Friday morning. The Greyhound was insured in the United States, and had a full and valuable freight on this voyage. The value of the freight alone to the owners was estimated at about three thousand dollars, on which there was an insurance of only twelve hundred dollars. There was a very large amount of property on board for Charlottetown—full supplies to our merchants and others; and we regret to hear that only a small portion of it was insured. We fear that the loss will fall heaviest upon those least able to bear it; but we hope the calamity is not such as will be seriously detrimental to them. Up to the time we write we have not received full particulars touching this disastrous shipwreck.

DR. CULLEN DENOUNCES THE FENIANS.

The Catholic Primate of Ireland, Dr. Cullen, has issued a very lengthy Pastoral Address, in which he severely condemns Fenianism, in the following terms:—

"As to what is called Fenianism, you are aware that, looking on it as a compound of folly and wickedness, wearing the mask of patriotism to make dupes of the unwary, and as the work of a few fanatics or knaves, wicked enough to jeopardize others in order to promote their own sordid views, I have repeatedly raised my voice against it since it first became known at the time of M'Manus's funeral, four years ago; and that I cautioned young men against promising or swearing obedience to strangers with whom they were altogether unacquainted, putting themselves at the mercy of plotting spies and treacherous informers, and risking their lives and liberty, and endangering the lives of others, in attempting to carry out projects, hopeless in themselves, which, doing no good to any class, might involve the country in ruin and bloodshed. Would to God that more attention had been paid to such friendly admonitions! If they had been listened to, we would not have to regret that so many young men are suffering the hardships of prison, and their families overwhelmed with affliction, while their seducers are far away from danger, laughing at the simplicity of their dupes, and enjoying the wages of iniquity. But even if no advice had been given—if you, rev. brethren, in your affection for your flocks, had not cautioned them against Fenianism, should not those who were called on to join it have raised the following questions:—Who are its leaders? What public services have they rendered to the country? What claim have they to demand our confidence? Would they sacrifice others to promote their own sordid views? Are they men of religion? Are they men remarkable for their sobriety, their good conduct, and attention to their own affairs? Have they been successful in business? Are they men to whom we would lend money, or trust the management of our property? Were they to succeed, would they be good rulers and good magistrates? Would they better the condition of the country, or rather, as needy and desperate adventurers are always disposed to do, would they not introduce despotism and a system of confiscation, and the spoliation of all property public and private? In the case of the leaders of the Fenians, if these questions had been seriously considered, no men of sense would have joined their ranks. Nay, more, if the charges lately made against the originators of the movement had been made known, every one would have been filled with alarm at their introduction into the country; for they are said to have proposed nothing less than to destroy the faith of our people by circulating works like those of the impious Voltaire, to preach up socialism, to seize the property of those who have any, and to exterminate both the gentry of the country and the Catholic clergy. Whatever is to be said of such fearful accusations, which we hope are only founded on vague report, it is too certain that the managers of the Fenian paper, called the Irish People, made it a vehicle of scandal, and circulated in its columns most pernicious and poisonous maxims. Fortunately, they had not the wit nor the talents of Voltaire: but according to appearances, they did not yield to him in anxiety to do mischief, and in malice. And hence, it must be admitted, that for suppressing that paper the public authorities deserve the thanks and gratitude of all those who love Ireland, its peace, and its religion. But, omitting all reference to persons, and leaving it to the courts of justice to determine what the legal merit of Fenianism may be, I again beg of you, ven. brethren, to act as you have done for the past, making every effort to save your flocks from the contamination of all secret societies."

The Archbishop does not, however, deny that Ireland has many causes of grievance, and says:—

"But are we, then, never to seek for the redress of grievances? Are we to sit in silence, like Mahomedan fatalists, under the lash of the oppressor, without complaining, or without seeking for justice? Certainly not. Nothing is more conformable to reason and religion than to expose our sufferings to those in power, and to call on them for relief.

If the people of Ireland were fairly dealt with, revolutions and conspiracies, White boys and Fenians, would no longer be heard of; the people would be happy and peaceable, and a source of strength to the empire at large; it would not be necessary to increase the military and police and to double the taxation."

THANKSGIVING. — The last Royal Gazette contains a Proclamation by his Honor the Administrator of the Government, setting apart Wednesday the 29th instant, as a day of General Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessing of a bountiful harvest.

STEAMSHIP VICTORIA.—Intelligence was received here by telegraph on Friday at half-past one o'clock, to the effect, that the steamship Queen Victoria had been driven ashore at Cape Tormentine. We presume that this is the fine vessel of that name which formed one of the Canadian Provincial line.

THE Hon. Chief Justice Parker, of New Brunswick, was, at latest accounts, dangerously ill at St John, N. B.

