What It Was For.
Mr. Green—Now, I'm going to tell you something, Ethel. Do you know that last night, at your party, your sister promised to marry me? I hope you'll forgive me for taking her away!
Little Ethel—Forgive you, Mr. Green! Of course I will. Why, that's what the party was for!—Punch.

A Straight Tip.
"You had better not go boating with sister," said Tommy to his sister's beau.
"Why not, Tommy?"
"Cause I heard her say she intended to throw you overboard soon."—St. Louis Star.

Delicately Put.
He would not say that she painted, powdered and all that. He was too much of a gentleman for that.
"Still I may as well confess," he said, "that she impressed me as one who thinks she can improve upon the Lord's handiwork."—Chicago Post.

INDIAN AND TIGER.
A Clever Trick by Which the Former Outwitted the Latter.
According to a good and true tiger story in Cornhill, an Indian who had learned some of the elementary principles of jugglery and contortion went out one evening to walk upon a ridgy plain. When he reached the top of one of the mounds, he saw a tiger ahead of him, 500 or 600 yards away. Before the man could hide behind a mound the tiger had seen him and began to bound toward him at its topmost speed.
Having no means of defense, there was nothing for the man to do but to race for the nearest tree, but though he tried it and put forth his utmost strength the tiger steadily gained upon him.
What was he to do? In sheer desperation he resolved upon an unusual scheme. Just as he disappeared for an instant from the tiger's sight in running over a ridge he halted, stretched out his legs at right angles, curled down his head so as to look between his legs to the rear and extended his arms upward in a fantastic manner, like the sails of a windmill.
In a few seconds the tiger hove in sight, and at that instant the face of the object assumed a hideous grimace. A prolonged yell arose, such as had perhaps never before pierced the ear of any tiger, and the sails of the windmill began to revolve backward and forward as if a sudden whirlwind had burst upon the scene.
The tiger recoiled. What, he evidently thought, is this? There stood a ferocious star shaped monster, gigantic against the sky. Its hideous head was situated in the very center of its body—nay, its viselike jaws, between which those fiendish roars were issuing, were actually placed above its two fiery eyes. Its limbs were furiously clamoring for action, and the man he had been chasing, where was he? Already devoured by this terrible beast? The tiger could not pause to reflect. He turned tail, and as he disappeared over a friendly ridge a last awful yell caused him to redouble his pace. He was conquered by the unknown.

Corset Flushing

No wonder corset steels slip out when "Flushing" is mere sham. Genuine flushing is done by hand and the silk stitches show both out and inside.
Examine any ordinary corset and you find silk "flushing" on the outside and cotton stitches on the inside. Of course, such work is only imitation of the real hand work that tells in the durability of a corset. The celebrated French, tailor cut hand-sewed, light spring steel boned corset, the
