

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

Old Home Week for 1952 is over but people are still talking about the wonderful weather throughout that week, the great crowds, the splendid racing and other attractions which will make it go down in history as one of the best since its inception. Putting on a show of that kind means the expenditure of a lot of money and the taking chances of a great loss, but fortunately everything turned out for the best and we are glad, and so are all those who realize what a splendid thing it is for this province and particularly the City of Charlottetown. We, in this column, are of course interested principally in the racing and the fact that 179 different horses took part in the events, 80 of them from the mainland and 99 owned in this province, will show that each day the spectators saw a new lineup and greater interest was therefore taken.

An unusual feature was a "dead heat" for first which occurred in the third heat of the 218 pace, 2nd division, on Thursday night, when Patchen Volo 2nd, owned by Dr. J. A. Delaney, Summerside, and Billy McVay, owned by Dr. Temple Hooper, Charlottetown, could not be separated in the photo-finish. A total of $23,500 was put up as purses for the week's racing from Monday night to Saturday night inclusive. The fastest heat paced was in the Free For All Pace on Thursday afternoon when Lucky Chief 204 1-5, owned by P. J. Cadegan, Glace Bay, and driven by Worrell Lewis, finished first to the wire in 2:08 2/5. The fastest heat trotted was on Tuesday night when Neil Kalmuck 210 owned and driven by Willard Kelly finished first in 2:13. The 65 pacing heats averaged 2:14 2/5 and the 16 trotting heats averaged 2:17 3/5. The biggest heat winner was Lucky Chief 204 1-5 with five and Bud Kalmuck 212 won the most heats trotted — three. Bud is owned by the Sydney Sportsmen Club and was driven by Jimmie Given. Prince Edward Island owned horses won the most dashes — 45. Nova Scotia 28 New Brunswick 5 and Quebec owned horses won 4. (Both horses were given credit for the dead heat).

Only one minor accident which resulted in a broken sulky wheel occurred. Three horses changed hands, J. B. J. 211 4/5, 8-year-old pacer, was sold by Horace Willis to a party in Moncton. The Free For All pacer Dick Eria 204 3/5, was sold by Norman Acker of St. Stephen to Andrew Perry of Summerside, and the 6-year-old trotter Rajah Hanover 214, by Dean Hanover 3, 1583, dam, Certified Check 235 by Volo Peter 205, granddam, Lorena Axworthy 2073, was sold by Archie Shore, Sydney, to Myron Bell. Rajah was sold in the Standard Bred Horse Sale at Harburg in 1950 and the statement read as follows: "Rajah Hanover was considered the top two-year-old trotter in Maine in 1948. He has raced well at three and four and was third this year at Roosevelt in 2:08 1/5. Absolutely sound, he should make a fast, high-class horse." The many friends of Myron Bell will hope that Rajah will continue on his winning career which he started in this province on Saturday night last.

Ken MacDougall, presiding judge and master of ceremonies at the Cape Breton Sports Center for the past three summers, bade good-bye to Cape Breton harness racing fans Friday night of last week from his old familiar spot, the Judges Stand. This week Ken left for St. John's Exhibition Park Raceway. His departure was with regrets. He stated that his stay in Cape Breton had been a most pleasant one and that he had made many friends whom he would miss in his new home. He hoped that the fans would continue to give the Turf Club the same splendid support they had in the past. Ken issued a challenge to Cape Breton stating that that section of Canada was "ripe for an Old Home Week," and he hoped that Cape Breton island would stage one similar to that in Charlottetown, which he had visited an evening before. Our best wishes for success go to the genial Ken in his new environment. We feel certain that St. John with its large population and many fine sportsmen can and will become a great harness racing centre. They have the men, the money and a public that will appreciate good race programs.

The following letter, in part, has been received from Robert Croken, Emerald, P. E. I.: "In your report of Saturday night's racing, 6th and 9th dashes, you made the statement that Neil McNeill's new purchase, Neil Budlong, had been raised and developed by Fred Taylor, Breadalbane. I wish to correct this statement. Neil Budlong was raised by my father, C. W. Croken, on our farm. It is true that he was developed and trained by Mr. Taylor. Maybe you would be interested in more of his background. Several years ago my father raised many colts and dealt in pure bred Clydesdale horses. We exhibited our stallions and brood mares at the Provincial Exhibition and won prizes. We had on hand a first prize filly stallion which we wished to trade for a general purpose horse or driver. On a tour of the east in search of something my father visited the farm of a Mr. Webster, where he saw a mare that he liked very much, sired by Longset. My father traded the stallion for the mare and found her to be big, strong, well limbed and with plenty of speed. He also found that she was in foal and on inquiry to the former owner we learned that she had been bred to Calumet Budlong. In August she foaled a beautiful colt and this is the horse today known as Neil Budlong."

