NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The paltry reduction of one cent a gallon on oil,—what does that amount to?

United States Marshal Henry has received official notice from the department of justice at Washington that the bill of exception filed by Thomas in the United States Supreme Court could not possibly be reached by the court at this term.

While the Turkish navy far surpasses that of the Greeks in the number of its vessels, they are mostly of small account, owing to the corruption of the Turkish officials. Vast sums of money which are appropriated annually for the marine find their way to the coffers of the sultans' favorites, and, as a result, the 115 warships which float the Crescent are almost as dangerous to their friends as their enemies.

The Boston correspondent of the St. John Sun reports that several influential Maine canning firms are protesting against the duty on canned lobsters proposed by the Dingley bill. The firms that find a high duty objectionable are the ones that have factories in the lower provinces, and which bring their goods to this market.

AN IMPORTANT RESOLUTION.

In the Provincial Legislature on Saturday Mr. Shaw gave notice of his intention to move the following resolution:—

Whereas, the present Government gained power at the election of 1893 by leading the people to believe that the days of taxation were far off and by promising through economy and reform to make revenue and expenditure meet.

And Whereas, that by certain resolutions submitted during several sessions of the Legislature, and by the declarations of Liberal speakers at the late elections, both Federal and Local, the people were given to understand that Free Trade with the United States in the products of the soil would be obtained by the return of the Liberals to power at Ottawa.

And Whereas, owing to the most reckless waste, and extravagance in the various departments of the public service, they have seen fit to enact a system of taxation that is unfair and unjust, and bears most unevenly on the people of this Province.

And whereas, that notwithstanding the enormous amount collected in taxes during the past 3 years, the yearly receipts have not been equal to the expenditure, and as a consequence a public debt of an alarming magnitude has been rolled up that threatens to jeopardize the future interests and well-being of this province.

Therefore Resolved, That the present Government having violated the pledges made to the people previous to the election of 1893, and by their extravagant and reckless expenditures largely increased the burdens of the people, have therefore forfeited the confidence of the electorate of this Province.

SQUIBS FROM SOURIS.

The lobster fishermen in this vicinity are busy getting their traps ready for the coming season.

Mr. Albert Dingwell has nearly completed the erection of his steam mill, which, when completed, will be one of the best mills in the county.

Times are beginning to look brisk at the wharves. Capt. J. D. Lavie is having his vessel repaired and repainted, and Mr. Kitchin's schr. Satellite is busy loading. They are to be engaged in the St. Pierre trade.

Mr. Peter Stewart is getting his schooner ready for sea, and Messrs. Myers and Garret are building a new one.

The St. Olive is expected here daily. She will go from here to Magdalen Islands, ice and weather permitting.

Mr. Geo. Knight is building a large coal shed on his wharf. This is a step in the right direction. It would be a good thing if he had one there now as nearly everyone in town is out of coal.

The road overseer of last year has been re-appointed. It is to be hoped we will see some money expended on the roads in town this year.

We hear that Capt. Lavie got two bad duckings in the harbor a few days ago. We are glad to learn that the Captain is none the worse after his immersion.

The remains of the late Henry McMahon, of Elmira, arrived at Harmony Station on Thursday evening from Boston, Mass., where his death took place. He ceased to be the son of the late Lot. McMahon, of Elmira. His death took place after an illness of 6 days. He was 26 years of age. The remains were taken from Harmony to Elmira.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. William Brennan, who has been confined to his house for the past few weeks with the grippe is rapidly improving.

It would not be a bad idea to have some planks put in the several holes in the sidewalk. It would not cost much and they are in a bad condition in some places.

In THE EXAMINER of the 14th instant "Liberal" gave a very good account of the Star Chamber session of a recent date. But he confused his remarks to one individual. "Jim" is not the only one that is wanting to chirp in a downy nest. If "Liberal" would take a stroll down town some fine day he would find a couple more old roosters whose greatest ambition would be to deal in stamps and postal cards for a few years at least. We may not be able to explain ourselves in such fluent expressions as "Liberal" did, but we think that we can make the majority of the inhabitants of this town understand us.

CAPTAIN JINKS & Co.

Toronto Star: Two hundred Canadian soldiers, clothed in a dozen different uniforms, would be able to put up a good fight in time of war, but would present a somewhat motley appearance upon parade. Does Canada want its representatives at the Jubilee celebration to be clothed in such a variety of uniforms.

WINNIPEG, Man, April 22.—The water in the Red River at Winnipeg continues to rise slowly, but thus far no inconvenience has been caused here and there is believed to be no danger of a flood. At Emerson, Morris and other points down the river where the land lies much lower and the river is much narrower, a serious state of affairs exists. The country is being inundated and most people are being compelled to live in the upper stories of their houses.

It is reported that along the Red River between Winnipeg and Emerson many settlers are suffering distress and want as a result of the flood.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering. "I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 20 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." MRS. ANNA PETERSON, Latimer, Kansas.

Your anxiety is for your delicate child; the child that in spite of all your careful over-watching, keeps thin and pale. Exercise seems to weaken her and food fails to nourish. That child needs Scott's Emulsion with the Hypophosphites—not as a medicine, but as a food containing all the elements of growth. It means rich blood, strong bones, healthy nerves, sound digestion. No child refuses Scott's Emulsion. It is pleasant and palatable.

JOKERS AND JINGLERS.

On to Washington. From Kankakee and Fond du Lac The sorried lines advance, From Chaska and from Hachensack Their flaunting banners dance.

From Sakarappa, Shakopee, From Dead Man's Gulch, they come, From Galveston, Menominee, We hear their busy hum.

