Editorial Notes

THE Presbyterian Witness, speaking of this city being without a liquor law of any sort says:—"Probably a community could more safely make the experiment than Charlottetown."

"We are sorry," says the Presbyterian Witness, "P. E. Island is seriously suffering for lack of hay. It is said that in some quarters cattle are actually perishing. Hay on the mainland is cheap and abundant. Quebec hay of excellent quality is sold in Halifax by the car load for $10 to $11 a ton. The quality is greatly superior to the hay usually sent to the Halifax market. It is the McKinley tariff with its $4 a ton on hay that sends Quebec dealers down this way. The I. C. D. is a benefactor in this way, by opening a new market to the Quebec farmers, and a new source of supply for the needs of the east. Were it not for this Quebec supply hay would be from $15 to $16 in Halifax this spring. Oats continue to retail at 60 cents per bushel. Oatmeal is dearer than the best wheat flour."

SPEAKING of the work of the census commissioners now preparing for work throughout Canada an exchange says:—"It is essential that correct answers be given. The questions do not pry into people's private affairs, and there are two facts which should be most widely known: (1) The enumerators and officers are all sworn to do their duty and to keep secret whatever information they receive, nothing the citizens tell them will ever be known outside the census office. (2) There will be no danger of increase of taxation from the facts being given in full to the enumerator. The assessors will not have access to the records. The standing of each county and especially of the city as to population and many other matters for the next ten years depends largely upon the thoroughness with which the census men do their work and the correctness with which the citizens answer the questions."

THE New Orleans Board of Trade has adopted resolutions thanking Parkerson and his fellow lynchers who shot the Italians in the New Orleans jail. This is Satan endorsing sin. It is safe to say, judging New Orleans by every other large city, that the state of affairs which made it possible for the Mafia to bribe or overawe the jury—if the jury was bribed and overawed—was due to the neglect of the business men, whom the Board of Trade represents, to take that interest in the management of their public concerns which the law contemplates and neglect of which can never be made up for by shooting even proven criminals like rats in a cage. Whatever way the thing is looked at the responsibility comes back to New Orleans. The good people of a community outnumber the bad every time, and it is only when the good prefer their ease to their duty that the bad can bring about an excuse for good people doing evil deeds in a good cause.—Montreal Gazette.

Fanaticism and Ambition.

LONDON, March 19.—The Times Paris correspondent deals severely with the attendant circumstances of the death scene of the late Prince Napoleon. He says: "Religious fanaticism and human ambition met at the sick bed, where modern science had prolonged a fortnight a life otherwise ended long ago. Church and throne disputed for possession of the body, which each desired to convert into a trophy. Bigotry on one side and a thirst for power on the other added prolonged horrors to the dying agony. Each had recourse to lying in order to simulate success. Public opinion is revolted by the hideous zeal of those who tortured the dying in order to make them clients of the confessional; it is revolted still more by the rebel son who persists in rebellion in order to secure ephemeral and useless power. The confessors, cardinals, nuns, and other religious persons have shown a willingness to revive all the horrors of the Middle Ages. The only one who leaves the horrible scene with a higher reputation is the Prince himself, who preserved intact his force of will to die as he had lived, with a horror of a confessor in his soul and with constant hypocrisis on his lips."

News Notes

A BARREL of smelt caught at Crawford, N. J., exploded the other day and injured a girl so badly she cannot recover. First seed has been sown at Calgary, N. W. T., and it will be general over the district next week. TWENTY-two pigs owned by Mr. Walsh Kingston, Ont., have died from disease usually designated "black rot" disease. It is spreading in that locality. JOHN GLENDENING, of Markham, Ont., has a magnificent 5-year-old Du hind heifer, which weighs 3600 lbs.—said to be the largest beef in the world. It was exhibited in Montreal at the Easter show. An Italian contractor in Ottawa says that he has emigrated through the States and Canada are arranging to meet in New Orleans shortly to avenge the recent massacre there. THE report that six Chinese lepers have been discovered in British Columbia will be investigated by the department of agriculture and if verified, Dr. Smith of Tracadie, will be sent to look after them. Just before pronouncing the benediction from the pulpit of the Lew Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Sunday evening, the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Powell, the pastor, made an announcement that he had decided to resign the ministry and devote the remainder of his life to the practice of the law. Lepthoria has often been cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, when doctors give it up. Prof. Weldon Speaks.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 18.—Professor Weldon, C. M. P. for Albert, said at a reporter today as to the future Conservative policy: "I immediately make overtures to the imperial government for larger trade with the British Islands is the party's duty." He said he did not think the British people appreciate the significance of the recent elections. They simply know that the government is sustained, but don't realize the momentous character of the issues involved. Had our people been satisfied with our trade relations the government majority should have been increased of 40. The time has now come when England must choose between allowing Canada or agreeing to an imperial tariff that will give Canadian products a preference in English markets in return for preference to British manufactures in Canadian markets. If England will not do this, annexation is not only probable, but appears to be the inevitable destiny of Canada. "But if England will agree to discriminate against foreign and in favor of Canadian lumber, barley, cheese, butter, beef and eggs, in consideration of a material lowering of Canadian duties on English manufactures, the future struggle is an easy one, but if she will not agree to such a measure of imperial reciprocity, then those of us whose dream is to maintain the empire will be fighting an uncertain battle."

