

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

NOVEMBER 30, 1894.

TAXATION OF THE PEOPLE.

Most of our people have done their full marketing and paid their taxes. They will now have leisure to reflect upon the creditability of the politicians by whom they were assessed about a year ago that taxation was in the dim and distant future.

From every part of the country we hear of unfairness in the application of the tax. No standard of valuation was set up by the Government. Men in one part of the Province adopted a scale wholly different from that adopted by men in another.

That the "bonnet mistakes" should have been made is not wonderful. At Mount Stewart and elsewhere it was announced that buildings and improvements would not be taxed, and the Premier tickled the ears of the people with the feather of "unearned increment." But the Government were careful, nevertheless, to insert in the tax act a clause providing that the value of buildings and improvements should be included in the valuation, though they were not particular to advertise the fact and though they provided that the tax should be somewhat per acre. Is it, then, any wonder that many of our farmers valued only their acreage? And is it not outrageous that here and there a farmer was, without notice, picked out, reported for undervaluation, compelled to submit to the appraisal of city supporters of the Government, and forced in addition to the full amount of his taxes—to pay the appraisers at the rate of ten dollars a day? Surely, under all the circumstances, men whose declarations were disbelieved, ought to have been notified and informed that their buildings must be included, and given a chance to reconsider their valuation, before the proceedings were taken against them!

The levy of taxation, the exaction of amounts due the Land Office, and all the extraordinary methods that have been adopted to raise the money to pay the banks for the extravagant expenditures of last year, will, we fear, make this a hard year for Prince Edward Island. The farmers' crops of potatoes and corn have been light and the prices low. But for the money brought in as a result of the establishment of cheese and butter factories by the exertions of the Dominion Government we should have had times in earnest.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The phrase "dangerously crowded," in THE EXAMINER'S notice of St. Peter's concert, has been interpreted by some persons to mean that the Philharmonic Hall is unsafe. After meaning was intended. We are informed by Dr. Johnson that the building is as substantial as any in town.

The comment of the London Times upon the loan recently negotiated by Hon. Mr. Foster, has been regrettably referred to by the press of Canada. Some of the papers maintain that it compliments the Government of Sir John Thompson, and some that it does not. Let the people judge by the following quotations:

"The Conservative party in Canada has, on the whole, been able to justify its financial administration by an appeal to the charges on the public debt, which have not grown in proportion to the population, and by the fact that the policy of low interest, which has been almost wholly in the hands of the Dominion Government, has had the effect of reducing the cost of the expectation of tariff revision which was forced upon the Government by the Opposition. The investing interests of the country are fortunately able to find in the other side of the coin a very real and substantial benefit. The Government of Sir John Thompson will be able to meet its critics with increased assurance, as a consequence of the success of the London loan, the coincidence which has really been expressed is not so much in one party or one policy in the Dominion, as in the essential soundness of Canadian finance, and the prosperous future which lies before the colony."

At St. DENY'S.—The entertainment in honor of Scotia's patron saint, given by the students of St. Dunstan's College last evening, was a decided success. The large hall of the college was well filled with thoroughly appreciative audience, and the splendid programme prepared for the occasion was rendered in an eminently satisfactory manner. The programme included vocal solos by P. O'Connell and J. Ready, two quartets, and two choruses by the glee club, declamations by J. A. Macdonald and James Blake, a flute solo by V. Davern, a violin solo by W. Cote, and a lute solo by A. A. Macdonald, a piano duet by J. P. Gallant and A. A. Macdonald, several selections by the orchestra and band, and a farce by the Dramatic Club. The National Anthem brought the entertainment to a close.

Simply a Game of the Draw.—The rich man draws a check, the poor guy draws a cent; but the special case of 1,250 pairs of corsets at James Paton & Co.'s on Saturday is going to draw the crowd.

GOOD WORDS FOR CANADA.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says: "The natural resources of Canada are very great. Few people have made a special investigation appreciate their immense value. The white pine forests of Canada are alone worth more than her public debts. Her fisheries are the best and most extensive in the world. She has 100,000,000 acres of wild lands upon which the best wheat can be successfully grown in the fertile belt in the North West; coal of good quality in abundance very near the water upon the Atlantic and Pacific; unlimited supplies of high grade iron ore in all the provinces; the best and most extensive nickel mines of the world; extensive and valuable mines of copper; and immense deposits of agricultural phosphate in Ontario and Quebec; inexhaustible beds of marble, granite, sandstone and limestone in various colors for building purposes; mines of gold, silver, asbestos, mica, and many other minerals; three thousand cheese factories, from which she exports more than 100,000,000 pounds of cheese annually. Her public schools, colleges, and universities are of the highest quality; public buildings are worthy of an intelligent, highly civilized Christian people who govern themselves.

