

"Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew"

Flag Fight Praised By Chief

FREDERICTON (CP)—Opposition leader Diefenbaker Friday praised the efforts of Progressive Conservative MPs during the recent flag debate in the House of Commons.

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday: "I have no apologies for that fight, I stood for a principle. You may disagree with that principle but it was there."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Conservative MPs expressed themselves in the flag debate in a way which did honor to themselves, their subject and the country.

John W. Holmes, president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs said he envisioned the Commonwealth as a link between regional blocks and a bridge of harmony among the races.

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

He told the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals here Friday at Frederictown, N.B. (CP Wirephoto).

Mr. Holmes speaking during a discussion of Canada and the world, said "the ties which hold the races and continents together are a trail and tenuous enough; all bonds which reinforce them are worthy of maintenance."

E German Nuclear Experts Defects To United States

Special Car For Queen

QUEBEC (CP)—The enclosed, bullet-proof car the Queen will ride in when she visits here Oct. 19-21 will probably be the same as the one she will use in Charlottetown, Col. J. P. Martin, co-ordinator of the visit, said Friday.

Col. Martin mentioned this is stressing there is "no question of taking measures in Quebec other than those taken in other parts of the country."

Another top spokesman said more stringent precautions were taken for the visit here of President Charles de Gaulle in 1960.

Col. Martin said there are "no secrets" about the visit and he would outline in detail Tuesday or Wednesday routes the Queen will take, the speed at which her car will move, and so on.

RCMP Inspector Maurice Nadon, chairman of a police committee on the visit, said a published report that the royal couple's car will travel at high speed and that Quebecers won't get a look at the visitors is inaccurate.

"There will be slow zones and medium zones. She won't be travelling at high speed."

Others on the committee are Director Louis Descent of the Quebec Provincial Police eastern division, and Chief Roger Lemire of city police.

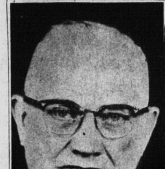

The royal cavalcade will travel mostly on the Plains d'Abraham while here, and perhaps 1,500 servicemen will line the route, although details haven't been worked out yet.

"This is a matter of courtesy and respect. They'll be there if we need them, but it's still courtesy."

There would be no question of Quebecers not getting a good look at the royal couple.

Col. Martin denied faulty the royal yacht on which the Queen will arrive from Charlottetown would remain anchored at St. Lawrence for most of the visit.

He said it would tie up a Wolfe Cove, beneath the Plains d'Abraham.

L. W. ROPER

Appointment Made To Fair Committee

Provincial livestock director Lou Roper has been appointed to the national advisory committee on agriculture for the 1967 Montreal World Exhibition.

In making the announcement yesterday, Agriculture Minister Andrew MacIsaac said his department was advised of the appointment by A. G. Kinevasser, general manager of the Canadian Corporation of the 1967 World Exhibition.

Mr. Roper will attend the first meeting of the advisory committee which will be held in Montreal, Oct. 6 and Oct. 7.

Freedmites Leader Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Florence Big Fanny Storgoff, self-styled leader of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect, is dead.

The woman who led 900 members of the Sons sect to the remote mainland last year is believed to have died from cancer.

She died in hospital here Friday far from the encampment of her brethren near Agassiz some 70 miles to the east.

Since her birth on her parents' farm at Canora, Sask., in 1908 she has moved around constantly and served time in federal penitentiaries.

A short plump woman, Big Fanny had been spokesman for the Doukhobor sect since they left their Kootenay homes over a year ago.

Red Officials Are Shocked

GENEVA (AP)—East German Premier Walter Ulbricht for years a top director of the Soviet bloc's nuclear program, as detected in a letter to the State via the United Nations, sponsored Atoms-for-Peace Conference in Geneva.

Soviet sources said Friday they were shocked by the flight of the jovial, outspoken scientist.

Western sources considered him the greatest prize the West has won in the two decades of nuclear intrigue which have seen such men as Klaus Fuchs and Italy's Dr. Bruno Pontecorvo flee to the Communists.

Announcing his arrival in the United States for political asylum, the state department said he had a special permit to speculate on to give any details of the case and good humor. One said "he is not at all like the popular image of the dry scientist."