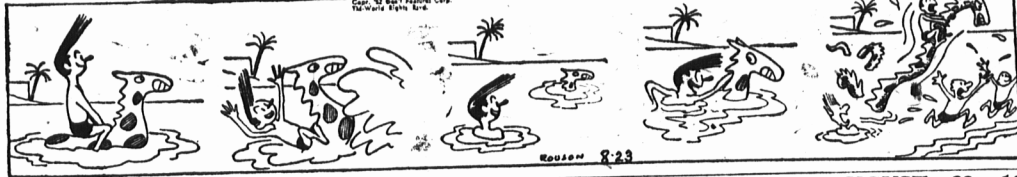

"We broke him in with other colts as a two-year-old and were very careful not to spoil him. When he was three and four years old the horse that is now doing 2:12 on the track worked in a mower, horsehoe, cultivator, digger, manure spreader, in fact almost all farm machinery. This is why Neil is a big, strong horse with plenty of staying power anywhere in a mile. Realizing we had no time aside from farm work to train the horse although we saw great possibilities in him, we advertised him as a four-year-old. Many came to see him and they have been regretting that they were not buying him. Finally when he was five-year-old, we made a trade for an Abbe Worthy horse with Mr. Taylor, who intended to train and develop 'Bud' as we called him." We are very glad to give the above particulars regarding Neil Budlong, a horse that we admire very much, and are grateful to Robert Croken, who is a student at St. Dunstan's University and who remains home during the summer months. We trust his university training will lead to great things for him and that he will always take an interest in horses.

Aubrey Kalzer in his Sports Column in the Sydney Post-Record, has the following: "At his new stand in Saint John, Ken MacDougall will be a year around worker and his plans now call for weekly racing events throughout the winter months. He thinks Maritime racing and feels racing on snow will be popular at the Saint John track. He believes that a number of Maritime sportsmen will want their horses there to do some training and at the same time get a chance to make a little money during the winter. It seems like an idea that would be well supported around the Maritime racing circuit."

Saturday night's racing at Truro saw a sensational 5th race won by Lady Hoosier, owned by H. C. Boutilier of Halifax. She was picked the winner in a photo covering a blanket finish of the entire field. It was the closest seen at Truro Raceway in a long, long time and the judges called for camera pictures to decide all positions. Incidentally, Lady Hoosier reduced her record to 2:19 4/5. The fastest heat of the night was paced by John's Clegg, owned by Dr. A. Murray of Halifax, and driven by Bud Cruikshank, time, 2:12 3/5. Bud also won the 7th race with Gallonage, from Carl Frisco in 2:16 4/5. Billy P. C. Parker continues his winning streak over the Truro track with driver Gould. He is owned by Mrs.

Baseball fans may see a new junior pitcher here Sunday afternoon if coach E. V. MacNeill of the Junior Abbies continues through with his plans. MacNeill will likely use young Tommy Harper on the hill in an effort to take the important third game of the Island series with Curran and Briggs. Harper, who pitched ball this summer with a mainland team, is reputed to be a very good but a little on the wild side. In batting practice this week he has been most effective and if he is as good tomorrow Abbies supporters will have something to cheer about.

Johnny Carroll of Curran and Briggs is expected to curran with Benny Carson. In his last two outings against the Junior Abbies Carson has been defeated and the three juniors will be out to make it three in a row. A lefthander Carson has been an easy target for such righthanded hitters as Cuke Pineau and Kenny Macdonald as well as a number of lefthanded swingers. Should Carson show a return to his form of last season things will be different. Tomorrow, if not the Abbies will go one up in the series.

In the Intermediate game Coach Tom MacFarlane of M.C.A. will be sending Felix MacAleer to the hill in an attempt to win the second game of the series. MacAleer, who has been hot and cold this year, will have an opportunity to put M.C.A. two games up. Coach Fred MacCabe of the Abbies may start Charlie Ryan again. Charlie could count on staying power anywhere in a mile. Realizing we had no time aside from farm work to train the horse although we saw great possibilities in him, we advertised him as a four-year-old. Many came to see him and they have been regretting that they were not buying him. Finally when he was five-year-old, we made a trade for an Abbe Worthy horse with Mr. Taylor, who intended to train and develop 'Bud' as we called him." We are very glad to give the above particulars regarding Neil Budlong, a horse that we admire very much, and are grateful to Robert Croken, who is a student at St. Dunstan's University and who remains home during the summer months. We trust his university training will lead to great things for him and that he will always take an interest in horses.

