

It's DeValera's Turn To Win Irish Voting Tuesday

By KEN METHERAL, Canadian Press Staff Writer, DUBLIN (CP)—For more than 12 years the arch antagonists of Irish politics—Eamon De Valera and John A. Costello—have been allowing each other in and out of offices with monotonous regularity.

If the pattern is continued—and it would be a brave gambler, indeed, who gave odds against it—the result of Tuesday's general election will confirm that it is "DeV's" turn to form a government.

The one certainty, if anything can be called certain in an Irish election, is that De Valera's Fianna Fail will again be the largest single party in the Dail when Parliament reassembles March 20. But it is by no means certain that the electors will give him an overall majority, which would forestall Prime Minister Costello from attempting formation of another coalition government as he did in 1948 and 1954.

A.Y.P.A. MEETING — The regular meeting of St. Mary's and St. John's A.Y.P.A. were held in the month hall on Thursday evening at 7:30 with 15 members and one visitor present. An article was read by Mrs. Corrie Thomson on the Lamboeth Conference, followed by a short question and answer period. It was decided to send for a film "On Stars" which is recommended for an aid to young people prone in presenting a play. A letter was read from the Canadian Sunday School Convention requesting that any A.Y.P.A.s who have the necessary qualifications to volunteer as teachers or drivers on the Summer months. The treasurer, Marjorie Wall, reported that the pantry sale had been quite successful. The drama committee reported that a play had been decided upon. The meeting then closed with prayers. Joyce Lyle and Norma MacKinnon then led the group in a number of games and contests and lunch was served by Jane Fletcher.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — Lethbridge public health authorities say incidence of German measles has reached epidemic proportions in the city. A total of 327 cases of the disease have been reported to the health department.

By ALTON I. BLAKESLEE NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A new antibiotic from yeast is showing amazing power against all kinds of germs and fungi, and even holds promise of knocking out allergies.

So widespread is its action that it's been named malucin—meaning in Latin, destroyer of evil. Human studies with it are just beginning. It will take time to learn its ultimate value in treating human afflictions.

But in animals, malucin has knocked out many kinds of germ and fungus infections. A tiny rose has kept mice resistant or immune to certain infections for one to four months.

In animals, too, it shows promise of overcoming or suppressing allergic reactions. It might become a treatment for controlling hay fever and other allergies.

FROM BREWER'S YEAST Malucin was discovered by Dr. Ivan A. Parfenjev, research associate in microbiology, Yale University Medical School.

The antibiotic is obtained from brewer's yeast after it has been fermented.

Dr. Parfenjev found it while seeking an anti-allergy drug. There are no known allergies caused by yeast, he said in an interview. And for 2,000 years, since the time of Hippocrates, yeast has been thought to contain some anti-infectious agent.

Numerous yeast extracts have been tried as drugs in the past, but with equivocal results. Dr. Parfenjev recently isolated a yeast protein which may be the answer.

It kills or stops the growth of all kinds of bacteria and fungi, he said.

Fungus infections are becoming more and more troublesome, and few drugs hit them effectively. One particular thorny problem is that certain fungi—normally existing in the body—spread and grow rapidly when antibiotics are used to kill germs. The fungi have less competition as germs are killed, and spread to cause new trouble.

The drug may become an anti-allergy boon. It appears to be able to desensitize animals made sensitive or allergic to protein materials. Possibly it could protect children who, for unknown reasons, become allergic to whooping cough vaccine.

OTTAWA (CP) — Mail-delivery problems of a few national and most of them local—occupied the Commons Friday.

Several members renewed demands for re-establishment of twice-daily delivery service in urban areas as the Commons studied spending estimates of Postmaster-General Lapointe. Others said that before this is done, all rural areas should get at least once-a-day deliveries.

Members of all parties also urged that salaries of postal workers be increased.

A few suggested stamps to mark the 150th centennial of British Columbia, and of the first oil discovery in North America in Oilfields, Ont.

EXPECT SURPLUS Mr. Lapointe, opening discussion of the $10,522,350 post office spending program for the fiscal year starting April 1, indicated his department will show a surplus of about $30,000,000 in the current year.

He estimated revenues for the current year at $19,850,000, an increase from $18,568,350 in 1955-56, compared with appropriations approved last year of $19,356,622.

George Hahn (SC—New Westminster), proposing a B.C. centennial stamp, said the dogwood, floral emblem of his province, "would show up very beautifully on one of those stamps."

The Canadian mint this week announced plans to issue a dollar coin with a totem pole design to mark the province's first 100 years.

CO-ED WEEK

The past week at Summerside High School has been Co-ed Week. To explain, Co-ed Week is the week when the girls all must do the things which the boys normally do for them.

The girls carried books, opened doors, walked on the outside and asked boys on dates after which the boys were able to walk the girls home. All in all it was a topsy-turvy week and the girls were all glad when it ended. The boys will now have to wait another year before they can take it easy for a week and let the girls be chivalrous.

EACH HODGE-PODGE

Each party is a hodge-podge of Conservative and Socialists, freetrader and protectionist. Once in office, attempts at cohesive action founder under the pull and tug of conflicting beliefs. The result: a succession of governments each filling less than three years of their allotted five-year plan.

De Valera remains the dominant force in the young republic for which he fought so unrelentingly. His personal popularity is tremendous and could easily sway the election.

EDUCATION WEEK

Next week, being Education Week teachers will be in their classrooms on Thursday evening from 7-8:15. Parents are asked to visit the classrooms of their children, look at the work being done and to talk with their teachers on that night. They are, also, reminded to attend the Fashion Show. It will be put on by the Home Economics girls in the Auditorium for parents and others after they have visited the classrooms at 8:30. It is hoped that the parents will take this opportunity to visit the school and its teachers.

