The war, it follows one of 21 per cent in 1948 and another of 20 per cent granted in three instalments during 1949 and 1950. The three make up a cumulative increase of 62.6 per cent on the traffic to which they are applicable, but a considerable part of the railways' business has been either wholly or partially exempted from their effect.

Major classes of traffic exempted from the new increase are the bulk of the big grain movement in the west, rates between Canada and the United States that are largely tied to U.S. charges, and export and import rates to and from Canada ports, which are maintained on a rate parity with U.S. seaboard harbors.

The board's judgment today served notice that the two ideas will be investigated at hearings starting next Nov. 12, when the commissioners are to deal on a more permanent basis with the railways' application for a rate increase of about 20 per cent to meet higher costs of labor and materials.

Temporary Measure

Pending these hearings, the 12 per cent — slightly less than two-thirds of what the railways asked — was awarded as a temporary measure.

Effective About July 25

The new rates are to go into effect on 15 days' notice. Allowing for time to get new tariff schedules printed, that should put them in operation about July 25.

First reaction to the increase came from Manitoba, where Premier Campbell called it "disappointing." He said the railways could meet their costs without "increasing the burden upon the freight-rate payers of Canada at this time."

Ottawa, M.J. Coldwell, national C.F. leader, said in a statement the government should hold up the increase until Parliament reviews the whole transportation problem at its fall session. The cabinet has this power.

The Toronto Coal Exchange said coal prices in that city will be increased up to 25 cents a ton. Fuel oil companies there said their prices probably will go up too, but they could not say the amount.

The new increase arises largely from the general rail strike of last August, in which employees wrested a multi-million-dollar wage-hour settlement from the companies.

Sport Echoes

this no little credit must be given to Lippy Gaudet, who puts more effort and enthusiasm into the ladies' cause than any other ten men.

A brief word on umpiring. We'll try to be as tactful as possible but the situation probably calls for some plain, blunt words. Some of our umpiring, (not all of it, just some), is pretty nearly as bad as the most rabid fans call it, and that's stretching the vocal cords quite a bit. Now we know that for a sports writer to jump on the umpires like this is like taking candy from a baby in a carriage while its mother is in shopping for nylons. They, the umpires, have a thankless enough job without the sports writers on their necks. But bad umpiring, really smell-to-high-heaven umpiring, can do a lot of harm to young batters learning to hit. Naturally they get some gift "balls" which hook a corner of the plate, but worse than this, they are afraid to let balls go by that are just outside for fear of a strike's being called and they develop the habit of swinging at wild pitches.

In Summerside, and we presume in other places where a similar caliber of ball is played, if you have the sporting spirit to help the cause along, and to do a ten-dollar job for a couple of bucks or for free, and if you a fair knowledge of the rules, you can be an umpire. You may not be able to tell a lighthouse from the Eiffel Tower at fifty yards. You may not have that split-second judgement that is required. You can still be an umpire.

We'd like to see a school for umpires carried on by some competent person or persons. In the classroom such things as position in the field for different plays could be taken up, how to judge an "out" at first by watching the foot and listening for the ball etc, the rules and all their implications. To our way of thinking the work would only be half done. The instructor might then stand behind the umpire during a practice game and silently observe his calling of balls and strikes, noting the number of times he disagreed. If the percentage of disagreement were five percent or less, say, the umpire would have "passed". If the disagreement were some where between five and twenty percent the candidate is obviously not fitted for behind-the-plate umpiring, or the instructor himself is a victim of astigmatism. This is all for now. We'd like to commend our umpires for their very kind offer to work without pay during the month of June. They have always been willing and cooperative. But willingness and co-operation are not enough without other qualifications. Fortunately most of our arbiters have the other qualifications also.