With the hockey season less than two months away, the status of the Maritime Major League still looks pretty indefinite. Of two news reports out of Maritime centres this week one carried a story to the effect that Moncton Hawks definitely would not be in the league and the other had it that Roy Ducharme, President of the Sydney Millionaires was resigning his post. Ducharme's place will be taken by a man to be nominated at a meeting Monday night in Sydney.

Actually the only progressive news has been coming out of Glace Bay where "Hub" Macey was signed as playing coach for $5,000. Macey, no doubt got the job on account of his good connections with Bud Poile who in turn has plenty of connections with the Red Wings. From the Islanders, Halifax and Sydney there have been no reports although all are trying to get the financial structure of the league likely keeping any flight players from accepting these offers immediately.

The Islanders were offered the services of Pete Langelle as playing coach but turned them down. Another person who would like to guide the fortunes of the Islanders as a playing coach is Phil Vitale but it seems unlikely that he will get the contract. Vitale too is interested in becoming a referee in the M. M. H. L. Hugh Currie, former coach of the Edmonton Flyers, was also offered to the local club. Another man in line for the job is Buddy O'Connor, former centreman with the New York Rangers.

Finals For Local Golf Title Today

The final match for the Charlottetown Golf Course Championship between Don Macdonald and Art MacKenzie will be played here Sunday. The golfers will compete in 36 holes of match play. Macdonald won his way to the finals by defeating Bill Beer in the semi-finals while MacKenzie ousted "Hard" MacInnis.

The final stages of the President's Match and MacKinnon Cup will also be played at the local course over the week-end. Golfers will play on either Saturday or Sunday after checking with the Club Pro Marc Sandow.

Island Open Tennis Tourney Begins Wednesday

The Provincial Island Open Tennis Tournament will begin Wednesday, Aug. 27. Players from the various tennis clubs on the Island, as well as players from outside the Province are invited to take part in the tournament. Summerside will enter players in the event. The entry list will close at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 26. Until that time players in singles, doubles and mixed doubles events will be enrolled. Names may be entered to Paul Kays, Jim Palmer, Carl Bradley or Ivan Dowling.

Upset Victories Feature Races Last Night; Card Curtailed By Rain

Two upsets, with Face Cloth winning the fourth race and Joseadale Clipper coming through to win the fifth, highlighted last night's race meet at the Charlottetown Driving Park. The meet was rained out at the end of the sixth dash.

But before the rain put an end to the night's racing, Face Cloth, a bay mare owned by C. G. Green and driven by Harold Stead, and Joseadale Clipper driven by Dave Wisener surprised the betting crowd with their upset victories.

Face Cloth raced into an early lead in the fourth race and could not be caught. As they passed the half it was Face Cloth, Miss Playfair, Frankie Budlong and Lou Kalmuck in that order. Frankie Budlong moved up to challenge Face Cloth in the stretch but couldn't quite make it.

The quicella on Face Cloth and Frankie Budlong paid $330.20. The only ticket holder was Vene Oatway, a former Islander now residing in Montreal.

Josedale Clipper moved up from third place at the half to win the fifth race over such favorites as Argot Pointer, Prince Budlong and Johnny Kalmuck.

Babe Britton went to the top at the first turn and stayed there to the five-eighths pole when the Clipper took over the lead. The Babe and Miss Knox raced up the back stretch in a battle for second place honors with Babe Britton proving the stronger. As they came to the wire it was the Clipper by a length followed by Babe Britton and Miss Knox.

Esso, driven by Len O'Meara, outlasted a terrific stretch drive by Silk Hal to win the sixth race. Esso went to the top at the wire and built up a lead over the rest of the field.

Lady Abner came through with a surprise win in the first dash as she led the field from wire to wire. Capt. Missouri challenged throughout, the last quarter but did not have enough to make it.

Marion E., driven by Willard Kelly, moved up from fifth place at the five-eighths pole to win the second race. The little black mare Harold Stead; pari-mutuels: $52.80; $12.00, $8.40; $6.60, $5.30; $4.90.

Frisco the Great won the third race as he raced into the lead at the half and stayed ahead to win.

Games Sunday

The Sunshine Island Dairy and the Maritime Electric will meet Sunday afternoon at one o'clock in the second game of their quarter-final series in the City Softball League. The Guardian Angels and the Liguorian Youth Club will play their third series game. The games will be played on the Old Diamond.

Local Tennis Finals Today

The finals in the men's doubles of the Charlottetown Tennis Club Tournament will be played this afternoon at 2:30 p.m. This event which was rained out last Sunday, will be played in its entirety today. The winners will be decided by the best three out of five sets. The finalists are Ivan Dowling and Phil Jardine vs. James Johnston and Walter Cullen.

