

BASE-STEALER GETS AN ASSIST

Kansas City outfielder Bill Tuttle (13) slides in with a successful steal at second as Yankee second sacker Bobby Richardson throws during opening game of a twin bill at Yankee Stadium. Tuttle picked up the steal with ease as New York catcher Yogi Berra's throw bounced wide. A's took it, 4-1, but Yanks clinched 12-inning nightcap, 3-2.

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

We have commented—and we must confess with much delight—on the fact that Milwaukee Braves have yet to beat Los Angeles in this 1958 season. While everybody else in the senior circuit is having barrels of fun at the expense of Walter Alston and his Dodgers, the champions of the baseball world just can't do a thing right against the Dodgers.

After all we picked the Los Angeles crew to win the pennant, so when they do something other than stay in the National League cellar, you can hardly blame us for doing a little crowing. There's been so little to crow about.

Naturally when we read anything that has anything good to say about the Dodgers we scan it carefully. That's exactly what we did with this article written by a Milwaukee sports writer. It goes like this:

"A touch of sadness found its way through the festive atmosphere of the Los Angeles Dodgers' clubhouse here Sunday (June 8). Even in victory, the fugitives from Flatbush choked up a bit at the thought that the Braves were leaving town.

"Except for the recent referendum in which the voters grudgingly made Walter O'Malley a gift of Chavez Ravine, the Braves have been the greatest thing to happen to the Dodgers since they left Brooklyn.

"The 124 massacre in the series final Sunday completed a three-game series sweep for the Dodgers and made it five for five over the champs this season.

"The Braves also dropped the last two games of 1957, so actually they have submitted seven times in a row to O'Malley's boys since squeaking through to a 2-1 victory last September 12. "They bent over backward to be kind Sunday. By performing at their absolute worst, they made it a day of special joy for the 57,128 snaked fans. The licking was the most lopsided of the year. The Dodgers got 19 hits."

It would seem that Milwaukee has about reached the stage of any other baseball town and doesn't applaud everything the Braves do. For a long time the fans and even the writers could see no fault with anything the ball players did. That stage is over.

Fans are now writing to the Milwaukee press giving the Braves the raspberry. One fan suggests that Lew Burdette come down "from cloud 13 on which he has been riding since his great world series performance."

The critic suggests that Lew can't finish a game anymore and backs up his statement by asserting correctly that Burdette has been knocked out of the box eight times in his last nine starts.

The annoyed fan isn't stopping there. In fact he's only getting wound up. He adds: "To me it's significant that he was also the man who received the greatest accolades after the series, who held out longer in the spring than anybody else, who probably got the biggest raise, who got less spring training in Florida than anybody else. All of the elements that lead to fatheadedness are here. I've got my suspicions."

The Milwaukee sports editor's comment is this: "I've got mine too. The whole club had better get off Cloud 13."

You would hardly believe they were talking about the Braves.

Los Angeles coach Charlie Dressen will never win any prizes for humility. Recently the talk got around to New York only having one major league team at the present time. It got Charlie thinking of the good old days and soon his thoughts were translated into these words:

"At one time New York had the three greatest managers—Casey Stengel with the Yankees, Leo Durocher with the Giants and myself with the Brooklyn Dodgers."

Charlie doesn't believe in belittling himself.

And speaking of Leo Durocher reminds us that he has gone overboard on a Dominican outfielder named Felipe Alou. Leo warns all to remember his name because he insists they are going to hear it often in the next few years. The Lip claims Felipe is the only ball player he's ever seen who could do two things as well as Willie Mays—run and throw.

"He's just a baby!" says Durocher, "but don't you forget his name." Felipe is the property of the San Francisco Giants.

There has been a great deal of controversy of late on the matter of how fast New York Yankee's Ryne Duren can throw. It has generally been agreed that the great relief artist has loads of speed but comparisons with other speed merchants always produce an argument.

The latest to get a word in is former Yankee hurler Sal Maglie who now works for the St. Louis Cardinals. There are no qualifications in Sal's utterance. Says Maglie, "How fast is this guy? The fastest I've ever seen. He's faster than Herb Score, and when he's pumping out there, that ball explodes."

Mr. Maglie should know what he is talking about.

This past week or so Cleveland Indians have been hitting the ball in pretty fair fashion. The sudden change must have made general manager Frank Lane and field manager Bobby Bragan feel a whole lot better than they had been.

Recently Lane gave his outfit a real dig and perhaps it was this sarcasm that made them come to life at the plate.

Here was Mr. Lane's unkind comment: "If we ever meet a team that's weak on pop flies, we'll beat the heck out of them."