From Billville and from Sutton's Mine, Tucson, Arapahoe, From Barnups Corners, see the line By long distances grow.

Their pockets with petitions bulge, Their hearts with springing hopes, The fond delusion all indulge— They rather know the ropes.

Though each state send its quota full To swell the mighty host, Advancing boldly with its pull, Ohio sends the most.

—Detroit News.

No Place For Him.

Pale in conscious rectitude, the young man stood. "Father," said he, "I cannot tell a lie."

"Oh, you can't!" growled the old man. "Here, take this order for your expenses and get out of the state. I'll go and do the testifying in that trust investigation myself. I cannot tell a lie either, of course. But you know at my age a man's memory is apt to be a little treacherous."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Lover's Reminiscence.

The lover said: "Modest was she when first we wed, So shy, indeed, I can't forget Her blushes red. And when she mounted her pony true For a canter down Fifth avenue She wore a long skirt of sober blue, Hiding her feet and sidesaddle too."

Again he said: "Now she's a bold and airy maid, A biding miss, of naught afraid, All coyness fled. She wears a jaunty bloomer faddie, And when mounting her cycle saddle She nimbly leaps and lands a straddle. Then pedestrians jump skeedaddle."—Albany Express.

A Lost Lesson.

"Look at the successful men in life," said the philosopher. "They are not the fault finders. They are not the people who make a study of grievances." "Humph!" replied his irritable friend. "That is easily explained. They are so situated as to be able to have their own way about things."—Washington Star.

Wot's the Use.

Wot's the use o' eatin, say? Gutter eat again. Wot's the use t' go t' sleep? Gittin up's sech pain. Work until yer simply lame— Nex' day gutter work the same! Wot's the use o' gittin full? Gutter sober up. Wot's the use t' ride a wheel? Only gutter stop. Wot's the use o' livin, say? Only gutter die some day. —New York Sunday Journal.

Calm and Collected.

Reporter—It is said that yourself and your comrade, O'Hoggarty, were calm and collected after the dynamite explosion at the quarry? McLubberty—Well, it was loike this. Oi was calm an' O'Hoggarty was collected. —New York Sunday World.

The Temperature of the Flat.

The tenant swore and walked the floor, But all in vain was the storm. The janitor sat by the furnace chill And sang, "You're not so warm." —Indianapolis Journal.

A Plenty Needed.

Perry Patetic—Uv course I'd take a bath if I took a notion. Wayworn Watson—That's about what it would take, I guess. "What's about what it would take?" "An ocean."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Stage Heroine.

The lover hugged her on the stage. To her it was not funny. He earned his salary, while she found She was hard pressed for money. —New York Sunday World.

Not a Good Name.

Mr. Blair—Did that titled foreigner leave his children much? Miss Fair—No, not even a good name. Mr. B.—You don't say so? Miss F.—Yes, it was Bjorklanizozog-vitz.—Up to Date.

Why He Would Miss Her.

"Would Willie miss his grandma if grandma were to die?" He would. She always helps him to A second piece of pie. —Indianapolis Journal.

Going Him One Better.

Newlywed (proudly)—I always make it a point to tell my wife everything that happens. Old Sport—Pooh! That's nothing. I tell my wife lots of things that never happen.—Tit-Bits.

Justifiable Rage.

He stood on the bridge at midnight, And the way he swore was a sin. Yet do not condemn him lightly. 'Twas the bridge of his violin. —Chicago Record.

At the Gates.

Actress—Hello, who are you? St. Peter—Be more respectful, please. Don't you know I'm an angel? Actress—At last, thank goodness! You're the very man I've been looking for.—New York Journal.

The Widow's Might.

The widow coyly bid him hope. His heart beat with delight, Then yearned with insufficiency— 'Twas but a widow's might. —Up to Date.

TO LET.

Our Society Leaders.

Society in Europe has a certain restricted meaning which enables one to picture to himself what "in society" means. It is not necessarily a brilliant distinction, but it is at least a sufficiently intelligible definition. But here "society leader" and "clubman" may mean something or nothing, as the case may be. Here again democracy exaggerates the very sentiments and positions it is supposed to ignore. Every woman with two changes of headgear is a "society woman," and every man with a top hat and two pairs of trousers is a "clubman." One hears, too, more talk about "old families" here than anywhere else. Why it is I know not, unless it be because they secretly feel that they are all so new. —"America and Americans From a French Point of View."

A Brand From the Burning.

After the German invasion an officer of the Turkos could not settle down into civic life, but went off to Africa on an exploring expedition. In one of the native villages on the Niger he saw an intelligent, bright looking lad tied up, and on inquiry found that he was being fattened for a feast which was in contemplation in which he was to appear roasted. He bought the lad for a case of Old Tom gin and brought him back to Paris, where he was sent to school, astonishing everybody by his capacity. He has just died in that city, closing a history in which his rescue shines as the most memorable incident.

One G. A. R. Post.

One of the queer incidents of the inauguration parade was the appearance of a Grand Army post from South Dakota. At the head of the delegation a huge red banner inscribed with the name of the post in great gold letters was held aloft by a stout colored man. Two other dusky gentlemen marched on either side of the standard bearer, carrying the tassels which depended from either side. Immediately behind the banner came the delegation. It marched with faultless precision and perfect union. It could hardly get out of step, as a matter of fact, for the delegation comprised but a solitary veteran.

MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philanthropy Still Exist.

If any man who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

If he nothing to sell, and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-beings to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c silver to cover postage and address Mr. Geo. G. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich. 135p&w.
