

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 10, 1881.

Thoughts for the Thoughtful.

EVERY man, whatever his position in life, has a high and an awful responsibility. His earthly influence will never have an end. What he does will last for ever; each action blending with the good or with the evil, and there working out its influence throughout all time.

Shakespeare touched a chord in every human heart when he said he would rather teach twenty how to act than be one of the twenty to follow his own teaching.

Perhaps the missing link will soon be found, the link between man and beast. Corroborative testimony in support of Darwin's theory is to be found in the instinctive utterances of men and women, especially in seasons of anger, when they are more apt to be truthful than at other times. How often we hear the inelegant "you brute," sometimes "you dog," or "you goose." When affected by gentler feelings, it is not uncommon to hear such expressions as "you dear," or "you duck."

Temper is a dreadful trouble to most of us, and is one of the hardest evils to conquer. A sour temper never grows sweeter by age, and a sharp tongue increases its keenness with constant use. Much good can be done by parents endeavouring to check the unseemly outbursts of temper in their children, and by carefully cultivating little acts of gentle courtesy towards one another in the household.

It is sometimes strange to notice what transformations our opinions undergo, from the habit of tracing effects to their causes. We are apt to forget the distant, while thinking of the near. When we see the storm waves dashing against the wharves, we are impressed by the immense energy of the water. But a moment's consideration shows us that in the absence of the wind, the sea would be powerless, and its surface unruffled. We must not stop here, because intrinsically, the air is just as passive as the water. There would be no winds were it not for the varying effects of the Sun's heat on the earth. Even now we are many stages from the source, but we have gone far enough to show the usefulness of thinking carefully before we begin to dogmatize. All in some degree, associate power with the visible agency exercising it, rather than with its inconspicuous source; and in this way many mistakes occur.

The "Fore-castle" of the ship is a well known place, but what has it to do with a "castle?" In the house of Lords may be seen tapestry representing the Spanish Armada. The ships worked in tapestry had "castles" on their decks. The common sailors had their quarters ahead of these castles, or the "fore-castle."

QUERIES.

(By a Spectator.)

Was the following written for the Reform Party in Canada? "Reform yourselves, and then you may be sure that there are some rascals less in the world."

Now that the time for sea-bathing has arrived, why is not the park made available for that purpose? There are beautiful bathing grounds around the breastwork. Why cannot an hour before till an hour after high water be the permitted time for bathers? Who has public spirit enough to move in the matter? Perhaps Mr. Justice Young, who has already taken great interest in our beautiful park.

Is imitation the sincerest form of flattery? If so, ought the EXAMINER to feel flattered at the Patriot's imitation of its "Notes of the Month"? There is no doubt that they take after your esteemed correspondent, but do they not take considerably after him?

WATER.

The people of Charlottetown would not give up a water-supply system at any price, if they had a month's enjoyment of its blessings, and should not hesitate a day to undertake the construction of one of the systems described in Mr. Murdoch's comprehensive and able report.—St. John Sun.

Yes, if the city could afford it.—Presbyterian.

But if a company puts in the water works, what then?

"We have the assurance of two of the trustees, Messrs. Ferguson and Beer, that neither the Government nor the trustees have interfered in any way with the appointment of attendants at the Hospital."

In the above (clipped from the EXAMINER of last evening) it should have been explained that Mr. Beer's assurance extended only to the action of the Trustees. Mr. Beer says the Trustees as a Board have not interfered in any way with the appointment of the attendants at the Hospital.

Toronto's growth within the last ten years in the matter of population has kept pace with her architectural improvement and extension. At the meeting of the Typographical Union recently, the Mayor stated that the population of the city would be shown by the census returns to be over ninety-five thousand, which is an increase of close upon twenty thousand within the decade.—Mail.

Doctor GAZDAR, of Fredericton, died on the 8th of injuries received in a fall from his carriage, caused by the running away of his horse.

The Asylum Investigation.

EVIDENCE OF THE SUPERVISOR.

