For The Children

Mohammed.

Mohammed, the Arabian prophet, lost his father and mother in infancy, and being left an orphan his uncle became his guardian. The uncle, whose name was Abu Taleb, treated him with great kindness, carefully bringing him up to his own business, which was that of a merchant trading to Syria; and when the boy was thirteen he took him with him on his journeys, and Mohammed afterwards conducted a caravan for his uncle to Damascus. Abu Taleb thought so highly of his nephew's abilities that he recommended him to a noble and wealthy widow, as her factor; and the young man managed business so well that she rewarded his services by marrying him. By this marriage, Mohammed, who had been left by his parents in very poor circumstances, was at once raised from poverty to an equality with the richest inhabitants of his native town of Mecca. He was only in his twenty-fifth year, and his wife was many years his senior. He had the greatest respect for her judgment, and to her he confided his belief that he was to teach the faith in the one living God, and to destroy the Pagan idolatry of the Arabs. She was his first convert, and they long conducted their devotions in secret; and it was not till he was in his fortieth year that he announced his mission in public.

When his wife died Mohammed sincerely mourned her loss, and it was some time before he took another wife, Ayesha, the daughter of Abu Bekr. When Mohammed was sixty-three years old he was attacked by a fever that some attributed to poison. When he recovered a little, feeling a conviction that his end was near, he ascended the pulpit, and addressing the assembled people, he asked if there was any one whom he had wronged, as if there were he would willingly bare his own back to the scourge. 'Have I aspersed the reputation of a Mussulman?' said the prophet. Let him proclaim my faults in the face of the congregation. Has any one been despoiled of his goods? The little that I possess shall compensate the principal and interest of the debt.

When he paused a voice was heard from the crowd, 'Yes, I am entitled to three drachms of silver.' Mohammed satisfied the man's demand, and thanked him for accusing him in this world rather than at the day of judgment. He then freed his slaves, and gave directions for the conduct of his funeral, and till the third day before his death he regularly performed public prayer.

At the last, surrounded by his mourning friends and relatives, the Prophet of Allah lay on a carpet spread on the earthen floor of his little house, his head supported on the lap of his beloved Ayesha. He fainted with agony. When he recovered he raised his eyes to the roof, and with a steady gaze, out falling voice, he exclaimed in broken accents, 'O Allah—pardon my sins—'

The Spelling Match.

Ten little children standing in a line, "F-u-l-l-y, fully," then there were nine.

Nine puzzled faces fearful of their fate, "C-i-l-l-y, silly," then there were eight.

Eight pairs of blue eyes, bright as stars of Heaven, "B-u-s-s-y, busy," then there were seven.

Seven grave heads, shaking in awful fix, "L-a-d-y, lady," then there were six.

Six eager darlings, determined each to strive, "D-u-t-y, duty," then there were five.

Five hearts so anxious, beating more and more, "S-c-h-o-l-l-a-r, scholar," then there were four.

Four mouths like rosebuds on a red rose tree, "M-e-r-r-y, merry," then there were but three.

Three pairs of pink ears, listening keen and true, "O-n-l-y, only," then there were two.

Two sturdy laddies, ready both to run, "T-u-r-k-y, turkey," and then there was one.

One head of yellow hair bright in the sun, "H-e-r-o, hero," the spelling match was won.

Why is it that nearly all aged persons are thin?

And yet, when you think of it, what could you expect?

Three score years of wear and tear are enough to make the digestion weak. Yet the body must be fed.

In Scott's Emulsion, the work is all done; that is, the oil in it is digested, all ready to be taken into the blood. The body rests, while the oil feeds and nourishes, and the hypophosphites makes the nerves steady and strong.

MR. HOUSE OF BERLIN

Cured of Lumbago by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—Everyone in Berlin knows Andrew House. He is a respected and prosperous resident, who numbers his friends by hundreds.

For over a year past, Mr. House was tormented by severe pains in his back, which increased in severity in spite of doctors and their medicines.

He was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. He did so. That night he felt less pain. Daily the pains abated, and in less than two weeks, Dodd's Kidney Pills had cured him thoroughly.

There is only one sure and unfailing cure for Back-ache. That cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills. Experience has provided this thousands of times.

In Quebec the estimates of the provincial expenditure for 1898-90 show that the Government contemplates an outlay next year of $4,624,568, to be slightly added to, in the course of events, by the supplementaries. The expenditure last year was $4,414,370, and the revenue $4,176,139.
