Death on the Down Grade.

A FEARFUL STRUGGLE ON A FLYING TRAIN—THE DYING BRAKEMAN'S WARNING.

WYTHVILLE, Va, Jan. 30—Sam Banks and Tom Irvine were brakmen on a train on the New River Railroad. They were companions, but their wives had quarrelled and the husbands had become involved as partisans of their respective wedded mates. The other day, while in a box car of a moving train the subject of the quarrel was angrily discussed, and words came to blows at last, and the men clinched each other in a desparate and deadly struggle. They were now descending a long, steep grade. The whistle blew for down brakes, but the desperate men did not hear it, and the train gained in momentum every second and whirled onward in its mad flight. For a moment the struggling men became disengaged, and Irving drew a revolver and fired at his companion who fell fatally wounded in the breast. The engine driver, alarmed by the fearful leaps the engine was making again sounded for down brakes. This time the dying man heard it, and cried to his maddened and bewildered companion, "Look out for the brakes." Irvine ran up the ladder, put on the brakes just in time to save the train from a mad plunge over into destruction, when Banks quietly sank, and died in a few minutes after giving the warning which saved his murderer.

A Houston paper relates the following incident:—A wealthy banker in one of our large cities, who is noted for his large subscriptions to charities, and for his kindly habits of private benevolence, was called on one evening, and asked to go to the help of a man who had attempted suicide. They found the man in a wretched house, in an alley not far from the banker's dwelling. The front room was a cobbler's shop; behind it, on a miserable bed in the kitchen, lay the poor shoemaker, with a gaping gash in his throat, while his wife and children were gathered about him. "We have been without food for days," said the woman. "It is not my husband's fault. He is a hard-working sober man. But he could neither get work, nor the pay for that which he had done. To-day he went to collect a debt due him by a rich family, but the gentleman was not at home. My husband was weak from fasting, and seeing us starving drove him mad. So it ended that way," turning to the fainting, motionless figure on the bed.

The banker, having warmed and fed the family, hurried home, opened the desk, and took out a file of little bills. All his debts were promptly met, but he was apt to be careless about the accounts of milk, bread, etc., because they were so petty. He found there was a bill of Michael Goodlow's for repairing children's shoes, $10. Michael Goodlow was the suicide. It was the banker's unpaid debt which had brought these people to the verge of the grave, and driven this man to desperation, while at the very time the banker had given away thousands in charity.

FRED. J. GARBETT, M. D., Graduate of the London University, Dean and Registrar of the Boston Medical College of Specialists, says:—"I had tried every system of treatment for the cure of nervous prostration, partial paralysis, and abouic dyspepsia. Persuaded, much against my will, to try the Pad system, I put them on, and in two days found that the paralysis of the nerves had been conquered, the entire nervous system toned up, and now—six months from the day of application—I am free from any symptoms of nervous debility or dyspeptic tendency. In my professional practice as a Physician, in private life and among my personal friends, I shall deem it my bounden duty and my highest privilege, as an act of gratitude, to counsel and enforce this treatment, as the only reliable and effectual remedial agency having for its origin the stomach, liver, brain, and great nerve centres.

THE ONLY PERMANENT CURE.

Tamworth, April 13.

Gentlemen,—I was troubled with pain in the back, and could not retain my urinal secretion, from painful inflammation of the bladder. I have been treated by a dozen physicians to no purpose, but have worn your Special Pad six weeks. The pain, swelling and inflammation are gone and I am well. Your Pad is the only cure for kidney disease.