THE Hon. George Brown, the President of the Executive Council of Canada, is now on a visit to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, to confer with the Government of those Provinces with the view to carrying out the intentions of the Intercolonial Free Trade Convention which assembled at Quebec in September last. We are afraid that Mr. Brown will be trying his hand at carrying out the principles of another Convention, which was inaugurated at Quebec in October, and we suspect that the Governments of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will now give him a patient hearing on that matter.

P. E. ISLAND PRODUCE AT HALIFAX.—The Halifax Morning Chronicle of Thursday last says:—A considerable quantity of apples arrived here yesterday from Annapolis. This fruit is at present both scarce and dear in the market. The schr. Rocket brought 1050 barrels, and the schr. Hope, 900 barrels of apples. P. E. Island produce is also coming in freely. Yesterday the schr. Alert, from the Island, brought 1000 bushels of potatoes, 1000 bushels of oats, besides a quantity of turnips. The schr. Braco, from the same place, brought 2000 bushels of potatoes, 1000 bushels of oats, besides a lot of butter and oysters. The schr. Vista brought 1300 bushels of oats, 677 bushels of barley, and 960 bushels of potatoes.

PORK.—A large amount of Pork has been brought into Market within the past few days. On Tuesday last, it was said that at least four hundred hogs were brought into this City, and were readily disposed of at high prices. On Thursday morning we heard a merchant say it was computed that there was one thousand Hogs in the City waiting an opportunity to be shipped. The Steamer Princess of Wales took over to Pictou on Thursday morning, to be transported overland to Halifax, fourteen thousand seven hundred and eighty-three pounds Pork, in Hogs. Three times that amount was shipped in the same Steamer for Shediac, on their way to Boston, on Friday morning.—Isl.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE, for October, has come to hand, and appears to be a very excellent No. The first paper in it: "Memoirs of the Confederate War for Independence," is a sparkling, and, in some places, a thrilling production, from the pen of a Prussian Officer attached to the Staff of General J. E. B. Stuart. It covers a large space in this No. of Blackwood, but the reader's attention, once he enters into the spirit of it, can never flag, so happily does the author narrate the numerous incidents and conflicts on the battle fields of the South. The history of the Confederate War is entirely viewed from a Southern stand-point. — The account of the laying of the Atlantic Cable, which concludes the No., is quite interesting—somewhat chatty and gossipping in its style—not the production of a master pen; but still it is very pleasant reading. We have not read the other articles in this No. of Blackwood, but we have no doubt they serve well to sustain the reputation of this popular periodical.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION AND LITERARY INSTITUTE.—Hon. Dr. Young, the President of the Association, delivered his lecture on "Patriotism," on Thursday evening last. He addressed himself first to the grounds upon which patriotism rests, and then to the duties to which it calls. He earnestly pressed upon young men the duty of devoting their talents and their zeal to the advancement of their country's best interests whether it be their adopted country or their native land. In concluding, he appealed to his audience not to forget that whilst they should exert themselves to advance their country's prosperity, that there was another land to which they should be travelling, even a heavenly country, the attainment of which required due preparation now. The lecture was not lengthy on account of the brief period which Dr. Young had for preparation, but was both pleasing and instructive. It was at one time anticipated that a stranger would have been the lecturer for this week, but in this expectation the Committee were disappointed, and Dr. Young deserves the thanks of the Association for stepping in and supplying the vacancy, by delivering such a lecture at so short a notice. A somewhat animated and interesting discussion followed the lecture. It turned principally upon the question whether patriotism was a feeling originally implanted in the soul by the Creator, or the result of the combination of a number of principles, in the mind, brought into exercise by the circumstances, in which the individual may be placed.

The next lecture will be delivered on Tuesday evening by the Rev. Simon McGregor, of Picton, Nova Scotia—his subject being "James Montgomery and Religious Poetry." We trust that the meeting of the Association on Tuesday evening will be well attended; and from our knowledge of the Lecturer's abilities and tastes, we promise those who will attend a literary treat.—PAT.

Maury, is authorized to appoint seven agents of colonization in the following States and cities in the United States: Virginia, North and South Carolina, Texas, Missouri, California, New Orleans, Mobile. Said agents shall receve one hundred dollars per month as compensation, and the further sum of three hundred dollars per annum for necessary expenses."

COLONIAL INTELLIGENCE.

