JULY 15, 1895.

THE LOBSTER FISHERY.

In this connection, it is pleasing to be able to publish the following letter addressed to Alexander Martin, Esq., of Valleyfield:

Ottawa, 4th July, 1895. DEAR SIR, - Referring to your letter of 24th ultimo, I beg to say that in view of the widespread appeals for an extension of the lobster season, based chiefly on the prevalence of stormy weather, I decided upon a general extension of ten days all round. Hence the whole of Prince Edward Island will have a lobster season this year extending to July 25th, without discrimination in favor of any particular locality. This appears the fairest course under the circumstances, and will, I hope, prove a substantial benefit.

I return the letters you submitted for my perusal.

Yours faithfully, JOHN COSTIGAN, Alex. Martin, Esq., Valleyfield, P. E. I.

This shows that Mr. Martin is alive to the interests of those who will, ere long, be his constituents. The results have proved that Mr. Martin is influential for good now. He will be more influential for good when he goes to Ottawa or corresponds with the Government departments as the people's representative.

MODERATE AND REASONABLE COUNSEL.

MR. LAURIER has, by "living low," won the supporters of extremists of both sides of the Manitoba School Question. Martin, McCarthy and Tarte, and those who followed them, are all working and voting unscrupulously, together upon this question for the purpose of ousting the administration of Sir McKenzie Bowell. By the way, if they succeed, what kind of a Government of Canada could Mr. Laurier form? It may be that a consideration of this point will cause moderate and reasonable, and justice-loving men, on both sides, to rally to the support of the Government of Sir McKenzie Bowell. We are glad to note that independent newspapers, such as the Week, of Toronto, and the Star, of Montreal, sympathize strongly with the Government. The Star, to hand this morning, says:

"The worst misfortune that could happen to Canada would be for its political divisions to be drawn upon sectarian lines. Had the French ministers persisted in retiring the result would have been to precipitate a general election, with a reasonable certainty of the new parliament being less favorable to the Government than the old one. It is difficult to see in what way a revolt of the French Conservatives could promote the interests of the Roman Catholic minority in Manitoba, it is difficult to see that by wrecking the Government on this issue the spirit of conciliation and concession which now prevails among the vast majority of Protestant conservatives might have been weakened or destroyed. A question involving respect for the rights of a religious minority and respect for the autonomy of a province, two principles now brought into real or apparent conflict, cannot be too delicately handled. Such a problem is not to be solved by 'blows and gibes and sneers' nor even by the clamours of noisy extremists. It is eminently desirable that Federal interference in provincial affairs should only be adopted as a last resort. A conference, not a correspondence, between the Dominion and Manitoba Governments ought to render Federal interference unnecessary. The Manitoba Government is aware of the fact that the courts for many years, and the spirit of the Privy Council's judgment rests at Ottawa, and that it is intended to exercise that power. Under such circumstances, the Province Government would maintain its own dignity and consult the interests of its electorate by meeting the Ottawa Government in a spirit of friendly, mutual concession. The Dominion Government has manifested such a spirit even at the cost of jeopardizing the election. For many reasons it is preferable that the Manitoba Legislature, rather than Parliament should deal with this question. A remedial law enacted at Ottawa, with more or less haste, would become part of the constitution, and no matter what its imperfections, would be almost impossible of amendment. Be it good or bad, it would most assuredly have to run the gamut of the courts for many years, and during all that time would keep alive passions and prejudices that had better be allowed to die. The enforcement of a Federal law by Federal machinery, and the imposition and collection of a separate school tax by Federal officers are all evils that in the interests of the whole people of Manitoba ought, if possible, to be avoided."

This article is in the right spirit. We trust that the bulk of the people, Grits and Tories, Protestants and Catholics, will see the matter in this light. Instead of trying to make party capital out of the Manitoba School Question, Mr. Laurier ought to fulfill his promise to influence his friend Greenway to settle it.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Boston Commonwealth gives a list of thirty-two words which have been adopted into English from the language of the North American Indians of various races. The list includes hominy, moccasin, succash, quahog, toboggan, caribou, and papoose. A contemporary says it speaks that this is "but a trivial record of the entire vocabulary of the once powerful aborigines of our country. One trouble with the list is that it is not complete. Besides, it is not the text of a language that its words should be adopted by the English people. There are not many Helweg words other than proper names in common use among the English people, and Helweg is not a despised language. The Indian tongues are still live languages and may yet lead to the English people some valuable expressions."

St. John Sun: It has not yet become necessary for Mr. Laurier and his friends to take a position on the question, and therefore the breach of the party is not exposed. On the question of the adjournment of the house, which is the only one upon which Mr. Laurier appears to be able to declare himself, it is not difficult to keep a party united. But Mr. Laurier can hardly make of the adjournment of the house of commons an issue on which to appeal for support to the people of Canada. He has gone to the country on a Helweg, with indifferent success. He did better as a Mercierite, and not very well as a com-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

MANAGEMENT OF THE SOUTHPORT. Sir, - I want to warn the readers of your paper against a bogus advertisement that has been in some of the Charlottetown papers all summer, and at the same time tell them about the wicked way the Public Works Department manages one branch of the service, viz., the steamers Southport, which, under the present Government, is one of the greatest humbugs ever foisted upon a patient public.

