Died,

At Elm Vale, Bedeque, on Saturday the 20th ult., of Croup, MILLICENT PALMER, third daughter of Stephen Wright, Esq. aged 14 years. Firm in the belief that she was resigning her soul to the hands of her Maker, she met her death with a most christian-like submission to His will. The deceased was an affectionate and talented child, and her loss is deeply deplored by her bereaved parents as well as a large circle of relatives and friends.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To THE EDITOR OF HASZARD'S GAZETTE.

Sir,

That a humorous and fanciful style of writing is no certain indication of a manly and generous spirit, is plainly evident in a communication in the Church Times, from P. E. Island of the 6th ultimo, signed "an Observer." That gentleman, at the very commencement of his letter, assumes to himself the denomination of a "right-minded churchman," and compares those who differ with him, to bats and owls, scared by "the torch of truth." All this is very poetical, but little to the point—He, and his friends, no doubt, are "saddened" at anything that breathes opposition against the idol of their regard; still, he should not attempt to fasten upon others, without sufficient warrant, the charge of exciting "odium" against those in authority. Surely men may express a difference of opinion, or even advocate a course of liberal church policy without incurring the charge of contumacy. But such, according to his notions are to be "summarily disposed of, and made to feel the power," they would fain reduce to just and scriptural limits. Is not this the kind of advice which was given by young and wilful men to a certain Jewish monarch in the olden times, vide 1st Kings, xii—10t, 11.

It is a fortunate circumstance, that an observer "has relinquished his hold of the "bilious clericus," and resumed his capacity of "a looker on,otherwise, with the aid of the redoubtable anticlericus, the threatened "satisfecit" might ere this, have been duly administered. Would the writer consider it an impertinence to ask, whether, at the end of his own curriculum, his alma mater had indulged him with a more palatable "satisfecit"! To judge from the strange jumble before us, the fact must be rather dubious.

Observer says that "no one desires to interfere with the way in which the Church Witness is conducted!" and yet, in the same breath he denounces the Editor as a "libeller, "a maligner" of his "beloved Bishop," a man devoid of charity," "and "one who dishes up weekly, something ecclesiastically saucy," to stimulate the palates of his readers. If this does not look like interference with the paper, what does? He goes on, however, still further, for without stopping to notice his witless reference to "the winking madona,"which may be a mere pleasantry, he adds, "but seriously," the Church Witness prefers "the shady side of truth:" that is prefers falsehood to truth, it "delights not in healing charity;" and, proh pudor! "it deals in unfounded slander!" Yet, in despite of this bad account of the Witness, he admits that it is "getting rather an extensive circulation in this obscure little Island," "a pretty good proof that all are not as short sighted as himself.

What he says of the New York Theological seminary, I cannot contradict from personal knowledge, although I have heard quite enough to make me suspect its bearings, but from Observer's own statement, it would appear that one of the principal Professors holds "ultra theological opinions, and this man he calls "a judicious churchman," a remark that affords some clue to his own views, for if he wishes to be thought "judicious" in that sense, he must hold similar "ultra opinions" himself.

Nothing, I feel sure, could have induced the Editor of the Church Times to have given insertion ot this trashy production but a morbid jealousy of his New Brunswick contemporary. Such a course must defeat its own object, and contribute the more to promote the popularity of the Church Witness.

Yours &c.

LATE Discoveries in Pathology show that very many of the diseases which afflict mankind, arise from impurity of the blood. This has long been suspected but is only lately known. In consumption, tubercles are found to be a sedimentary deposite from the blood. Dropsy, Gout, Cancer, Ulcers and Eruptions, all arise in disordered deposites from the blood. Billious diseases and fevers are caused solely by its deranged, unhealthy state, and even the decline of life follows a want of vitality in the blood. In view of these facts DR. AYER designed his Cathartic Pills especially to purify and invigorate the blood, and hence we believe to arise its unparalelled success in controlling and curing diseases.—Medical Journal.