MEDICAL CAREERS

At the regular Assembly program on Thursday morning Carol MacLean, accompanied by Mr. Chaisson, sang Oh, No John. The guest speaker was Dr. John Downing who spoke on medicine as a career.

Originally, he told the school, the study of medicine stemmed from the monastery where monks received learning and aided the sick. A man so trained then worked as an apprentice for a long time and then left on his own to become a doctor. In Canada there are twelve medical schools, each affiliated with universities which graduate approximately 800 students.

To begin, a student must have his junior matriculation and two to three pre-medical years. The medical course is five years, four of which are spent in school and one as an intern in an approved hospital.

A student wishing to take up post-graduate work must have further five years of study. Dr. Downing said that even after graduating, a doctor is still learning and more advances have been made the last 25 years than the years preceding which must all be studied by the doctor.

Mr. Mercer, presented to Robert Keiser of Mrs. Greens, Grade 5 Men's Club trophy donated by the Y's Men's Club in the school. So far 16,452 stamps have been collected by the classes and turned in to the Y's Men's Club who in turn give them to the Bishop's Fund.

By FERN RICH LONDON (Reuters)—Socialized medicine took a thumping in Britain and France this week with the medical profession blasting both governments and the public watching fearfully.

Socialized Medicine Under Fire in Britain And France

In Britain, 40,000 doctors, all participating in the government's national health service, are demanding a 24-per-cent pay rise for their first since 1951. If they don't get it, they threaten to walk out of the service and charge fees.

Their French colleagues are seething over the Socialist-led government's plan to reorganize the health service and fix maximum fees for treating patients.

Basic idea of the scheme in both countries is to eliminate the burden of heavy medical bills.

PAY DIFFERENT

Britons and Frenchmen pay for this form of social security in different ways, however.

In Britain, four-fifths of the cost of the service is met by the government. The remaining fifth comes from contributions from all employed persons. Their employers and local taxes.

When the plan was inaugurated nearly 10 years ago, it was hoped the annual health budget would not exceed $400,000,000 ($120,000,000). But despite attempts at economy, costs have risen to more than $600,000,000 a year. Contributions of the service will go up in the fall to help make up rising costs.

INSURANCE

The doctors' demand for an additional 24 per cent would add another $20,000,000 to health service costs. The government has said it cannot possibly meet their demand at this time.

AVERAGES $2,200

The average general practitioner in the health service has an annual income of $2,200 plus expenses, which are altered each year.

Optometrist

At the moment, no date has been fixed for withdrawal. Another meeting of the British Medical Association is expected to be held in April and any decision to withdraw would have to be endorsed by the meeting.

The regular meeting of the Gamma Hi-Y club was held in the Y Centre on Feb. 26. The president Lorraine Cameron was in the chair. The meeting began with the Lord's prayer followed by the worship conducted by Cathy Beaton. The roll call was answered by 22 members. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. It was moved and seconded that $5.95 be paid for Carol Dunning's gift. Arlene Bernard reported that a pantry sale is to be held at Smallman's on March 1st. The final arrangements for this were drawn up.

Rotarian MacLaggan Gave Fine Address

At the regular meeting of the Summerside Rotary Club held on Thursday LST, Rotarian Clyde MacLaggan, president of the local Board of Trade gave an interesting and instructive address on the Board of Trade, outlining its aims and accomplishments in the past and some of the projects to be undertaken in the immediate future, pertaining particularly to the Atlantic region.

The Summerside board of trade is made up of some 30 members which numbers approximately 25 active. An appeal for a more active membership was made by Mr. MacLaggan. The relationship between the Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce was briefly described by the speaker.

Three new members, John W. Arnold, Amos Hubley and David L. Quinn were inducted into the club by past president, Rotarian Frank Arnett. It was unanimously decided to donate a scholarship of $25.00 to the P.E.I. Musical Festival. President Vaughan H. Groom presided at the meeting.

Will Serve Wine With CPR Meals

WINNIPEG (CP)—Public drinking of liquor and wine with meals started quietly and on a small scale in Manitoba Friday under a new provincial liquor law passed in 1956.

The Canadian Pacific Railway's Royal Alexandra Hotel and diners on CPR transcontinental trains started serving liquor, beer and wine under dining room licences.

NEEDS CHANGE

Many sections of Prince Edward Island have reached the point where changes in their school set-up are forced upon them. Study must be given now to re-organize these sections. In view of the population change, and also the forecast of the Gordon Commission, it will appear sensible for a complete study to be made of the educational needs of our province, with particular emphasis on the more deserted areas, and how best they can be served.

Organize Ass'n At O'Leary For Retarded Children

An organizational meeting of interested parents and friends of mentally retarded children was held in the O'Leary High School Friday. L. J. Matthews acted as chairman and briefly outlined the procedure of the preparatory meeting held a month ago. The purposes, objects and principles of the association were also briefly outlined.

On motion it was approved that the organization become a unit of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children and accepted the constitution as laid down. It was moved by Mrs. L.G. Dewar, seconded by Mrs. L.G. Matthews that the name of the new association be the West Prince Association for Retarded Children. It was decided that the regular monthly meeting date would be the first Friday of each month.

The nominating committee brought in a slate of officers as follows: President, Lloyd Matthews; O'Leary, 1st vice-president, Mrs. Ruth Millman, Alberton; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. James A. Milligan, Tyne Valley; secretary, Mrs. Stanley Gaudet, Howlan, R.; treasurer, Mrs. R. Cecil Dennis, O'Leary.