This boat is advertised to leave the Ferry Wharf every Thursday, at 4 p. m., but she does not go on Thursday, 4th inst. I sent down some freight to her in Charlottetown, and also some to W. R. Bridge for the return trip. My goods had to lay on the wharf all night, and as I was in town myself and expected to be home by the boat of course got left too. Then, as the Commissioner of Public Works was inaccessible, I hunted up members of the Government and had them promise to have the boat righted, but as they were in the middle of the night, and as I was in town myself and expected to be home by the boat of course got left too. Then, as the Commissioner of Public Works was inaccessible, I hunted up members of the Government and had them promise to have the boat righted, but as they were in the middle of the night, and as I was in town myself and expected to be home by the boat of course got left too.

I only give this experience as a sample one and assure you that I am not the only one who suffers continually, but every business man who is unfortunate enough to have to use this means of communication with Charlottetown has similar grievances.

I will not bother you this time by relating how badly our goods have been handled and strewn about and how sometimes they are not taken at all (the excuse then is, we ought to ship on Thursday and avoid the rush on market day) or by explaining how Captain McDougall is not altogether to be blamed in this matter. But you will hear from me again if this grievance is not removed or if someone has the hardihood to try to defend the management of this boat.

I write to you, Mr. Editor, because I know you will be interested (as we can get no sympathy from Government men) when you hear that the people here are not going to stand such usage peacefully. You know how much they are worried and disappointed by this kind, coupled with financial loss, will quickly change a man's very nature, beginning, of course, with his politics.

Yours truly, J. A. ROBERTSON.

SCOTTISH GATHERING.

Sir, - The programme for the Scottish Gathering starts at the Steam Navigation Co. will issue return tickets from Pictou to the grounds at Charlottetown for $1.25, but no mention is made of return tickets from Point du Chene to the grounds. This omission should be remedied without delay, so that visitors from Northumberland may take advantage of reduced fares.

COUNCILLOR TANTON'S ANSWER TO THE GUARDIAN.

To The Editor of The Guardian. Sir, - It is an excellent indication of the extreme hopelessness of your position when you resort to the expedient of substituting "invidious" for argument and rhetorical nonsense for sober common sense. In one of your windy flourishes you ask "why had Councillor Tanton the right to open envelopes which when done by other Councillors amounts to the crime of manhandling or plundering?" Would it not have been better for you before making this statement to first establish the fact that "done so?" Your mere statements of fact carries with it no more weight than would an utterance from one of your inspirers. Councillor Tanton says "stood on his rights, he stood on his dignity." If your contention were truthful and well advised, my position, even then, would be infinitely more desirable than that of the editor of a semi-religious paper wielding the literary cudgels of a corner-lover in preference to assuming the attitude of a gentleman. Perhaps, however you are not altogether blatherworthy. The slang-whanger, if a student of Dickens, is to some extent supposed to use classical, seen in the use of language most commonly used over a swill-put. If your intentions were honest you would use facts as you find them instead of "making them to order" - you would have applied your objections, if you had cause to object, against all members of the Public Property Committee instead of singling out Councillor Tanton as the special object of your "intolerable personal spleen." I looked for honest straightforward fairness from you, never realizing the great difficulty of curing such a commodity from one under the thumb, eye and inspiration of the dignified "ST" of the City Council. Sair-ent, invidio and ill-advised character selections may tickle your fancies and humor the little ring of marauders. It does not take much to please such calibre. I would suggest for their next incursion that they raid a 10-cent toy store and provide themselves a rattle each for private amusement and a toy parrot, a nicely painted one, one that can "talk-talk," and after christening Micaela's "Tom Pepper," solemnly present it to the editor of The Guardian.

PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Motions of Want of Confidence.

Cranks and Extremists of Both Sides "Agin' the Government" - Moderate and Reasonable Men Support the Government.

OTTAWA, July 14.

Although prorogation is within sight, the expiring days of the session are not without interest to the political student.

Three motions of want of confidence are to be submitted by Mr. Laurier, Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Dupont respectively. The nature of the motions of the leaders of the Grits and Third parties has been announced. Mr. Dupont's motion will contain the Government for not having introduced a remedial law this session, as promised. The two resolutions of Mr. McCarthy and Dupont, squarely challenge the policy of the Government on the school question.

Mr. Laurier is framed in the spirit of the cognomen which the Blackfeet Indians are said to have applied to the Opposition Leader. His new name is "Oonka hah mah mah no," which being interpreted, means, "Man afraid to say what he thinks."

The chief interest centres in Mr. McCarthy's motion. The leader of the third party desires to make a lot of Conservatives, representing strongly Protestant constitutions, as uncomfortable as possible. If Mr. McCarthy expects a considerable support to his resolution, he will be woefully disappointed. The general impression in the lobbies is that he will hardly get more than a corporal's guard from the Conservative ranks to vote with him.

The supporters of the Government rightfully take the ground that, as the ministerial policy is before the country, the Government having asked for six months' time in order to give Manitoba a chance to settle the School Question, there is no necessity to prejudice the case this session.