Canada Packers Defeat Carmen

Canada Packers defeated the Carmen 19-9 yesterday evening in an Outlaw Softball League game played on the Knights of Columbus diamond.

Peter MacIntyre hurled for Canada Packers and Wign hurled for the Carmen. MacIntyre pitched a four hitter.

George Mills, Bob Hurry and Jr. Dowling homered for Canada Packers, while White hit a home run for the Carmen.

We have Indian Summer to look forward to but the real summer, the one that lasts from one to two months according to the season, has already been relegated to the scrap book of past memories. To this columnist the transition came last Tuesday evening (August 19) the nineteenth. The shades of night were falling as I drove back toward the city. The air had a cooler, heavier feel and the clouds scudding across the horizon in the fading light of the setting sun had taken on a fall-like appearance. In reality I don't need any signs to tell me that fall has arrived. I can feel it in my blood.

The grain harvest is well underway and the countryside is dotted with fields wherein the grain is already stacked. This is the time of year when the Huncovettes begin to show up. This past week I have been taking stock during my trips throughout the country. At time of writing, Friday afternoon, I have just returned from a two day look-see in the eastern end of the Province. To date the Hungarian partridge out-look in the area checked is at least 20 per cent better than last season. Along a stretch of shoreline on a three farm width five, maybe six, acre located. One covey of nine was flushed from the sedge at water's edge. The birds in this covey were small, about the size of scraggly young robins. A second covey that rose from a patch of squat blueberry bushes held 16 or 17 well matured birds but a third bunch standing erect at the edge of a potato field, outlined clear in the evening twilight, looked as large as full grown hens.

The last covey was a beaut and must have been hatched in May or early June. There were approximately 20 in this bunch. They were not disturbed so a definite count was out of the question. Two farm youths told me that there were at least three more coveys about 30 chains to the east. I questioned them to find out whether or not they had doubled up on a covey but was satisfied they hadn't. Young farm lads are pretty sharp. They see a covey just once and can tell the number in it and also take note of the size of the birds. In southern Queens there is a farm that supports four coveys of Huncovettes 17, 18, 19 and 22 or a total of 76 birds.

Four or five miles south and east of this farm, in an area that is liberally infested with foxes, farmers have reported the coveys numerous but small in respect to their quota of birds. One is reported to hold five only and several others eight or nine and they are all well developed birds. Foxes are blamed for whittling down those coveys but before I lay the blame on anything I plan to give a well trained pointer a workout in this sector to try and ascertain if small coveys are the country. This area is where six litters of foxes were reared without in an approximate mile radius so it's quite possible that the gentleman with the red coat and black spats has something to account for. Pheasants roost at night and the great horned owl is the only predator they have to fear, barring man. Huns on the other hand, bereft of a hind toe, have no other recourse but to bed on the ground. They always keep a sentry posted but methinks on a stormy winter nights Brer Fox picks up the odd hot dinner.

Last winter there was a complaint in certain quarters that our Huns were being shot out and a cutting down on the daily bag limit was recommended. In addition it was suggested that additional

Two play-off baseball games will take place on Memorial Field Sunday afternoon. Maritime Central Airways and the Intermediate Abbies will meet in the first game which gets underway at one o'clock. In the second game the Junior Abbies and the Curran and Briggs will continue their Island Junior series.

The Junior game, which gets underway around 3:15, is the third in the Island series and a big one for both teams. The series is now tied up at one game each.

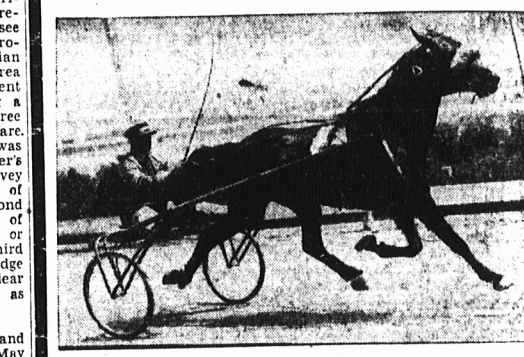

Coach Ev. MacNeill will likely start Tommy Harper on the mound and if Harper does not get the nod it will be the Abbies ace Donnie MacLean. For Curran and Briggs it will be Benny Carson who was shelled from the hill here last Sunday.

Maritime Central Airways lead the Abbies one game to none in their intermediate series as the result of M.C.A.'s 8-2 win here Thursday evening.

The veteran lefthander Jack MacAleer will start for M.C.A. Coach Fred MacCabe of the Abbies was undecided last night on which of his three righthanders Charlie Ryan, Ev. Beagan or Merlin MacKenzie will get the starting assignment.
