

Seat Belts Urged By Inquest jury

A strong recommendation for the use of seat belts in motor vehicles was contained in the verdict of a coroner's jury brought in last night at an inquest into the deaths of Mrs. Bruce Warren and Mrs. Joseph McKenna, of Dartmouth, N.S., who were killed when their truck left the highway June 29 at Hazelbrook.

After deliberating approximately 45 minutes the jury decided that the two women came to their deaths "as the result of an accident, caused by a fire blowing out, on the left rear wheel, causing the truck to overturn landing in the ditch at Hazelbrook, June 29, 1962, at 4:30 p.m., causing severe bodily harm, skull fractures and hemorrhaging. We strongly corroborate the evidence of Dr. Robert Abel concerning the use of seat belts."

A total of seven witnesses were called including: Kenneth Bruce Warren, Dartmouth, N.S.; Dr. Paul Cadmore, Charlottetown physician and surgeon, who was called to the accident scene; Dr. Robert Abel, assistant provincial pathologist; Cst. Miles Foster, RCMP, Charlottetown, who conducted the investigation; Cst. L. R. DeWitt, RCMP, Charlottetown; Capt. Claud R. Hunter, Charlottetown, and John Ross Whelan, Charlottetown.

Mr. Warren testified that in order to alleviate his financial situation he decided to hire out his truck and put it in the paper stating that he was a truck driver for hire, evenings and weekends.

AGREED TO MOVE
He said Mrs. McKenna phoned him and asked if he would move her to Prince Edward Island and after thinking about it for a month he phoned Mrs. McKenna and told her he would do so.

He said that the moving date was set for June 29 and just before the day came he was injured in an accident at work which caused him to lose the use of the fingers on his right hand. He said he then decided to call the truck but after some argument with his wife he finally gave in and let his wife drive the vehicle.

Mr. Warren stated that he talked with Mrs. McKenna and told her that his wife was going to drive the truck but that McKenna would be alone in the vehicle and asked Mrs. McKenna to drive in her stead. McKenna, which was also making the trip.

TRUCKS
He said another argument developed and he again gave in.

RE-ZONING

(Continued from page 1) commercial and industrial uses. He said he would stress that from a land use point of view, the present zoning extension would not be desirable.

"There are other strong planning grounds on which I would support the re-zoning of the area in question for commercial and light industrial use. When viewed in terms of the city and metropolitan area as a growth area, the area is already established with a number of residential areas and the Belvedere corner of Sherwood and Parkside. The area is well situated for residential development occupying land with a very pleasant prospect," he said.

He noted, however that "in the future, the city council should relax its present non-flexible zones and allow small procedure-outdoor stores to be located centrally in residential neighbourhoods for the convenience of the residents."

Fort Pepperell Claims Settled

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The division of Fort Pepperell, abandoned U.S. Air Force base on the outskirts of St. John's, has been settled by the provincial and federal governments. Premier Smallwood said here.

Mr. Smallwood and Prime Minister Diefenbaker met early this year and drew a boundary line through the base, but they left open a clause in the agreement which allowed either side of the line.

A national defence department official met with Mr. Smallwood in May to discuss the exchange of buildings.

Mr. Smallwood said Friday they had reached complete agreement on the exchange and recommendations were submitted to Defence Minister Diefenbaker and the federal cabinet.

He had been informed this week that the recommendations had been approved by the cabinet.

All that remains is the arrival of a confirming letter from Mr. Diefenbaker, expected in the next day or two.
