Farmers Gather

The meetings which have been going on for the past two weeks are in the nature of an experiment to establish if possible which centres will lend themselves to the development of Regional Branches of the Federation.

The School District in theory, as a unit, should be the simplest way of bringing people together, but the difficulty exists of having either officials for directors present at all such meetings to give information and promote discussion.

The original plan suggested that about 25 regions might be organized but it is possible that this number could be narrowed down to 15. It would then be possible for those closely in touch with Federation work to attend meetings at these centres from time to time. It is likely that during the fall mohths the series of meetings will be repeated and steps taken to establish branches where considered feasible.

The Dairy Industry Changes

In this province the Dairy Industry was born about 1895 and saw the rapid development of 45 cheese Factories serving relatively small areas. These factories gradually took up the manufacture of butter in late fall and early spring months and eventually switched to yearly production of butter.

With the coming of the motor truck it became possible to move cream greater distances and as plants became larger in volume the number gradually declined.

For some years past in Ontario and Quebec the trend has been towards the grouping of a number of plants into a large unit which receives from the farmer whole milk and from it can manufacture either butter or cheese and dried butter milk, whey, and dried skim milk, a product which is becoming more popular and offers the farmer a means of converting skim milk into ready cash. In considering a plant of this type the Dairy concerns in the western part of the province are keeping abreast of the times and are showing commendable initiative and vision.

Single Cut or Double Cut

At this time of the year farmers are purchasing their grass and clover seed and will find available both single cut and double cut Red Clover. Single cut is late Red and double cut is early Red Clover.

The early or double cut has been gaining in popularity and has many points of superiority to recommend it over the late variety. Double cut or early, of