AN investigation into the cause of the injuries sustained by George Manson, a patient at the Hospital for the Insane, was commenced this forenoon, before His Honor the Stipendiary Magistrate. Mr. Sutherland is conducting the examination on the part of Manson's friends. Mr. F. Peters is defending McCloskey, the attendant implicated. There is a large attendance, and much interest is manifested in the case. The following is the evidence taken up to 1 o'clock:

P. S. MULLIGAN, (SWORN). Examined by Mr. Sutherland.—I am Supervisor in charge of the whole building. I entered upon my duties in September last. There is a patient named Manson there. John McCloskey had charge of him in one Ward for a certain period. McCloskey I think took charge of him about the latter part of March. Manson was under McCloskey's charge about three or four weeks. Manson was removed from the Ward because there was no protection for the windows in his Ward, and the Doctor did not consider him safe in the Ward as he got very violent and broke every pane of glass in the window.

I heard John McCloskey, say that he had had a scuffle with Manson. This scuffle I think took place in the middle of the winter. The Medical Superintendent did not report to any one in consequence of it. There was no investigation into it. The Medical Superintendent heard the scuffle and was the first to go to the attendant's assistance. I think I heard McCloskey say he would rather have nothing to do with Manson. The last disturbance they had occurred on Monday, 31st May. The first I heard of it was the morning following, when I was passing through Manson had some marks on his face. The doctor was informed of the tussle before I knew anything about it. When I saw Manson in the morning both his eyes were black, and he bore a pretty bad face. I was not examined before anyone respecting the affair. I have no knowledge how it occurred. As a general thing I saw Manson every day. Previous to this Manson used to complain of being beaten. He used to say the attendants abused him. His friends were to see him through the winter, and he made great complaints to them. McCloskey was in charge of the male wards on the night of the 31st May. The duty of a night-watchman is to make a round every half hour to visit the patients under his charge. John McCloskey told me that during the round on the night of the 31st May he was in the upper ward. He heard a noise, and on going to Manson's ward, he heard him crushing against the door. On opening the door Manson struck him with a pot and cut him over the eye. He had a lamp in his hand and the chimney fell off it. The light went out and they grappled with each other in the dark. McCloskey called for help and his brother Patrick came along and they put him to bed. McCloskey said he did the best he could to get the better of Manson. The cut upon McCloskey's forehead is the one caused by Manson hitting him with the pot. Patrick McCloskey told me the row was all over when he came to his brother's assistance. Since the row Manson has been very ill. One of his legs is considerably swollen. He was stripped the other day, and there were dark marks upon his body, pretty well under his arm. There was another on his hip. His leg was badly swollen. I noticed it swollen seven or eight days ago. I do not know whether Doctor Blanchard examined Manson before he went away. Judging by the appearance of Manson's face, he was roughly handled during the scuffle.

Cross-examined by Mr. Peters. Manson has been in the Asylum since September, 1879, with the exception of three or four weeks, when he was taken away by his friends. Manson is pretty violent at intervals. I had to go up once or twice to help the attendants to put the restraining strap upon Manson. This was during April. John McCloskey, McLean and I think McEae were with me when we put the strap upon him. We put on the straps to keep him quiet at night. He used to burst out doors. I have known him to burst out 3 doors. He was a strong man once; but he is now getting weak. Five or six weeks ago he jumped down through a hole to the basement about ten or twelve feet. He was afterwards found in the servant girls apartments and must have got down through the hole to the basement before he could get up there. He complained of a sore leg afterwards. I have nothing to do with making reports to the Medical Superintendent. The reports of occurrences such as the one in question are made to the Medical Superintendent, and to myself if he is not at the Asylum. I never heard of either of the McCloskeys abusing a patient before this time. Dr. Blanchard saw Manson after the scuffle. McCloskey was injured in the scuffle, and the Doctor attended his eye when he came home that night. The straps are always put on by the Doctor's orders.

[On the strength of the evidence of attendant McLean, now being taken, attendants McEae and Creehan are ordered to be arrested for abusing Manson].

