EDGEHILL IS FLOURISHING.

The New Principal of the Girls School is Miss Blanche L. Lefroy.

(Halifax Herald.)

Edgill, which in seven years has become a big institution with nearly eighty pupil boarders and a large contingent of governesses, was to-day in a flutter of excitement awaiting the official announcement of the name and standing of the new lady principal. Dean Partridge, of Fredericton, presided in the absence of the bishop in England. The buildings and grounds as usual were in perfect order, the gardens, grass plots and lawn tennis courts lovely in their exceptional greenness owing to the unusually rainy weather in May, which induced a remarkable growth of vegetation.

The suite of music teaching and music practice rooms, together with the new studio, were open to the public for the first time, and excited much commendation for their fitness for practical work and vast improvement over the old order of things. The art room, with upwards of 300 illustrations of the work of the students, was a great attraction. The work offered for inspection does credit to pupils and teachers, and Miss Shaver, who presides over the art department, has made her mark at Edgill.

A large gathering listened in the morning to Dean Partridge's address, delivered in the new assembly hall, an imposing addition to the establishment, capable of holding some 700 people.

After some kindly words, mingled with regret at Miss Machin's retirement, Dean Partridge said:

"Miss Blanche L. Lefroy is the name of our new lady principal, and these are some of her qualifications: (1.) University of Cambridge—certificate in the theory, history and practice of teaching; (2.) University of Cambridge—higher certificate in English language and literature, French English history, arithmetic, political economy. Miss Lefroy has been for four years assistant teacher, and for ten subsequent class mistress, at Cheltenham ladies' college, also during twelve years house governess in one of the boarding houses attached to the college, and in charge of twenty-five girls.

Following Dean Partridge a letter from Bishop Courtney was read by Ven. Archdeacon Weston Jones-White, regretting Miss Machin's retirement, and wishing for her every success wherever her lot may be cast. The bishop told pupils and parents what he had been able to do in England.

We understand that the new lady principal is vigorous, comparatively young, being on the bright side of forty, and very enthusiastic in educational matters. Her family is well and widely known. There is, all must allow, a great deal in tone, accent and manner, and when these are joined to culture, tact and a proper sense of faithfulness to trust, we have secured all that we may reasonably expect. The future of Edgill under the new lady principal looks promising, and all will be glad to recognize it as now taking a step in advance and holding its own against the onslaughts of competition.

The concert in the afternoon was well attended. Eighty girls, all in gala array, presented a charming sight. Miss Katherine Manners is the head of the music department at Edgill. Her skill in training the pupils, both in instrumental and vocal culture was very marked. The singing was an improvement over last year, and the number of performers considerably larger. The new music practice rooms, and music teaching rooms have already proved their worth, under the skillful management of Miss K. Manners.

MARRIAGE BELLS.

The residence of Chief of Police Cameron, on Queen Street was, last evening, the scene of a most pleasing and interesting event, the occasion being the marriage of his daughter Augusta to Mr. Charles Large, son of Chief Engineer Large. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. D. Sutherland, pastor of Zion church. Miss Edith Large, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by Mr. Wallace Stewart. The popularity of the contracting parties was evidenced by the number of beautiful and useful wedding gifts received by the bride. THE EXAMINER joins with their hosts of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Large a happy wedded life.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kendall, on Cedar Street, when Miss Jessie McLeod, daughter of Duncan McLeod, of Martintvale, was married to Charles F. Shaw, of Boston, brother of Mrs. Kendall. The ceremony took place at noon in the parlor which was beautifully decorated with flowers. Rev. George S. Anderson of the Highland, Congregational Church officiated. Only the immediate relatives were present. The bride was very becomingly gowned in blue brocade silk trimmed with white chiffon and duchess lace. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were the recipients of many beautiful presents the groom's present to the bride being a handsome watch and chain. After a wedding tour through Maine they will reside in Boston.

(Other papers please copy.)

A very pretty wedding was that at St. Mary's church, Cambridgeport, this morning, when Miss Mary E. Callahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Callahan, and Mr. William E. Murphy, were united in matrimony. There was a very large attendance at the church, where nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Mundy at 9 o'clock. As the bridal party entered Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Lea Greco, who presided at the organ. The ceremony was performed after the celebration of the mass by Rev. Fr. Mundy.

The bride was handsomely attired in white corded silk, with duchess lace trimmings. She wore the customary veil fastened with orange blossoms, and carried pearl prayer book, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Callahan, sister of the bride, wore white organdy over heliotrope silk, and a large white hat. The best man was Mr. John J. Kelly.

A reception was held to the immediate friends of the couple at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. McDermott, 34 Market st. after the ceremony. A wedding breakfast was also served. The wedding gifts were numerous and costly, including silver, china, cut glass and various other useful and ornamental presents. The couple set out for southern points on an afternoon train. They will reside in Cambridge on their return.

[The above is copied from a Cambridgeport, Mass., paper. The Mr. Murphy referred to went to the United States about ten years ago, and is a son of the late Peter Murphy, of Portage, East River. Congratulations.]

He was helping to raise the frame of an extension to his house when one of the corner posts slipped from the sill, striking him on the leg and breaking the thigh bone. WOMEN IN COUNCIL.—The National Council of Women opened its session in Halifax on Tuesday, Lady Aberdeen presiding. The report of the secretary showed that a vast amount of work had been accomplished during this year. The National Council decided to affiliate with the International Council of Women. VERY ENCOURAGING.—The North Lake Cheese Factory is beginning to do a big business this spring. On Monday 14th inst., there were about 6000 pounds of milk received at the factory. It being only one year since the factory was built this is considered by all interested to be satisfactory. The manufacturing of the cheese is under the superintendence of J. D. Larkin, of St. Peter's Bay, who thoroughly understands his business. Owing to the large increase of milk coming in the factory will require the second milk vat. Success to the industry.

AN INTERESTING RELIC.—The Summerside correspondent of the Guardian says: Mrs. John Dickieson has in her possession a piece of the dress worn by Queen Victoria when only 14 years of age. It is lawn, originally white or cream, and hand-embroidered and trimmed with hand-made lace. Mrs. Dickieson came into possession of this relic when in Carthage, Missouri, a few years ago, it being the gift of a grandmother who was lady's maid to the young Princess. The loyal among us while denied the privilege of seeing Her Majesty on the occasion of her jubilee will thus have an opportunity of at least touching the hem of her garment.

CORPUS CHRISTI.—To-day being the Feast of Corpus Christi services were held in St. Dunstan's Cathedral. At the half-past seven Mass 128 children approached the Holy Table for the first time, and 90 renewed their communion. Rev. Dr. Morrison celebrated Mass and administered the Sacrament. Mr. Blanchard presided at the organ, and the singing was by the pupils of the Convent de Notre Dame assisted by Miss Sullivan. This afternoon at three o'clock His Lordship Bishop Macdonald administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to about 140 candidates. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hermans. After the Confirmation service Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given.

TROUBLE WITH THE LIGHTS.—Owing to some trouble with the engine in the Royal Electric Company's station last evening their incandescent service was not up to the usual standard of excellence. Persons who were supplied with light from the station had for a time to fall back upon kerosene lamps and candles. The lights in the Opera House went out three times during the course of the play and the performers had to proceed with the aid of lamps and lanterns. The periods of comparative darkness, however, were of short duration. During one of the dark spells Mr. Havstead marched down the aisle to the footlights wearing his most expansive smile and holding aloft a lighted lamp reminding one of Liberty enlightening the world. The lights will be all right to-night.