Birdie Tebbetts is really chirping these days with his Cincinnati Redlegs right in the thick of the National League pennant race. Birdie will really sing if he can persuade Don Newcombe that Cincinnati is the town for him and that this is his chance to prove the Dodgers were dead wrong in letting him slip away.

Tebbetts is quite a fellow with pitchers. He has loads of experience catching them and has done alright in solving more than one pitcher's problems. If he can get Big Newk back to the form that made him number one on the Dodgers' staff, then the Redlegs will be around in the league battle for a long time.

Birdie must think he can do something with Newcombe. If not, he never would of obtained him.

Time alone will tell.

Bob Cerv of the Kansas City Athletics is able to open his mouth again but toffee chewing or cracking nuts is not advisable for a while yet.

Doctors have removed the wires that have held Bob's jaw together since it was broken May 18 but they've warned Cerv that it won't take much for it to break a second time.

Luckily Bob doesn't bat with his jaw. At present he leads the American League in runs batted in with 51 and home runs with 17.

Yanks Snap Losing Streak To Shutout Indians 4-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Whitey Ford shut out Cleveland Indians on three singles Tuesday night, 4-0, and struck out 10 as New York Yankees snapped out of a four game losing string and snipped a Tribe winning string at four. Bill Skowron's sixth-inning home run scored three of the Yankee runs.

The victory was Ford's seventh straight. Hank Bauer, whose third-inning bunt was the only Yankee hit in the first five innings, beat out another bunt with one out in the sixth inning and continued to second when Billy Moran threw wild. Gil McDougald's foul was followed by an intentional walk to Mickey Mantle. Then Yogi Berra singled to right, scoring Bauer and ending a string of 24 scoreless innings for the Yankees.

Here Skowron blasted his seventh home run of the season, scoring Mantle and Berra ahead of him.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ted Kluszewski, Roman Mejias and Bill Virdon blasted triples in the second inning Tuesday night as Pittsburgh Pirates defeated San Francisco Giants 6-1.

Plate umpire Anthony Venzon ejected manager Bill Rigney and coach Herman Franks of the Giants in the fifth inning. Franks disputed several balls that Venzon called on Frank Thomas, who walked. Then, when Rigney argued over Franks' ejection, Venzon also ordered him out of the game.

The Giants only run came in the first inning when Felipe Alou hit Raylon's first pitch over the left field wall.

Prince County Softball Schedule

Below is the remainder of the schedule of the prince county softball league, fans, players, and especially sports writers and announcers in the vicinity are implored to cut this out and paste it in a prominent place:

- 24—Cape Traverse at Tyne Valley
- 25—Pontiacs at Tyne Valley
- 26—Legion at Cape Traverse
- 30—Pontiacs at Cape Traverse
- July 2—Tyne Valley at Legion

- 7—Cape Traverse at Pontiacs
- 8—Legion at Tyne Valley
- 9—Cape Traverse at Legion
- 10—Tyne Valley at Pontiacs
- 14—Tyne Valley at Cape Traverse

Jed MacFadyen led the surprising Cape Traverse attack, getting 3 hits, one a four-base blow, in 5 trips. Gord Cutcliffe hit 2 for 5, Shelley Gardiner 2 for 4, Wes Campbell 2 for 4, and Harold Leard 2 for 3.

MacWilliams also hit a circuit clout. Shelley Gardiner's double cleared the bases in the last frame, and he romped home himself after an error in left field.

Enright Doucette paced the Legion attack with a single and triple in 4 tries.

The keystone combination of Jed and Wendell MacFadyen stood out defensively for the winners, and Gardiner got a good shoe-strin catch of Henry Galant in the last inning.

All Legion fielders, Ralph Champion, Owen Sonier, and Don MacDougall contributed sparkling catches, MacDougall's grab of Geo. Campbell's long foul fly to right in the sixth being the most spectacular.

Gord Sullivan was plate umpire with Bert Brophy helping on the bases.

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

Andrew Perry of Summerside from parties in Woodstock, N.B. After a lot of changes in shoeing and rigging, he began to show symptoms of speed, and on the 15th of July, 1954, he won the second dash of a Classified Pace at Summerside in 2:17, and the owner and driver is given as Andrew Perry. In his next start at Summerside on the 27th of July, he was 3-5; and on August 5, at Summerside he was 2-1 in 2:16 and 2:15. Later, when shipped to Quebec City, on September 14, he won in 2:09 4-5 with driver James MacGregor up. He ended the season there by winning the BB Pace, both heats, in 2:06 1-5 and 2:08 2-5.

In 1955, Bay State Pat was 21 times first, twice second and twice third, with winnings of $9,573, still owned by Andrew Perry and driven by James MacGregor up.

The above story brings back to memory the earlier history of this noted pacer. For the first four years of his life he was considered a no-account horse, and was bought for a very small sum
