties have presented their policies. It remains now for the electors to make their choice.

The record of both is before the country. Sir John Macdonald, a statesman of pre-eminent ability and great experience, stands at the head of the Liberal-Conservative Party. By his side are a group of able and loyal lieutenants.

To this leader, the great chieftain, and his party, belongs the honor of having consolidated a number of detached Provinces and uninhabited Territories into what is now the great Dominion of Canada.

To them also belongs the honor of constructing the Canadian Pacific Railway, stretching from ocean to ocean.

The Liberal-Conservative Party believe in Canada; they love her, and are proud of her progress and development. They have unflinching faith in her future greatness. They state boldly and definitely the policy they intend to pursue if accorded a further lease of power; and on their record and policy they, with confidence, appeal to the electors of Canada for support at the polls on the 5th of March.

On the other hand, the so-called Liberal Party, whose leader is now Mr. Laurier, of Quebec, have not in their ranks one single experienced statesman, save and except Sir Richard Cartwright, the "mixer and muddler"—the companion and familiar friend of the traitor Farrer—and but few men capable of efficiently managing any department of government.

Their best and most efficient leaders have, one by one, left their ranks.

Their record during the time they were in power was one continued series of disasters, blunders, and maladministration.

The mass of their party is undoubtedly loyal to the country. Yet it is a notorious fact that, all over the Dominion, every anarchist, every annexationist, every traitor to the British flag, is to-day to be found in the ranks of the Grit party, whose only policy is—not avowedly, not perhaps designedly—but is, nevertheless, the surrender of Canada and all that is dear to her to the American Republic.

The Grit party have no faith in their own country, no patriotic pride in its future greatness, and no desire for its existence in connection with Great Britain.

Between those two parties, then, fellow electors, you are called upon to decide. You have the records of both to guide you. Upon your decision—by your ballots to-morrow—will depend the future of your country.

Be true to yourselves, and to your children after you, and roll up a large, noble, loyal majority for the great Leader, Sir John Macdonald, and his Party, and thereby maintain intact your free institution under the British flag.

Are you in doubt concerning the results of "Unrestricted Reciprocity"? Don't vote for it.

Rubbish!

The Patriot of last evening is full of short articles based for the most part upon nothing. One of these insinuates that THE EXAMINER was party to a fraud in respect to the revenue, by permitting the sheets of a campaign "Presbyterian Extra" to be folded up in it and transmitted through the mails free of postage. There is not a word of truth in the charge—not the shadow of a shade of foundation for it.

RALLY at Market Hall this evening.

Question of the Hour—Shall we Repeat the Folly of 1887?

The Tunnel.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT and the Globe have said exactly what they might have been expected to say. Their words are re-produced, in black letter, in our telegraphic columns to-day. We guarantee the truthfulness of the report as published. It is to be regretted that Sir Richard and his Farrerite organ had not spoken sooner. Is there, we ask, in Prince Edward Island a man so blind to the interests of his Province and himself as to vote for candidates who will, if elected, follow the lead of Sir Richard Cartwright and be guided by the advice of the Globe—edited by Farrer?

What the Tunnel Means!

Latest advices from St. John markets show that potatoes are selling in that city for from 70 to 90c. per bushel—turnips at 40 cents. Compare with these prices those obtained in Charlottetown, and what do we find? Potatoes 22 to 25 cents, turnips 12 to 14, thus showing that could we send our potatoes to St. John, we should be from 45 to 68 cents per bushel better off, and upon turnips make 28 cents more, than we do in our own overstocked home market! Here our potatoes and turnips are rotting in our cellars and barns; there a market in St. John; between us and that city, one day's journey,—and we closed out from it by a barrier of ice. Give us the tunnel and our produce is whirled on cheaply to a market elsewhere, a rich return of money betters the condition of the Island farmer, and prosperity reigns throughout all the country!