A TRAGIC AFFAIR. — On Friday evening last, a terrible affair occurred at Petite Cote, whereby a little girl named Stella Cressy, aged eight years, came to her death at the hands of a young man named Abraham M. Jackson. From the evidence adduced before the Coroner, we learn the following particulars:—Mr. Cressy, father of deceased, was away from home; and Mrs. McKellar, the house-keeper, and the rest of the family feared that an attempt would be made to rob the house in his absence, as an attempt had previously been made to break in. Wm. H. Cressy and Jackson took with them two loaded guns when they went to bed. Mrs. McKellar retired to her room about half-past seven, p. m., at which time deceased was lying asleep on the kitchen floor. Her sister told her to go to bed, but instead of doing so she went to the parlor and lay down on the lounge. About half-past 11, Mrs. McKellar heard a noise in the parlor and called the boys to get up, that there were robbers in the house. Jackson heard the alarm, got out of bed and seized his gun, without arousing his bedfellow, deceased's brother, and called out to know who was there, and not receiving an answer, fired at the figure he saw in the dim light. When a lamp was procured, it was found that the little girl was quite dead. The whole charge of shot struck the unfortunate child on the front of the chin, taking a backward course toward the spine. It shattered to pieces all the right portion of the trachea and œsophagus, as well as the carotid artery, veins and nerves, and tore away all the root of the tongue and the muscles of the neck, the child could not have been more than two feet from the muzzle of the gun, as her face was much burned with powder. Jackson was arrested under the Coroner's warrant, and sent to jail to await his trial. The affair has caused a deep gloom.—Windsor Record, C. W.

PREPARATIONS FOR DEFENCE IN CANADA.—The Quebec Mercury of the 11th says: "Heavy stores of different kinds are about to arrive by the steamship Thames from London, shortly due at this port. Large quantities of cannon are also coming to Quebec for distribution to every part of the Provinces, and reinforcements of troops are expected to follow without delay. All leave to officers of Her Majesty's troops in Canada has been stopped, and officers now absent from those regiments stationed here are ordered to at once rejoin their several commands. The 60th Rifles, now at Montreal, together with two Batteries of Field Artillery, are ordered to proceed forthwith to Upper Canada."

Canada must be an extraordinary prosperous country just at present, if we may judge by the report of its newspapers—a veritable land 'flowing with milk and honey.' A week ago we gave some extracts from a Kingston paper confirming this belief, and showing the causes of the unwonted prosperity, and here we have more of the same kind. The first is from the Globe, which, makes the following statement in a recent issue:

"Capital is abundant in Toronto. An emigrant from Scotland brought a few thousand pounds with him, and while looking about for land, desired to place his money at interest for a few months. He went to various loan companies, but they declined to receive his money on any terms, and the manager of one told him that he had between thirty and forty thousand dollars lying in the bank, for which he could find no employment. Our friend was thereupon induced to leave his money in the bank, receiving as interest four per cent per annum, if he does not draw it within three months, and nothing if he does.

And another, from a Quebec paper:

A fact indicative of the prosperity of the country (by reason of the good harvest and high prices) is, that no less a sum than one hundred and eighty thousand dollars has been paid during the past month into a Canadian financial institution, for the release of mortgages.

The Quebec Daily News learns that the Canadian Government are about to thoroughly recognize and equip the volunteer active force throughout the Province, and raise it to a standard of greater efficiency. The volunteers are each to receive $4 as back pay in addition to the regular $8 a year and $3 for clothing.

A Barrington (N. S.) correspondent of the Yarmouth Herald informs that paper, that on Saturday before last, three young men left Woods Harbor in a boat for their homes on Cape Island. When within a mile of the Island, the boat was upset by a squall. Two of the young men were seen by their friends for a short time clinging to the bottom of the boat, but were washed off before assistance could reach them.

England is not wanting, it says, in material from which recent Liberal losses might be supplied..... Earl Russell was not likely to unlearn the lesson of his life, to change the course, and forfeit the importance he had secured in the memory of his countrymen. The Chancellor hoped the country had a reasonable assurance, that the wise and enlightened policy of the last thirty years would still continue to be followed by those who had the responsibilities and direction of public affairs..... TRIAL FOR MURDER AT HALIFAX. — Three of the crew of the brig Zero were placed on their trial, at Halifax, on Thursday, 9th inst., for the murder of the captain of that vessel on the high seas recently. The cabin-boy, Frank Howard Stockwell, an intelligent lad of fifteen, turned Queen's evidence, and gave his testimony in a very lucid and satisfactory manner. The boy's evidence, was corroborated by that of another of the crew, a German named Meyerbere. The trial closed on Friday. The jury, after an absence of nearly two hours, returned a unanimous verdict of Guilty against Douglas, the mate, and Dowsey, the colored cook, and acquitted the German, William Lambracht. The boy and the Germans are detained in custody to answer the charge of scuttling the vessel.—Bulletin.

Mason, Esquire, received intelligence by letter on the 10th November, of her arrival at Liverpool. We are happy to find that the art of shipbuilding is reaching such perfection amongst us. Baltimore clippers will soon be heard of no more, in view of the rising glory of Island swifters.—Pat.
