*Mrs. James O'Brien received news on December 10th from Boston, Mass. that her grandson, Brian Harvey, had two of his fingers and his thumb blown off his left hand. His brother was also hurt when the two boys found a dynamite percussion cup on the street and not knowing what it was, took it home and into the house and hit it with a hammer. The boys' mother, who was Mary O'Brien of this vicinity before her marriage, called the police who after taking the boys to a doctor near by, rushed Brian to hospital where his fingers and thumb were taken off.