There is not a community in the world of 10,000,000 more free from objectionable elements than that of Canada. Canadians are well versed in the art of self government. They clearly understand that true liberty is not license; therefore they have profound respect for law and constitutional means and methods. They demand honest money. They have most wisely adopted gold as a single standard of exchange or medium of value. They do not any demand in Canada for rag money or a debased silver currency. Although an ultra-loyal people, they believe in protection to Canadian industries, in preference to those of Mother England. They are as many miles of railway per capita as we have and they have common sense enough not to embarrass their railway system with adverse legislation. The history of their banking system is most creditable to their skill in finance. Their largest bank has $12,000,000 of capital, $6,000,000 of reserve, and $33,000,000 of deposits, and $6,000,000 of circulation, or total resources of $55,000,000.

CHINA'S SUCCESS.

Proposals for Peace to be Submitted at Once to the Japanese.

According to late advices from the east of war, through Washington, China has succumbed to the inevitable, and has sued for peace, and the proposal will be presented to Japan through the United States minister at Peking and Tokio, thus promising a termination of the war, as the result in part of the exercise of the good offices of the United States. It is not possible at this time to learn the terms of China's proposition as handed to Minister Denby, but it is probable that it provides for but two concessions, namely, a money indemnity and a temporary suspension of hostilities over Corea. It is probable that the first tender will be acceptable to Japan, as such overtures rarely are; but this proposition will open a way to a counter offer by Japan through the United States minister in China, and the negotiations, if successful, and if they follow the usual course, will lead first to a truce under proper guarantee or a preliminary agreement to cease hostilities and finally to the signature of a definite treaty of peace.

Just how this proposition was brought about is not yet known. It is probable, however, that as the matter is in the hands of the American Ministers in China and Japan, the visit of the Commissioner of Maritime Customs at Tien Tsin to Japan cannot be directly connected with the peace negotiations.

The Red Cross Society has sent six doctors to Port Arthur in order to assist the wounded. They left Tien Tsin on board the steamer Tonan, which has been lent for the purpose by the Victoria. The British consular attaches are accompanying the doctors.

The London Times publishes the following from its correspondent at Chefoo: On Sunday the Japanese admiral, with 100 gunboats, landed at Port Arthur. The report of atrocities committed by both sides has been confirmed by the finding of the bodies of a number of Japanese prisoners beheaded and mutilated. Several Chinese soldiers and a few shopkeepers, who were seeking to escape by boats, were followed by torpedo boats and shot. The Taotai King escaped to Tien Tsin.

The Japanese found at Port Arthur a chart which enabled them to locate exactly and control all mines in the harbor. On Nov. 20, Japanese to the storming of the fort, the Japanese placed a land mine along the coast, and the chosen positions and rained shot and shell upon the Chinese intrenchment. This bombardment made possible the rapid success of assault. It was in the engagement near Mo Tien Ling on the 25th that the Kurin troops tried to break the Japanese front flank but were repulsed. The Japanese loss was 480 killed and wounded.

NEWS NOTES.

The Christians of China, if settled in a country by themselves, would form a community larger than that of any independent Central or South American state. The Catholics of the Empire are nearly as numerous as those of the Empire. These are superintended by twenty-five Bishops and a proportionately numerous priesthood, many of the clergy being of native origin. There are also colleges for the training of ecclesiastics, as well as schools for giving a liberal education to such of the natives as desire it. The Protestant number about 50,000, and have also several good schools.

Other makes of dress goods may have nearly equalled that of the texture, the finish, the possibility of lovely contours in the completed costume, Priestley's noted dress fabrics surpass every other manufacture. CANADA.

The grand old woods of Canada! How cool and dim below The shade of their sweet rustling leaves! Swift-changin' winds the sunlight weaves Where ferns and mosses grow.

