Adjudicators Have

Mr. Stromberg accredited the Hillsboro Chorale being the best choir of chorale voices he has heard this festival. He awarded them 83 marks. At Prince of Wales auditorium, Mr. Terry said that in the young girls' choirs, which sang "Salve Regina" the audience had heard "some of the finest singing we have ever heard." He pointed out the quiet intensity produced by these voices, recommending only the quickening of sensitivity by more contrast. Girls in these choirs were 16 and under. Mr. Terry called the Saint James Church choir "a fine, well-integrated choir" and praised them for giving their words natural significance, especially in their second selection.

Variety Concert At Georgetown

A variety concert was held in Town Hall in Georgetown on Thursday, April 29th, before a capacity audience. The concert was under the sponsorship of the Home and School Association and the proceeds will be used to defray the costs of transporting the Georgetown High School entries to the Musical Festival. The songs and choruses presented by the school pupils under the direction of their music and singing teacher, Mrs. MacLure, were of a very high standard and were much appreciated by the audience. Mr. Harry Yorston rendered several lovely solos, and also acted as accompanist for the piano for the chorus presented by a number of the ladies and gentlemen of the town who rendered a number of favourite songs of the Gay Nineties. They wore costumes of that Victorian era and their rendition of those memory-raising favourites was the subject of much favourable comment. Mr. Edward Easton was the piano accompanist for Mr. Yorston's solos. Mr. Richard DeLorey, assisted by Mr. Stewart Hansen carried out a mirth provoking and hilarious, "Share the Wealth Programme" and "Fun Parade," both of which contributed greatly to making the evening's entertainment such a success. Mr. J. B. Scully acted as Master of Ceremonies for the evening. Two very educational films were shown on the 16 millimeter projector by Mr. Christopher Hartman. One in technicolor showed the scenic beauty of Cape Breton Island and the other graphically portrayed the work of the C. G. S. Sorell, as she carried out her important marine duties. -A.C.

Can Determine Origin Of Opium

OTTAWA, (CP) - Scientists in the health department's food and drug laboratory here have discovered an accurate method of determining the origin of opium - a step which will aid in narcotic control.

The department announced the discovery Tuesday in a statement which said results achieved here were greatly assisted by the volume of research in other countries on the same project.

The Canadian research staff is part of a United Nations team working in collaboration with scientists from the United States, United Kingdom and other countries.

The discovery makes it possible to determine "beyond a reasonable doubt" the country from which the opium comes.

Local Trade Board

re-dedicate ourselves to keep alive the system under which we have our freedom, or lose it." Speaking of the development of government controls he said, "they run 24 businesses and we should continually remind ourselves that the government produces nothing." He pointed out that Canada had the best banking system in the world, that the social services were good but that team work between business, capital and government was necessary. The government should be supervising rather than operative. 700 Boards of Trade on local level are endeavouring to deal with, and assist in, solving problems throughout Canada.

"What we can produce, use and sell, is an overall problem. Additional population can be readily absorbed, creating new wealth and new markets," and the speaker "would not hesitate to accept a good class of immigrants."

He stressed the development of natural resources to be a steady value of the Canadian dollar in world markets, attributing this desirable situation to the influx of outside capital in the rapid development of new openings in the country. The personal savings of the Canadian people were never at a higher peak and the consuming market is strong.

"Worthy activities on local and national levels continue, and if sustained, goods and better business in Canada may be looked for," the speaker concluded.

Mr. Alban Farmer, National Director, C.C.C., thanked the speaker for his splendid address.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Need for more adequate ferry accommodation at Wood Islands was strongly emphasized in the report President Ernest D. Reid at last night's meeting. The Board of Trade, he said was greatly concerned over this matter and a special committee had held several meetings with company officials and Government authorities both here and in Ottawa.

He stated the Board fully endorsed the request of the present operators, Northumberland Ferries Limited, for increased equipment in the form of another boat for this year. But he added it now seems that facilities will not be improved for at least the next few months which are the important ones here. Mr. Reid pointed that improved service was needed more
