

NEWS of the WORLD in PICTURES

SHRINER'S NEW LEADER—Past Imperial Potentate Harold Lloyd (right) enjoys a big laugh with his successor, Hubert M. Potest, who became the new leader of the National Shrine at its Los Angeles meeting. He is a Latin professor at Wake Forest College, Wake Forest, N.C. Lloyd is the Hollywood film comedian.

St. Catharines, Ont., horse show award for seat and hand class was captured by Shirley Thomas of Ottawa, left, who shows her trophy to Janet Rough, Toronto, Ontario. Shirley rode Tia Martunies, owned by Bob Egan, Beverly Hills, Cal., while Janet, who placed second, rode Rocket, owned by Major G. T. Gayford of Toronto.

In an affectionate mood, young fawn, found near Rideau Lake, south of Perth, Ont., licks face of Lorraine Batoff at home of her father, George, where animal is being kept.

SHOPPING IN POLAND—This sidewalk market scene in Lemberg, Poland, is typical of many cities now behind the Iron Curtain. Lemberg, once a fairly prosperous city, was absorbed by Russia during the war. Most Lemberg Poles were evacuated westward to Polish territory and replaced by Russians. Almost all merchandise is sold through Soviet state stores at high prices, and these open air peasant markets, selling mostly second-hand clothing and household goods are the only markets where supply and demand control price.

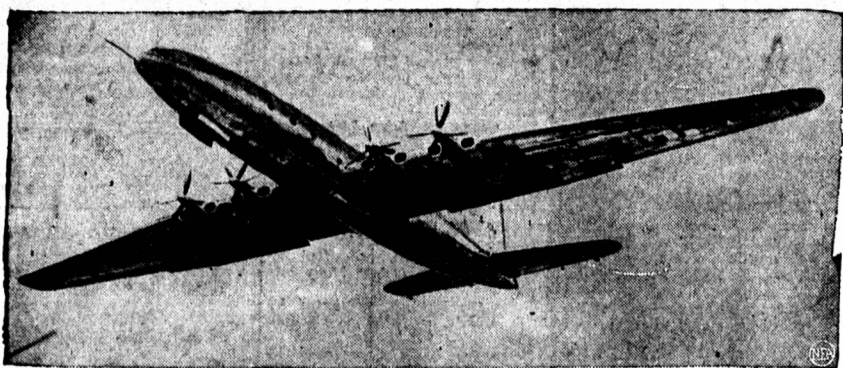

Teen-agers all over Canada, out of school, are looking for jobs. Foregoing a summer of leisure, the boys and girls prefer to be busy, and to earn money. Girls are keeping pace with boys in accepting holiday employment. Doing typing job is Eileen Walker, 16, working for second summer as a trust company clerk. Attacking earth with shovel and plenty of enthusiasm is Ron Owston, 17, a construction laborer who says: "I like it."

Three jills in a jeep were down from Deep River, Ont., to join the hundreds of spectators at a demonstration of military manoeuvres in Petawawa military camp. Teamwork of the R.C.A.F. jet aircraft, firepower of the infantry, and paratroop operations were witnessed by Defence Minister Claxton, M.P.'s and Senators, in a demonstration of the kind of training that is keeping Canada prepared. The girls, left to right, are Lois Blows, Barbara Carruthers and Lois Pollock.

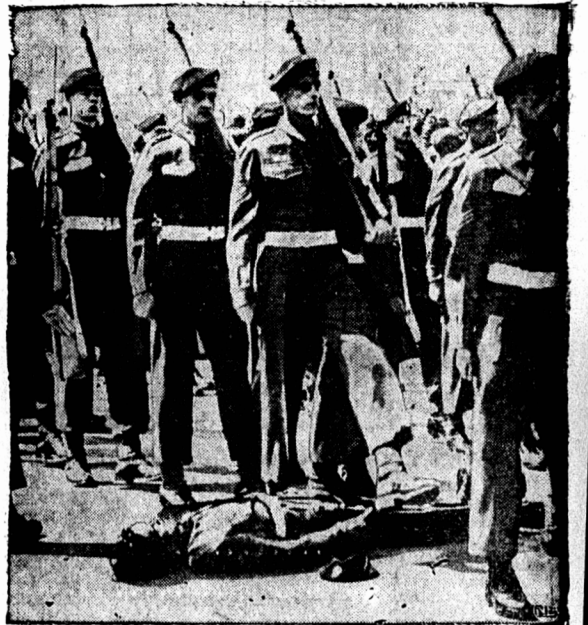

The 130-ton Bristol Brabazon, world's largest civil land-based plane, seen above on its first test flight over London, faces a major test—possibly this summer—in its first Atlantic crossing. Below is one of the first photos of the spacious interior of the huge craft, capable of carrying 100 passengers in luxury and up to 230 on short hops. Passengers sit six abreast in luxurious, roomy seats. The Brabazon, designed as an experimental prototype of planes that will span the Atlantic at 300 miles an hour, is 177 feet long and has a wing span of 230 feet.

Stratfordville, Ont., farmer, Bert Luce, went to his barn, heard groan, saw man believed to be the Langton bandit slayer. Man leaped to the ground and Luce ran off to give the alarm which might lead to capture. As a result of Luce's report to police, cruisers with armed officers riding on the rear trunks swept across and around the concession at Stratfordville in a never-ending line. Men and women in the area were on the alert watching for the fugitive who killed two men after robbing Langton bank.

ONE DOWN—Canadian soldiers, members of Princess Patricia's Light infantry company, display rigid army discipline as they march over the body of a fallen comrade who collapsed from the hot sun during a drill at Calgary, Alberta.

Bert Luce, flashlight in hand, shows where he discovered escaped fugitive in hayloft of barn. Thus grabbed what looked to be a gun, jumped out door but left coat. In pocket of garment were two raw gnawed potatoes, evidence of the man's hunger. Killer stole milk from can at nearby farm of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hall. Milk can and pail are in Toronto being checked for fingerprints.

Over 1,200 scale models of earliest to latest aircraft will pass in review at T. Eaton Company's model plane contest at De Havilland airport, near Malton, Ont. Annual contest has been held every year since 1937. Speed and endurance will be featured at the show. There will be 17 different classes of model flying. Putting finishing touches to his model is Andy McKinnell. Affair is held to encourage Canadian youth in aeronautics and aircraft design.