P. E. Island Railway.

On Wednesday, at 1.35 p. m., the Chief Engineer of Government Railways, accompanied by P. S. Archibald, Esq., C. E., Luther Archibald, Esq., Superintendent; Messrs. Williams, Stronach and Houle, resumed their tour of inspection, arriving at Georgetown at 5.55 p. m. Leaving Georgetown yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, they returned to Mount Stewart, and proceeded to Souris. A very careful and thorough inspection was made of the permanent way, culverts and bridges, the latter being examined in every part with auger and pick. Arriving in Souris at 1.15 p. m., the new extension and wharf were examined, everything being found in first-class order. A move was then made for home. Leaving Souris at 2.13 p. m., the party reached Charlottetown at 4.12 p. m., the run occupying 1 hour and 59 minutes. There were five stoppages made on the road; once examining snow fence, twice for water, Morell bridge, and Mt. Stewart for orders, together occupying 14 minutes, making the actual running time 1 hour and 45 minutes, or at the rate of 34 1/2 miles per hour, including time lost in pulling up and starting. Some parts of the distance were run at the rate of 40 miles per hour, the cars running steadily. This, we believe, is a greater speed than ever attained on a narrow-gauge railway. After such a performance think it will take a very queer fellow to find fault with either road or the management. The train was again furnished with the Miller Platform and Vacuum Brakes, and in charge of Conductor McKeen and Driver A. McFarlane, the latter handling his engine in a masterly manner.

YESTERDAY evening, at 6.30 o'clock, a fire originated in a coach house, situated on Bremer Street, owned by John Ball, Esq. The engines were quickly on the scene, and the fire was extinguished before any very serious damage was done. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been set by children playing in the hay lofts with matches.

EXECUTED.—Yesterday two unlogged and unmuzzled dogs visited the farm of Mrs. Lewis, Charlottetown, with the evident intention of killing sheep. While they were making their first raid, Mr. Gregory Buchanan, gun in hand, appeared on the scene and shot the foremost canine fatally. His companion endeavored to escape after receiving a charge; but it is believed by Mr. B. that if he is not dead he will hereafter give up sheep killing.

A YOUNG woman, wife of Jno. Smith, of Head Harbor, St. Margaret's Bay, N. S., on Saturday last, about 11 p. m., got out of bed, and escaped in her night clothes, and before her husband could find her, drowned herself. Dr. Chase, coroner, held an inquest. A verdict of suicide by drowning, while laboring under temporary insanity, was returned. Insanity is hereditary in the family and it is supposed that from the loss of her foster mother, who was buried on Saturday, had affected the poor woman's brain and drove her to the fatal act.

GREAT FIRE IN QUEBEC

Fifteen Hundred Families Homeless. SIX LIVES LOST!

Four Million Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed. Want of Water the Cause!!

A Warning for Charlottetown!!!

Special Dispatch to Examiner.

QUEBEC, June 9. Quebec has just been visited by the most destructive fire experienced since 1845.

It started at a stable on St. Olivier St., at 11 o'clock, p. m., and continued till 6 a. m. At one time it threatened to destroy the entire city. The streets burned are:

Running east and west, Richmond in part, Laforelle, St. Olivier, Richelieu, Dagnellon and St. John, in St. John's Ward, and in Montcalm Ward, St. Gabriel, Nouvelle, and Breton. Running south and north the principal streets burned are Sutherland, Delegny, St. Claire, St. Marie, and St. Genevieve, on the west side, beside Jupiter Street in Montcalm Ward, also on the west side. It has now been ascertained that six lives have been lost, viz. Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, of 118 Olivier Street; Chas. Marois, joiner, of Richelieu Street, and Mrs. Geo. Lapeere and two children.

It is computed there must be a loss of two million dollars between buildings, stock and furniture.

Over fifteen hundred families are rendered homeless. It is impossible to give a correct list of the sufferers, or of the insurance losses.

The fire brigade and apparatus were quite unable to cope with such a fire, and to the wretched water service the whole disaster is due.

It is believed the fire is equal to that of 1876.