"What do you think of Mr. Blake's point on the tariff question?" "Mr. Blake's letter has brought the annexation question out of the background and shadow into the foreground and light. He must be held to speak for a large part of the sounder elements of the Liberal party, and the chances that the next election will be run on the annexation question pure and simple are increased tenfold by the publication of his letter."

A P. E. Islanders Success.

Information was received here yesterday that the American Humane Education society had awarded the prize of $250 to Mr. John A. McPhail, B. A., for his essay on vivisection. There were nineteen essays submitted in competition by writers in America and England and the committee which made the award was formed from the professors of Harvard university. This society is in affiliation with the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and to obtain the results of modern scientific thought on the question of vivisection offered the sum of $500, one-half for an essay stating the arguments in favor of the practice, and the other half for a statement of the case against it. Mr. MacPhail's essay set forth the reasons why no legislation should be introduced forbidding it, and gave the regulations under which he considered vivisection should be conducted so as not to lay undue restrictions upon scientific research or inflict unjust injuries upon the lower animals. The essay will shortly be published by the society in book form and has been copyrighted under the new American act. The results aimed at are intended to guide the society in this action upon this question, as it was for this reason the prizes were awarded. The society is the most powerful of the kind and has an invested capital of half a million dollars for the prosecution of its work. The result of the competition is creditable to the writer and to the university of which he is a graduate.—Montreal Gazette.

Blood Thirsty Italians.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Frank T. Hagdon stood this morning waiting for a car. Three Italians were near him. Hagdon began to talk of the New Orleans lynching and said that every member of the Mafia should be hanged. The words had hardly been uttered when the three Italians attacked him with knives. He was severely cut about the body, and would have been killed outright had not his cries brought several men to his assistance. The Italians escaped.

Ridding the City of Lepers.

OTTAWA, March 20.—The government having taken no step toward isolating the large number of lepers who are running at large in the streets of Victoria, B. C., the council of that city is taking the matter in hand and shipping them away. The next steamer to China will carry the first instalment of lepers home to their native land. The citizens of Victoria are determined to drive them out of the city.

Trouble Made by a Baby.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Superintendent John Simpson of the Barge Office was called on yesterday to examine the widow of a Solomon, and he did it. Two women claimed the baby, and Simpson decided the dispute. In making his decision he arranged it so that both women will be with the infant.

Casimir Porso, a Russian girl, landed from the steamer Wexland. She had a nine-month-old baby, and upon arriving at the Barge office. Later in the day two well-dressed women demanded the child and the girl refused to give it up. One of the women explained that the baby belonged to her sister, Pauline Galitz, a married woman, who came as a Russian cabin passenger to meet her husband. She had been betrayed by a Russian soldier, and her baby died. She grieved so that Mrs. Galitz permitted her to take her little one and nurse it during the ocean trip.

Simpson decided the baby belonged to Mrs. Galitz, although the girl strongly protested it was her. When the well-dressed woman refused to give up the child, she was taken to the other woman, and recommended that she be retained as a servant and she gave up the child, and all departed satisfied.

Justice Stephen to be Retired.

LONDON, March 17.—The case of the Hon. Sir James Stephen, just one of the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, whose mental condition has of late been a matter of discussion, has been settled. A committee composed of the Lord Chancellor, the Master of the Rolls, and Lord Justice Coleridge, was appointed by Lord Salisbury to make an exhaustive inquiry, and Sir Andrew Clark, on behalf of the committee, reported that Justice Stephen was undoubtedly insane and consequently ought to be discharged of the duties of his office. He decided that Justice Stephen should resign, and recommended that he be retired on a pension equal to his salary, which is £5,000 a year.

Extract from a Private Letter to Beer Bros., from their Buyer. LONDON:— Since my arrival here from Paris, I find that all the important Spring Novelties are to hand, and I wish to give you some idea of the present fashions. In Hats and Bonnets the styles have undergone such a change that it is quite difficult to decide whether or not our ladies will adopt the extreme styles now in vogue. Hats are simply plates of straw, with the edges crimped in every conceivable conceit, whilst the Bonnets consist of a hole with a few bits of wire and some light material, such as tulle or crepe, puffed or shirred. There seems to be almost an unbridgeable chasm between last year's styles and the present, and the taste of our ladies will have to "rise" accordingly if they wish to wear the newest things. I have been successful in securing quite a number of first class model Hats and Bonnets which ought to interest every lady in Charlottetown. They have been bought at the right place, at the right price, and should sell right smart. Long feathers will not be used much this summer. Tips in bunches of three or more I found to be immensely used in Paris, and the same idea is just coming in favor here (London). They are placed on the back of all toques and on the front of all cepotes, and everywhere on bonnets. The season will be one of lace and flowers, with a good dash of fancy ribbons. Small flowers such as heath, lilly of the valley, lilacs, etc., are the favorites, with roses and rose piquets for lower-priced goods. Poppies also remain good. As regards color, it is gold everywhere and in everything, gold colored velvets, gold tips, gold passementeries, gold tinsel, tinsel ribbons, etc. The demand from New York for these goods has been phenomenal. It is sure to be a great Millinery season, Hats and Bonnets made from frames almost taking the lead of straw. The styles of trimming have so materially changed that I do not think there is a Milliner in Charlottetown who will be competent to undertake the best work and make it up, as it should be, without first visiting some large centre, such as Boston or New York; and I would recommend that we send our Miss A—— to one of these places at once, before taking charge of our Millinery Department in the Spring. Dress Goods, etc., in next.