Which party is likely to give us the tunnel? Which party has in the past endeavored to give us the tunnel? The parliamentary reports do not lie, cannot lie. Read them, electors, and therein find the advocacy of the conservatives, the silence of the liberals. Read the records of conservative labor by delegations and interviews with the powers that be at Ottawa. But what do you find?—a corresponding silence upon the part of the liberal party, or, what is even worse, ridicule heaped upon the honest, patriotic endeavors of our party to bring the tunnel scheme to that prominent position which it occupies in politics to-day! The liberals here have had to make it a plank in their platform. But to judge their promises by the rule of their past history, we have little to hope for as a result of their coming into power, were such a contingency—which God forbid—likely to happen. To the polls then, to-morrow, with a determination to do all in your power to secure a majority for that party which has in the past done all that has been done to secure for the Island the inestimable blessing of uninterrupted communication with the mainland and a liberal market for all our products now rotting in our cellars. We have received a promise, and we will hold the party to it. "If the tunnel costs only six millions of dollars, you shall have it if my support can give it to you." And we have no reason to doubt the sincerity of the promise. We have, on the other hand, the estimate of those who know, and they place the cost of the tunnel within this figure. Support the party which makes the Province, and we are likely to have the roadway; oppose it, and vote for the Liberals, and history will repeat itself—inactivity, opposition, ridicule of the scheme. Judge for yourselves, voters of to-morrow,—and, judging, vote!

A Vain Appeal.

The Patriot appeals wildly to "the farmer," "the merchant," "the mechanic" and "the laborer." Its frantic efforts at the last moment will be in vain. Our farmers, merchants, mechanics and laborers know that their interests will be injured by Unrestricted Reciprocity, and that they have the tunnel and everything else to gain by supporting the Government candidates.

Before the Grit Disaster of 1878.

The Globe in 1878 was cocksure of a brilliant victory at the polls, and kept dunning this into the ears of all who would listen. Said the Globe of September 16, 1878: "There can be no doubt whatever. The records of the two leaders and the two administrations are before the country, and we have every confidence in the verdict which that country will pass upon." Not content with this noisy boasting, the Globe followed it up in its issue of September 17, the very day of the election, with more: "We have before predicted the triumphant success of Mr. McKenzie at the polls, and have since had no reason to change our view. The Dominion will decide by a large majority against the return to power of Sir John A. Macdonald." Yes, the work was done, but not exactly in the line of Grit boasting, for the Grits were utterly overthrown, and only a corporal's guard of them were left to apologize in Parliament for past errors.

BEFORE THE ROUTE OF 1882.

Not taught a lesson by former bitter experience, the Globe returned to its old tricks in 1882, and began, weeks before the contest, to rend the air with shouts of approaching success. The Globe of May 18, 1882, declared: "WELL INFORMED AS TO THE POSITION OF POLITICAL AFFAIRS THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION, WE TELL OUR FRIENDS THAT THERE IS NO CAUSE FOR FEAR OR ANXIETY."

Then as the day approached, the Globe began to dance more wildly than ever, and on June 14, 1882, asserted: "We never knew the preliminary outlook more favorable, no not in 1873!"

But its ecstasy reached fever heat on June 17, just three days before the election, when it said: "That there is a reaction now against the Government is patent to everybody. Thousands against us in 1878 are now for us. The N. P. is a detected fraud. Thousands of high minded Conservatives are disgusted with the crimes of the Government, and will either work with us or abstain from voting altogether."

All these braggart assertions simply presaged one of the worst defeats ever inflicted on the party, and the Government of Sir John Macdonald was entrenched more strongly in power than ever.

BEFORE THE DISASTER OF 1887.

The declarations of the Globe, the Patriot and other organs deceived a large proportion of the electorate of this Province into a belief that Sir John Macdonald was sure to be defeated, and caused the election of six supporters of the opposition.

BEFORE THE DEFEAT OF 1891.

The grits are at their old tricks. The Patriot of last evening says:

"From all quarters the indications are that the Liberals will sweep the country."

"Davies and Welsh will have a splendid majority."

"Messrs. McIntyre and Robertson will sit in the next parliament, and their majority will be the largest ever rolled up in King's."

"In Prince, Hunt is practically out of the race. Desperate efforts are being made to drag Howlan in, but he cannot beat Perry. The Liberal majority in Prince last time was over four hundred, and it will be larger this time."

OUR DUTY.

Do not heed these boasts. He laughs who wins. Work hard in order that the great Liberal-Conservative party may win again!

"Footprints of Burns."

