

Bruins Upset Canadiens 3-1 To Even The Series

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
BOSTON (CP) — The fighting Boston Bruins squared the Stanley Cup final at two-all Tuesday night, thoroughly beating Montreal 3-1 on two goals by Don McKenney and a single by Jerry Toppazzini.

Claude Provost scored Montreal's lone goal at 12:57 of the third period after the Bruins had the game in hand.

The Bruins were a far different team from that which absorbed a 3-0 defeat at the hands of the Canadiens in the third game Sunday. They jumped into a 1-0 lead in the first period and led 2-0 at the end of the second, having by far the better of play almost all the way.

They were much sharper than the Canadiens, checked closer and were more dangerous with their shots. The Montrealers appeared jaded and weary and were a tired team at the end.

They lost defenceman Dollard St. Laurent in the second period when he was checked, as he turned, by Leo Labine and took the count. He was reported to have been knocked dizzy and only vaguely aware of what was going on when he was helped to the bench and later to the dressing room.

Both of McKenney's goals came while St. Laurent was serving penalties—the first for holding and the second for tripping.

The Boston power play was quick to roar in with goal-getting drives each time—something Montreal's famed power play failed to do.

Charlottetown Royals and New Glasgow Rangers renew their hockey feud here at the Sports Arena Thursday night.

The teams are tied 1-1 in a best of five series with the prize for the survivor being a crack at the powerful Bathurst Papermakers. That series will get underway next Monday. It will also be a best of five affair.

Royals showed far too much class for the Rangers in that opening game last Friday. In fairness to the Nova Scotians however they were rusty after a long lay-off, having had no competition since they were eliminated by Hull in Allan Cup play.

In the second contest New Glasgow was able to come from behind to eke out a 6-5 decision but it looked like a case of the Whitlock-coached crew just running out of steam due to a player shortage.

In any event the series is knotted, with one team needing two more wins before qualifying for the final bracket with the Papermakers. That team should be the Royals. They'll have a full complement of players and the advantage of their home ice. Those two factors should be enough to close the battle out in four games.

However there's many the slip 'twixt the cup and the lip and Rangers are likely to be a much better outfit than they were last week. You can bet they've had several tough practice sessions since Saturday and will be ready to force the local outfit to the limit.

Such goings-on should make for two bang-up hockey games on Thursday and Friday nights and the Sports Arena certainly should not have any trouble in breaking its season's record.

Let's pack 'em in.

Sam Pollock who has a dual role with Junior Canadiens — he's coach and general manager — has announced the baby Habs may play a full schedule in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A series next season.

The Junior Canadiens have already been given permission to use six senior players if they decide to enter this league on a full time basis.

This is the outfit that crushed the Cape Breton Juniors in Memorial Cup play a few weeks ago and look like a sure bet to go all the way for junior hockey supremacy in Canada.

Major League ball is finally a reality in San Francisco and that excited spot has taken the initial steps to provide a major league stadium which is expected to be in readiness for the 1959 season.

It has been decided to drop a study of a downtown alternative site and proceed with construction of the proposed Giants' stadium at Candlestick Point on the outskirts.

The governing board approved the spending of $4,093,000 to engineer and build access roads and sewers around the 77-acre park.

Bowlers throughout the Maritime Provinces will regret to learn of the death in Halifax of Wilbert Martell, champion bowler and long-time partner in Conn and Martell's bowling alleys.

For upwards of fifty years the Conn-Martell bowling teams were known for their feats in Eastern Canada as well as in the State of Maine. Twenty years ago Mr. Martell established a world candlepin record of 215 in a single string. That mark still stands. It is claimed that he topped 400 in a three string match so many times that he lost count.

We had a surprise phone call from none other than Wes 'Bucko' Trainor yesterday afternoon. With so many hockey mixups lately we were not surprised to be told long distance was calling us but when we heard it was Newfoundland we just couldn't figure it all out.

Well 'Bucko' was inquiring about Windsor Maple Leafs who are to play an exhibition series with Trainor's G-and Falls club that recently copped the Newfoundland Senior crown.

While chatting with the former Islanders' coach we learned from him that Orin Carver was terrific for 'Bucko' all season long. Trainor couldn't heap enough praise on the Charlottetown player who was so instrumental in bringing the championship to Grand Falls.

Orin is registered with the Royals and is on his way home where he will likely perform with Buck Whitlock's gang. He will be a tower of strength, particularly if Royals get into the finals with the Bathurst Papermakers.

'Bucko' expects to visit Prince Edward Island this summer.

The Chicago White Sox stock dispute involving the Comiskey family still rages and the latest angle is that Chuck Comiskey's sister is trying to "ruin" him.

The setup is this. The Sox' vice-president is attempting to force his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Rigney Comiskey, to release stock owned to both by her mother, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, who was the club president. Chuck's attorney asserted that "Dorothy Rigney doesn't want the stock distributed. It would ruin her attempt to ruin her brother". However Mrs. Rigney's lawyer claims his client has no intention of voting the stock against Chuck's interests.

Mrs. Comiskey left an estate of $1,087,751. The principal beneficiaries were Mrs. Rigney who received $359,515 and Comiskey who got $226,228.

Mrs. Comiskey, the club president, died December 10, 1956. Her 4,062 shares of White Sox stock were appraised at $195.34 a share.

Chuck Comiskey is attempting to force his sister to release her stock and Mrs. Rigney is seeking dismissal of a Probate Court order restraining her from voting the stock held in the estate.

Meanwhile Al Lopez and his White Sox are into another baseball season not worrying over the court battle but rather over the power of the New York Yankees.

No that's right. We must not forget our Detroit Tigers. We picked them. Didn't we?

Ken Farmer of Montreal has been re-elected president of the Canadian Olympic Association at the annual meeting here, it was announced Tuesday.

