

Wins Baking Honors at Hants County Fair

A big hug for Mom! Her cooking not only keeps a fella running for his high chair—but it wins prizes at the fair as well! This winsome young winner at America's oldest agricultural fair is Mrs. Harold Curry, of Curry's Corner, N.S. An ex-teacher who takes farm and house work in her stride, Mrs. Curry knows the value of top-grade ingredients in baking... notably Fleischmann's Yeast. "I can compare Fleischmann's with no other yeast," says Mrs. Curry. "When I started baking breads, I started with Fleischmann's. I found it so reliable that I have never used anything else... Convenient, too, is the Fleischmann's Fast Rising Dry Yeast, for that extra baking of rolls for a surprise treat."

That's it exactly! Because Fleischmann's Yeast is so reliable, so uniformly fast rising, the majority of prize-winning bakers will use no other.

Marrying Mark

Mark took Valerie to the dentist the next morning, which seemed to Dorothy an answer to a prayer. She was fresh from her day with Elise and worked up to an increased state of righteous indignation. If her sister's child was not freed from the influence of a creature like the Tredway girl before another twenty-four hours, she assured Elise, it would be because there was no more decency in the world. She was almost beginning to believe this was the case anyway.

Lucy was in her own sitting room when Dorothy knocked. Her heart dropped a notch at the expression of the other woman's face as she stood in the doorway and surveyed the luxury surrounding what she already labeled "vice."

Lucy got up courteously, although she could see even now that courtesy was not going to play much part in the conversation. "Will you sit down?" she asked. Dorothy came in and closed the door. She put no trust in Ollivern, whom she had seen at some business of his own in the upper hall. It was no place for a butler anyway, she thought, and nobody but the spineless master of a spoiled servant would tolerate such inefficiency.

She sat on the edge of an armchair facing Lucy, who was darning a pair of stockings. It crossed Dorothy's mind that she looked so very young and quite harmless at this domestic occupation, but she put the idea away. It was no time for sentiment.

"Isn't it a nice morning?" said Lucy presently. There seemed a need for speech of some sort. "I was glad when I saw the sun. A dentist seems easier to bear somehow when it's bright, don't you think?"

Dorothy stared at her for a moment without answering. "I won't pretend that this is a social call," she said at last. If she expected Lucy to question her further she was disappointed. The girl merely went on with her darning.

mother's love and softness and a father's judgment and discipline. He wouldn't have given them two parents.

A father owes it to his children to give himself to them. Just giving them the things that money buys isn't enough. They need father himself.

Father owes it to their children to get acquainted with them. Half the fathers and children in the world haven't even a speaking acquaintance with each other. They can't carry on a conversation when they are left alone together. The children have no idea what father thinks and father hasn't an idea what the children think or are doing.

It is every father's duty to help his children make a success of their lives, and he defaults on his obligation when he passes the buck to their mother and lets her form their character and decide their way of life.

DEAR MISS DIX: Are women more narrow-minded than men? Why do women turn up their noses at some of the most honorable people just because they haven't money or education, or because they live in the country or in certain districts of the town? You very seldom see men do that.

ANSWER: I think women, as a rule, are more narrow-minded than men, and for the very good reason that they have fewer broadening experiences. Most women live restricted lives. Their interests are mainly shut in their homes and their communities. They only know a small circle of people, and they come to judge all the world by their own little standards.

But men have wider contacts than women. They see a bigger world, and they find so much bad in the best of us and so much good in the worst of us that they are more inclined to be friends to all of us than women are.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X E
I S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Miss—what is your name?" "Tredway," said Lucy. "Have you forgotten? You used it only a moment ago." In spite of the pain in her heart she wanted to laugh. It was all so silly.

"Miss Tredway, you don't give me the impression of inexperience. Has it never struck you that your position here is a little equivocal?"

"Never until Mrs. Waterford brought it rather rudely to my attention Thanksgiving night."