MR. BARTLETT'S lecture was written in an easy and graceful style, and was well delivered. It was a delight from beginning to end. Pleasing glimpses of picturesque Scotch scenery, and interesting episodes in Scottish story, were brought out in association with the vivid portrayal of the sad figure of the inspired, poverty-stricken author of "Man was made to mourn." Mr. Bartlett selected, with the discrimination of a true lover of true poetry, several of the brightest gems in the Poet's crown, and recited them to the edification of the audience. We heartily congratulate Mr. Bartlett upon his second lecture and sincerely trust that trust that we may ere long enjoy a third. The Rev. Mr. Carruthers and the Y. M. L. A. of St. James' Church deserve credit for bringing into notice so much of the latent talent of our town.

HOCKEY.—The match, Conservatives vs. Liberals, played at Summerside last night, resulted in a draw—both sides scoring a goal. The game was closely contested throughout. There were about three hundred persons present. The vote cast for each side, as shown by the sale of tickets, was as follows: Sir John, 175; Laurier, 97.

The Patriot Desperate.

SIR,—The Patriot, in its desperation, makes a sneaking attack on the Honorable George Clow. Mr. Clow was obliged to tell the meeting at High Bank that Mr. John McLean was a Protestant because Grit liars had circulated a report that he was a Catholic. No man disliked more than Mr. Clow did to have to mention religion in a political meeting, but he was obliged to do so to correct the false and malicious reports of Dr. Robertson's over anxious friends. Mr. Clow need not mind the Patriot. He is too well known by all classes and creeds, and too highly esteemed to be injured by all the Grit liars in the Patriot office.

Yours, ELECTOR. Murray Harbor, 3rd March, 1891.

The Springhill Relief Fund.

SIR,—I have received from the Charlottetown Committee of the Springhill Relief Fund a request that I would endeavor to obtain subscriptions on behalf of the fund from the congregation of St. Paul's Church. I shall be greatly obliged if you will kindly state that any sums placed in the plate on Sunday next marked "Springhill Relief Fund" will be devoted to this object, and that in the meantime I shall be pleased to receive any donations that may be sent to me at St. Paul's Rectory. Yours truly, W. HAMLIN.

Friends in Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 27, 1891.

SIR,—A meeting of the provincialists in the interests of the liberal party was held here on the 24th ult. Resolutions endorsing the liberal platform of unrestricted reciprocity had been previously concocted and their arrangements, as they supposed, had been satisfactorily made for their being carried through unanimously at the meeting. They were doomed to be sadly disappointed, however, for when the committee of five who at the meeting were elected to endorse these resolutions and bring them before the meeting had reported there was one among them, a Mr. A. L. Bridges, a former resident of P. E. Island, who took exception to them. He put before the meeting a minority report to the effect that reciprocity should be confined to raw materials or the natural products of both countries. The projectors of this meeting who were one and all Grits of the deepest dye arrogated to themselves the right to voice the sentiments of 47,000 provincialists here in Boston; yet they gave Mr. Bridges and those who supported him to understand in strong language that if they were not in sympathy with the object of the meeting, they had no business to be present, much less to interfere. Mr. Bridges, Mr. Arthur R. Slipp, of Fredericton, N. B., and others in strong and convincing language strongly supported the amendment, and made it so uncomfortable for them, that a motion to adjourn till Saturday next, the 28th inst., was put and carried by a good majority. The meeting broke up and three rousing good cheers, for Sir John A. Macdonald and the Conservative party. They then realized that they had been badly worsted and like true liberals that they were, resorted to a mean subterfuge by arranging among themselves on the 24th, to call a meeting for Thursday and by that means force the resolutions through. The meeting as arranged was held last night, and some twenty odd of the faithful were present. But when the resolutions were read, Mr. Bridges being present insisted upon the minority report being acted upon, and he together with Mr. Slipp and others stoutly protested against the legality of the meeting, stating the fact that the former meeting had been adjourned till Saturday. As the meeting was again warming up to the subject, they fearing for their pet resolutions, yet realizing they could not in the face of the strong opposition assume the right to represent the 47,000 provincialists, amended it to read a majority. They then moved the previous question thereby shutting off further debate. They then put the resolutions, standing 15 yeas to 6 nays. Several present being convinced of the error of the ways but not converted refrained from voting.