Farmer said Canada's team at the 1960 summer Olympics in Rome, might "conceivably be smaller than that which went to Australia in 1956."

The meeting, held Monday, also discussed the Pan-American Games to be held next year in the United States. He said Canada would have a strong delegation.

The meeting also decided to conduct joint fund-raising campaigns for the Pan-Amrican and Olympic games.

Giants Blast L.A. Bums; Braves Lose To Pirates

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
San Francisco Giants, late of New York, inaugurated major league baseball on the Pacific Coast Tuesday with a 8-0 clobbering of Los Angeles Dodgers, the former bums of Brooklyn.

A sell-out crowd of 23,449 San Franciscans watched under a glorious sun as Ruben Gomez held Dodgers to six singles.

Meanwhile, in Milwaukee, the world champion Braves had their 1958 debut ruined when they lost a 14-inning opener 4-3 to Pittsburgh Pirates.

Yogi Berra hit a two-run homer on a two-strike pitch as New York Yankees defeated Boston Red Sox 3-0 in the opener at Boston.

It was the first full major league schedule of the season which opened in Washington Sunday.

In the National, Philadelphia Phils, helped by a couple of rookies, defeated the Redlegs at Cincinnati 5-4. The game was protested. Chicago was at St. Louis in a night game.

At San Francisco Gomez, temperamental 30-year-old with a singing fast pitch and a puzzling screwball, escaped early disaster due to his own wildness and chipped in two singles and drove in one run.

Rookie Orlando Cepeda and Daryl Spencer clubbed home runs in the 11-hit attack on Don Drysdale and two successors. Drysdale was knocked out in the four-run fourth inning.

Pheasants Being Released In Province By Game Ass'n

Three hundred pheasants, one year of age were purchased by the Fish and Game Association on the Island and 100 of the birds have been sent to each county. The birds were bought in Wisconsin and 70 of them will be released in Prince County the latter part of this week. The other 30 birds will be kept at this time for the purpose of hatching eggs.

When 500 eggs have been laid the 30 birds will be given their freedom. The eggs will be placed with various farmers who assist the branch in hatching and raising the young ones. A meeting of the directors of the local branch on Thursday evening will decide where the 70 pheasants will be released on Friday and Saturday.

The pheasants are located in pens at the home of B.L. Rayner, Travellers Rest.

This is a continuation of the pheasant program which began last year and reports from most areas of the country have shown that those released earlier are doing well in their adopted habitat.

Argonauts Sign Yank Fullback

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League announced the signing Tuesday of Joseph John Trivisono, 24, fullback from Ohio State University.

Years Of Litigation End; Anti-Trust Suit Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Years of litigation ended Tuesday with the announcement that Bill Radovich's anti-trust suit against the National Football League has been settled out of court.

Maxwell Keith, lawyer for Radovich, said "a substantial settlement" will go to the former player who sued the NFL for $105,000.

Keith told a reporter: "If the money is properly invested, Radovich will have about $10,000 a year income."

Federal Judge George Harris, who heard the long litigation, could not be reached, nor were the NFL counsel available.

Radovich, now 42, a one-time University of Southern California star linesman, played with Detroit Lions of the NFL from 1941 to 1945. In 1946 he signed with the Los Angeles Dons, at that time a member of the now-defunct American Conference.

He eventually sought re-employment with the Lions and with the old San Francisco Clippers, at that time a member of the Pacific Coast Football League, now out of existence but then affiliated with NFL.

Radovich contended he was barred or denied employment and blacklisted because he had jumped from the NFL.

Cliff Has Just Finished 32 Seasons Of Hockey

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Cliff Walker is 51, the father of three, works in a Western Ontario beet plant loading trucks, wears glasses, weighs 145 pounds and is five feet, eight inches tall. He's like thousands of other hard-working fellows who quaff the odd beer and spend many evenings at home in front of a TV set.

But, comes he winter months, and Walker is something special around his home town of West Lorne, a village of 1,078 population. He gets out and plays hockey with "the boys."

Walker, who celebrates his 52nd birthday this Sunday, has just completed 32-straight playing seasons, a record that probably no one in North America can touch. Hockey, he says, is a hobby with him.

There's no fooling in his "hobby." He cuts out the beer and cigarettes, takes his regular turn at his centre ice position for about 30 minutes every game and this season was the club's second highest scorer with 36 goals. He got 30 of them during the regular season and six in a five-game playoff with Shedden for the West Lorne Community League championship.

"That's an amazing record," says W. A. (Billy) Hewitt of Toronto, registrar-treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association since 1922. "In the old days we used to have fellows stay in the game pretty long, but I don't think anyone stayed with it as long as this Walker fellow."

Hewitt should know. He has been close to Canadian sport for most of his 83 years and has a prodigious memory. "I can't think of anyone who has played organized hockey on a regular basis at 51 years of age," he says.

Walker is pretty proud of his record, and he thinks he'll stretch it a few years. "I've got a few good years left," he says. "Well, maybe a couple. I'll stick with it as long as I feel fit and can get along without wheezing whenever I take my turn on the ice."

Credits Bruins' Will To Win With Bringing Victory

BOSTON (AP)—Boston coach Milt Schmidt credited his Bruins' determination and will to win for their 3-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens Tuesday night.

"This makes the series a lot more interesting," Schmidt said after the Bruins deadlocked matters at two games apiece in the battle for hockey's coveted Stanley Cup.

"We had our backs to the wall tonight, but these guys of mine don't know the meaning of the word quit," he added. "Regardless of how things turn out, they have been great. Determination and will to win, plus our ability, make a combination tough to beat."

Schmidt called the first goal "a deadly weapon" and noted that in the Bruins' 10 playoff games the team that tallied first lost only twice.