The U.S. state department's announcement said merely that he had been granted asylum by U.S. authorities in West Germany earlier this month and asked for asylum. Barwich now is in the United States.

Prof. Von Ardenne said he had been married in 1952. He was still in East Germany. A previous marriage ended in divorce.

"I am sure that family relations played a very strong role in this decision," Von Ardenne said.

Barwich was a long-time collaborator of Von Ardenne, including the nearly 10 years they and scores of other East German scientists spent working for the Soviet at the Soviet Research Centre on the Black Sea.

Barwich, described as a strapping man whose dark hair is thinning, took over the Rosenfeld post after his return. Up until early this year, he simultaneously held the post of deputy director of the Joint Nuclear Research Institute at Dubna.

Barwich's scientific career began as an assistant to Nobel Prize winner Prof. Gustav Hertz, who worked on nuclear research during the Second World War in Berlin.

"This step shows a surprising lack of sense of duty," he said. "I think that Barwich's decision is a mistake."

Barwich was a long-time collaborator of Von Ardenne, including the nearly 10 years they and scores of other East German scientists spent working for the Soviet at the Soviet Research Centre on the Black Sea.

Barwich, described as a strapping man whose dark hair is thinning, took over the Rosenfeld post after his return. Up until early this year, he simultaneously held the post of deputy director of the Joint Nuclear Research Institute at Dubna.

Barwich's scientific career began as an assistant to Nobel Prize winner Prof. Gustav Hertz, who worked on nuclear research during the Second World War in Berlin.

"This step shows a surprising lack of sense of duty," he said. "I think that Barwich's decision is a mistake."

Barwich was a long-time collaborator of Von Ardenne, including the nearly 10 years they and scores of other East German scientists spent working for the Soviet at the Soviet Research Centre on the Black Sea.

Barwich, described as a strapping man whose dark hair is thinning, took over the Rosenfeld post after his return. Up until early this year, he simultaneously held the post of deputy director of the Joint Nuclear Research Institute at Dubna.

Barwich's scientific career began as an assistant to Nobel Prize winner Prof. Gustav Hertz, who worked on nuclear research during the Second World War in Berlin.

"This step shows a surprising lack of sense of duty," he said. "I think that Barwich's decision is a mistake."

Barwich was a long-time collaborator of Von Ardenne, including the nearly 10 years they and scores of other East German scientists spent working for the Soviet at the Soviet Research Centre on the Black Sea.

Barwich, described as a strapping man whose dark hair is thinning, took over the Rosenfeld post after his return. Up until early this year, he simultaneously held the post of deputy director of the Joint Nuclear Research Institute at Dubna.

Barwich's scientific career began as an assistant to Nobel Prize winner Prof. Gustav Hertz, who worked on nuclear research during the Second World War in Berlin.

"This step shows a surprising lack of sense of duty," he said. "I think that Barwich's decision is a mistake."

Barwich was a long-time collaborator of Von Ardenne, including the nearly 10 years they and scores of other East German scientists spent working for the Soviet at the Soviet Research Centre on the Black Sea.

Barwich, described as a strapping man whose dark hair is thinning, took over the Rosenfeld post after his return. Up until early this year, he simultaneously held the post of deputy director of the Joint Nuclear Research Institute at Dubna.

Barwich's scientific career began as an assistant to Nobel Prize winner Prof. Gustav Hertz, who worked on nuclear research during the Second World War in Berlin.

Dental Cripples Blamed On Apathy Gov't, Public

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Creditiste MPs killed a private members bill that would have legalized the use of birth control pills and devices after a highly-emotional debate in the Commons Friday.

The three Creditistes blocked the measure, introduced by Robert Pittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) and seconded by Dr. C. J. McWilliam (Liberal—Kamloops), automatically dropped to the bottom of a list of 76 private members' bills.

Charles - Arthur Gauthier

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Creditiste MPs killed a private members bill that would have legalized the use of birth control pills and devices after a highly-emotional debate in the Commons Friday.

The three Creditistes blocked the measure, introduced by Robert Pittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) and seconded by Dr. C. J. McWilliam (Liberal—Kamloops), automatically dropped to the bottom of a list of 76 private members' bills.

Charles - Arthur Gauthier

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Creditiste MPs killed a private members bill that would have legalized the use of birth control pills and devices after a highly-emotional debate in the Commons Friday.

