

Hockey Fever At High Pitch In Montague On Eve Of Game With S'ide

"Hockey fever has reached an all time high in Montague as the Primroses prepare to take on the Summerside Aces at the Montague rink tonight in the final game of the Island intermediate 'B' title. There is no doubt whatever that the game will be attended by a capacity crowd that will give the Primroses the benefit of vocal and moral support in their quest for their first Island title since 1934.

The Primroses are two goals down in the two-game total goal series as a result of the Aces 5-3 victory in Summerside on Monday night, but according to reports out of Summerside, Montague outplayed the Aces in that game by a wide margin and only spectacular work by Dave MacInnis in the Summerside rink saved his team from a drubbing. This, along with the fact that they will be playing before a home town crowd has inspired the team with confidence and club officials feel that Montague can take the measure of the lads from the western capital.

However, no one underestimates the Aces. They have a sound sharp club both defensively and offensively, that had to be plenty

The Rangers held the Atlantic Coast Senior Hockey League champions to a 2-2 standoff for two periods but the Hawks erupted for six goals in the last frame.

American Girls Lead In Ladies Figure Skating

REGINA (CP)—World champion Tenley Albright and Hayes Jenkins added a touch of daring to the stiff mechanics of compulsory skiff figures Tuesday to lead contestants in the North American figure skating championships here.

Miss Albright, 19-year-old student from Boston, received points as high as 9.5 of a possible 10 from judges for some of her figures, completing six perfect tracings on the ice of exhibition stadium.

The figures count 60 per cent in singles events. The free skating counts 40 per cent of possible points, and skaters are free to add innovations. They will be held tonight.

Miss Albright had a 42-point lead over Carol Heiss of New York who was in second place in women's singles. Hayes Jenkins led his younger brother, David, by 63 points.

SKATER ILL
Canada's entries in singles events was cut to one skater in each division when Sonja Currie the Trophy ever since it came into competition some four seasons ago. Other members of the Charlottetown rink are mate, Pauline Burden, second stone, Rosemary Hill, and lead, Nora MacDonald.

After a three day rest, following one of the most hectic weeks in the National Hockey League's history, four teams, two of which are leading Stanley Cup contenders, swing back into action tonight in Boston and St. Louis.

The fourth place Bruins play host to the Detroit Red Wings in the Boston Gardens while the Black Hawks host the New York Rangers in St. Louis.

It is a great place to be in for both the Red Wings and the Bruins and a win for either could mean a great deal in as far as the Stanley Cup semi-finals are concerned. Should the Bruins display the style tonight which beat the Canadiens in their last game, they may have a good chance to slip into third place, one point in front of the idle Maple Leafs. The Wings on the other hand were also flying in their last appearance as they dumped the Leafs 6-1 while Terry Sawchuk was making over top honors in the Veitch Trophy race.

A win for the Wings tonight will mean a tie for first place with the also idle Canadiens. So this and each of the remaining game in the NHL are big ones.

Legend: A—Alberton; M—Montague; S—Summerside; C—Charlottetown.

Mr. Doug Hill, well-known Charlottetown sportsman, was pleasantly surprised early last evening when he received a long distance telephone call from Sydney, Nova Scotia. At the other end of the wire was Kevin Conway, a good friend of Doug's, and defenseman of the world hockey champion Penticon Vs who returned to Canada by air yesterday.

The V's were forced to return to the States when the base at Fonger, Newfoundland became fogged in and therefore impossible for landing operations. As so many fans remember Kevin was a star performer with the Islanders several years back and made many acquaintances while in the States while here. To each and everyone of them, Kevin wishes to say hello. During the world tournament Kevin was picked as one of the All-Star defensemen of the universal meet and it is our pleasure on behalf of Island fans to congratulate Kevin and the rest of the V's on their fine showing and to wish them the best in their future years in the game. The V's will return to their western domain to attempt to uphold the honor which they won last year by capturing the Allan Cup, emblematic of Canadian senior hockey supremacy.

Yesterday we mentioned something about the calibre of hockey players that played in the Atlantic Coast Senior Hockey League this year. Our attention was in regard to the calibre of players that Dugger McNeill had brought into Moncton. Dugger, however, was not the only one to bring in some fine men. As a matter of fact every team in the league had some new faces that proved to have the ability to play the game with probably the best future in the game and the one that we would name as "Rookie of the Year." If there was such a thing in the ACSHL, would be Rammers' right-winger Henri Therrien. Hank came to Lou Kiley's team from the Junior Three Rivers Red Sox Quebec. When he came to Amherst, Hank was only 19 years old and while there celebrated his 20th birthday. Hank was the Rammers highest scorer, collecting a total of 36 goals. He also had 24 assists to give him a total of 60 points in his first year in senior play. Hank out-scored his closest Amherst teammate, Dave Kiley, by 10 goals and equalled Buck Whitlock's number to tie in third place in the league's scoring honors. This Ontario youth should go places in hockey if he gets a couple of years of the proper guidance from an experienced coach. Another chap just out of junior ranks is Hawks' Yvon Houle. A Quebec City native, Yvon collected 20 goals and 30 assists to rank fourth in Dugger's scoring column and fifth in the Hawks' point-getters.

Back here on the Island it was learned last evening that the five members of the Charlottetown Islanders, who were charged with assault and one thing or another following the fourth game of the ACSHL finals in Moncton, have pleaded guilty and have been fined $150.00 each for their actions. Only five of the former six were fined when it was discovered earlier in the week that Wimpy Jones was not one of the men most seriously involved in the riot and so the courts dropped his charges. Now the guys who live outside the province can finally return to their homes and it is doubtful whether or not they will ever return to a league in which Moncton is entered again.

Hats off to the Kay Johnston rink which yesterday captured the Carl E. Crockett Trophy and the Prince Edward Island ladies' curling championship for the first time. Play was held at the Summerside rink which had housed

Some 200 persons gave a gay welcome to the Vs as they alighted from their big Trans-Canada Air Lines plane.

Other well-wishers waited at the domestic terminal where an informal civic reception was to be held. A steady drizzle did not dampen their mood. The plane, running 40 minutes late, landed here to refuel, and was scheduled to remain about three hours before continuing its westward trip.

MAYOR Jean Drapeau was on hand to make individual presentations to the players. The plane carried 26 persons—20 players and six officials and fans.

Prominent among the greeters were several members of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, who met the Vs with slaps on the back and hearty handshakes.

The Vs began their triumphant tour in England Feb. 14 and blanked Russia 5-0 in the final game of the world championships at Krefeld, Germany, March 6.

Lindsay May Return To Game

DETROIT (CP)—Officials of the Detroit Red Wings said Tuesday Ted Lindsay, veteran left-winger and team captain, may be back in action for Thursday's all-important game at Montreal.

Lindsay was injured in a collision with a Chicago defenceman in last Saturday's National Hockey League game.

Doctors said at first he would be out of action for 14 days. It was feared at first that Lindsay had suffered torn shoulder muscles but doctors reported the muscle was only bruised.

The league leadership will be at stake when the Red Wings and Canadiens tangle in Montreal Thursday. The Canadiens now hold a two-point margin over the Wings. The two teams will also meet in Detroit Sunday.