"Mrs. Waterford spoke to you about being here?" Elise had neglected to mention this. How like her, Dorothy thought to herself. She had never really trusted the woman.

"Yes."

"And yet you paid no attention to her warning?"

"I didn't know it was a warning. I thought it was just an impertinence. Mr. Alexander engaged me to come here. Anyone can see what my influence on Valerie has been. It was my idea that if her father wanted to get rid of me he would naturally let me know."

Dorothy laughed. The sound made a little ripple of rage along Lucy's spine. "Do you really expect me to take that seriously?"

Lucy got up. "I expect you to leave my room," she said quietly.

Miscellaneous Shower at Green Bay

On Thursday evening Sept. 7th, a large number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. Murchison Graves, Green Bay to attend the shower of his daughter Dorothy.

The bride-to-be was escorted to the seat of honour by Miss Ena MacNevin. The chair was decorated with white and pink streamers and bows. Miss Mabel Graves unwrapped the many beautiful gifts. The verses were read by Mrs. Edith Costello. The gifts were nicely arranged on the table by Ena MacNevin and Evelyn MacQuaid.

The bride-to-be thanked one and all for the lovely gifts. Then all joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow". Lunch was served by the ladies.

The remainder of the evening was spent in modern and old time dancing. The music was furnished by Mr. Golden Graves, Charlottetown, Mrs. Eugene MacQuillen, Green Bay, Mr. Lyle MacNevin, Bonshaw, and Mr. Lorne Graves, North River.

REDS SHORT OF ARMS

TOKYO, Sept. 12 — (Reuters)—The new Communist dead-men's weapon attack technique in Korea shows they are desperately short of supplies, an intelligence officer at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters claimed today.

He said the technique was first used in an attack Sept. 9. The invaders attacked in five waves, the first three armed.

The last two waves started out without weapons, picking up the guns of their comrades killed in the action.

PRAGUE, Sept. 13—(AP)—Czechoslovakia's soldiers were warned today: they'll get their heads shaved just like Soviet soldiers do—or else.

New regulations taking effect Oct. 1 never have been published in full, but these include the head shaving, and require week-ends in barracks, studying "political subjects."

"At once. There was no reason for this interview in the first place, and I am rather busy as you can see."

Dorothy made no move, but sat staring at her. "You're a great deal harder than you look, aren't you?" she said. "Perhaps this isn't altogether a new experience for you. I'm perfectly willing to speak more plainly. You are handicapping a young girl's future by insisting on staying in this house."

"You can prove this, of course?"

Surf gives you Sweeter Washes

...whiter, brighter to look at!
...fresh-air-sweet to smell!

Surf contains an amazing detergent which not only gets out every trace of dirt and grease... but of "dirty clothes" odor, too.

You'll get the surprise of your life when you first try Surf. You'll get a wash that's more than clean to the eye. It's so sweet and clean you can actually smell its sunny wind-blown freshness, even when you've dried your wash indoors.

And you can get this sweeter-smelling, cleaner wash—even without rinsing.

Here's Surf's secret

Surf has the magic power of grabbing dirt and holding it in the washwater. When you wring out the water, you wring out the dirt with it. At the same time Surf's purifying ingredient takes out every hint of "dirty clothes" odor, too!

When you don't rinse, Surf's purifying action continues to keep clothes sweeter longer. (So, if you prefer to rinse, just add a little Surf to the rinse water.)

All you need for ALL your washing

Surf gives you instant, rich, long-lasting suds that do 3 times the work of ordinary soaps, in hardest water. Yet Surf is safe for everything from grimy, greasy overalls to your prettiest, sheepest washables... and kind to your hands.

So use Surf for all your washing. You'll get the whitest, brightest, sweetest washes you ever had. And you'll save on hot water. You'll save your clothes.

"ORDINARY" CLEAN...??

Though you may think your wash is clean, a faint "musty" odor often betrays the presence of dirt, grease or scum. Rinsing won't get rid of this... but Surf does!