The three Creditistes blocked the measure, introduced by Robert Pittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) and seconded by Dr. C. J. McWilliam (Liberal—Kamloops), automatically dropped to the bottom of a list of 76 private members' bills.

Charles - Arthur Gauthier

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Creditiste MPs killed a private members bill that would have legalized the use of birth control pills and devices after a highly-emotional debate in the Commons Friday.

The three Creditistes blocked the measure, introduced by Robert Pittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) and seconded by Dr. C. J. McWilliam (Liberal—Kamloops), automatically dropped to the bottom of a list of 76 private members' bills.

Charles - Arthur Gauthier

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Creditiste MPs killed a private members bill that would have legalized the use of birth control pills and devices after a highly-emotional debate in the Commons Friday.

The three Creditistes blocked the measure, introduced by Robert Pittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) and seconded by Dr. C. J. McWilliam (Liberal—Kamloops), automatically dropped to the bottom of a list of 76 private members' bills.

Charles - Arthur Gauthier

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Creditiste MPs killed a private members bill that would have legalized the use of birth control pills and devices after a highly-emotional debate in the Commons Friday.

The three Creditistes blocked the measure, introduced by Robert Pittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) and seconded by Dr. C. J. McWilliam (Liberal—Kamloops), automatically dropped to the bottom of a list of 76 private members' bills.

Charles - Arthur Gauthier

Extension Director Appointed

Rev. Allan F. MacDonald, B.S. MA., has been appointed Director of Extension for St. Dunstan's University, it was announced yesterday by Very Rev. G. A. Macdonald, president of the university.

The new director is in the sociology department at the university.

At the same time the SDU president announced the appointment of Rev. E. Van de Ven as agricultural fieldman for the department. Father Van de Ven has been attached to the Antigonish and Charlottetown dioceses in care of Dutch immigrants for the past several years.

Mr. Graham, professor of history at the University of Saskatchewan, said Canada need not become a pale shadow of the United States so long as Canadians recognize the paramount importance of holding on to the traditions and institutions inherited from Britain.

Mr. Beuchamp will arrive here about Sept. 17 to commence putting the new museum in order, "a tremendously big job," according to Mr. Williams, who added that display cases for the as yet unopened section of the complex are being built at present.

Mr. Beuchamp has an extensive knowledge of museums and of restoration, an important part of the work done in museums, the curator said. "He has worked previously for some time in Spain and India, and lately in Ottawa and British Columbia."

At the same time Mr. Williams announced the acquisition for display in the Art Gallery's main floor of a large mobile by the sculptor, W. D. West. The mobile, of colorful modern design, will suspend from the beehive ceiling of the gallery. It is 14 feet tall and 13 feet in diameter.

Retired Quebec Justice Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—Joseph Archambault, retired justice of the Quebec Superior Court and one-time Member of Parliament, died Friday. He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

Assistant Curator Appointed For Art Gallery At 'Centre'

MONTREAL (CP)—Joseph Archambault, retired justice of the Quebec Superior Court and one-time Member of Parliament, died Friday. He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

He was 86. Mr. Archambault, who retired from the Superior Court in 1956 after 38 years, was chairman of a federal royal commission from 1959 to 1958 into Canada's penal system.

Ship Afire Sends SOS

NEW YORK (AP)—A 572-foot American freighter was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

The ship was burning furiously in the Atlantic Friday night and the U.S. Coast Guard reported a tanker was taking aboard her crew.

A coast guard aircraft, circling the scene 270 miles off Cape Charles, Va., reported the vessel's crew had taken to the water in boats and a tanker was picking them up.

Three Killed In N.B. Crash

FREDERICTON (CP)—Three persons were killed and one seriously injured Friday night in a two-car head-on collision on Route Two, six miles from here.

Dead are Dale Armand Jordan, 18, of nearby Kingsclear, and Ulo Goss, 22 and Mirna Thomas, 21, both of Nashwaakville, N.B. Curtis Kelly, 17, also of Kingsclear, was in serious condition in hospital here.

Jordan and Kelly were occupants of one car which collided with a two-car head-on collision on Route Two, six miles from here.

There was no decision on a lawsuit.