The giant trees of Canada! Dark pine and birch drooped low; The sturdy beech, the maple tall, The sturdy beech, I love them all And well they form! I know.

The forest wealth of Canada! The choicest woods renowned Through the crisp air, white cold and still The snow's deep cloak o'er vale and hill Lies white upon the ground.

The sparkling streams of Canada! That "fresh cold shadows pass, That wind, where sleek fed cattle deep, Through verdant meadows, ankle deep, In clover blooms and grass.

The crystal streams of Canada! Deep in woods murmuring tide, From pebbly caverns, dimly seen, 'Neath leaty shades of living green, 'Neath trout and salmon glide.

The beautiful lakes of Canada! With loving eyes we see And watch them stretch in endless chain By fair St. Lawrence to the main, As ocean wide and free.

Where white sails gleam o'er Huron's wake, Or fade with dying day, Fond memories in my heart awake, Of home's dear dream by the lake, Like sunshine past and gone.

The prairie wealth of Canada! Whose dark, abundant soil Unfurrowed yet, awaits the plough; Whose sows shall have sure promise now Of rich reward for toil.

What tho' the winter wind blows keen, When daylight darkly wanes, Among true hearts is hard to chill When, seen afar, the home-light still Shines bright across the plains.

The robust life of Canada! In cheery homes I see; Tho' gold nor jewels fill the land, 'Tis nature's self has blessed the land, Abundant, fair and free.

Beecham's Pills

Purify the blood and, thus, go to the root of many maladies.

DEAR SIR,—As much has been said and written lately about impurities of the American states, we, as importers of the stores in question, consider the matter concerns us more closely than anyone else, and would like to have a word on the subject. You say in your editorial of yesterday that the truth in respect to stores is very clearly set forth by Messrs. R. B. Norton & Co., thus endorsing Messrs. Norton's statements. We do not take issue with you on this, not from a political standpoint, as we are not politicians, and have never even aspired to the position of mayor. Now, from a business point we most decidedly take exception to your statement, as it is at the least misleading in the extreme, except, perhaps, it be in the matter of his buying stores at 25 per cent. But it is not a fact, as you have made on the stores sold, and what an addition to the local revenue his income must be! Now, as to the quality of the Highland goods, we have only to say that we recognize no rival in the stores offered for sale in Charlottetown, and it is a recognized fact and only a short time ago personally admitted to us by leading manufacturers of stores that the Boston people lead the world in the matter of quality and finish of stores. While writing this we have just had a visit from a professional man using a Jewel, who tells us that we may use his name as a person who knows something of American ranges and who also says that he wouldn't give one of the Highland for a dozen of the stores he is now using. We refrain from using the gentleman's name for the same reason that we have not said anything heretofore about the party who after a heretofore trial of the much talked of Jewel stove was forced to return to R. B. Norton's and no postal appliances. It is not a fact, as you say, that the Highland belongs to an old fashioned constructed and inferior quality class perhaps we may be able to get a better grade. In case you wish to say also in answer to a supporter of an American workman that we also have a little more that we could not do for you, and we feel quite sure would be of extreme interest to the farmers of P. E. Island as it relates to a big drop in the price of a commodity largely used by them, we do not believe in them but pay for ads like we do for our goods with one hundred cents in the dollar.

MESSRS. R. B. NORTON & CO., Charlottetown.

Gentlemen, You say that some of your competitors who handle American stores claim that these are made of a superior kind of iron, which is easier to clean, retains the polish longer and will not turn out as soon as Canadian-made stoves. To those who know the facts such statements appear extremely "stupid and absurd." The fact is, we have been using for years "only American iron" of the best quality, and the same is true of nearly every factory in Ontario, so that the iron in Canadian-made stoves is exactly the same as that in American. If there is any difference, it is in the construction and fitting, and we are willing to put our stores against "any made in the United States" in regard to fitting and construction. Our stores have all the modern improvements, and no point is neglected that would make them more convenient or durable. The American stove you mention as being sold in your city is not constructed by those in the business as a "stove-maker" in 1870. It is antiquated in regard to the "15 or 20" years ago "was" considered a good stove, but it is now away in the rear end of the procession, and is "simply not in it" in point of day, as we certainly paid for our ranges which we and other Canadian manufacturers are turning out. Yours truly, BERRON, STEWART & MILNE, Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 27.
