A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.
"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the enclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.
Yours truly,
W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct.
21, 1882. Yours gratefully, HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipela-sia, Eczema, Ringworm, Blisters, Sores, Bolls, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impu-rities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

The Daily Examiner

MAY 20, 1885.
A Reliable Newspaper.

The Patriot has gained fresh laurels as a Grit party organ during the late campaign for the Legislative Council. According to the accounts of meetings published in the Grit organ, Mr. McEachen and his cause were in bad repute all over the District. The following we quote as samples of the Patriot's reports of the meetings:

At Elmira, Lot 47. Mr. Bowers made, says the Patriot's correspondent, "a powerful and eloquent speech" at the close of which,—

"Resolutions were submitted, asking the meeting to give their votes and influence to Mr. Bowers, at the ensuing election. On the motion being put to the meeting, it was carried without a dissenting voice."

At the close of the poll at this place, the vote stood McEachen 81, Bowers 48.
At Rollo Bay, the Patriot reporter says,—

"The meeting was orderly and well conducted, and the candidate, Mr. Bowers, in his noble and powerful speech, was listened to with the greatest attention. The couple of Tories who were there, crouched and held down their heads. When Mr. Bowers had finished his very marked speech which was listened to with marked attention, a resolution in his favor was put and carried without a dissenting voice."

The "powerful eloquence" which made the wretched Tories hold down their heads, lost its force by election day.
State of the polls, McEachen 93, Bowers 75.

At Red Point, Lot 46, according to the Patriot's correspondent, Mr. Bowers:

"Stated the policy of the Liberal party, which at once commended itself to the good sense and intelligence of the meeting." Alas! for the uncertainty of human predictions, particularly Grit ones. At Lot 46, McEachen polled 95 votes, Bowers 45!!

At Marie, the Patriot's reporter said, that

"The Liberal candidate, Mr. P. R.
Bowers, was first to address the meeting, which he did in a forcible and telling speech of nearly two hours long. He was listened to with the most earnest attention, broken only by the sympathetic cheers of his audience."

Was it not strange that this sympathy should have so sadly evaporated before election day? Here the poll stood: McEachen 131, Bowers 49.

At Peake's Station, P. R. Bowers, Esquire,

"Stated that he held several meetings in the eastern end of the district, and met with a handsome reception in all he attended, which indicated the unpopularity of the Government in this Province. In an eloquent and affecting speech of over two hours, in which he dealt with the general policy of the Government, he strongly condemned them for burdening the Island with a heavy tax. The meeting was enthusiastically in favor of Mr. Bowers.
A vote of thanks was tendered to the chairman, after which the meeting quietly dispersed."

How sad to think that electors so deeply "affected" by the candidate's eloquence, should part with all their good impressions before reaching the polls! The vote at Peake's stood: McEachen 44, Bowers 32.

Another Advance in the Right Direction.

It has been the experience of many of our Island young ladies, that disappointments have followed their ambition to profit by the business openings in the United States, available to intelligent and educated women. Now, our P. E. Island young ladies, at least those who have a laudable pride in being self-supporting, are, as a general thing, both intelligent and sufficiently educated to creditably acquit themselves when thrown among strangers. But one difficulty has met them in going to the United States for employment, and that is their ignorance of book-keeping, telegraphy, or type-writing, all of which are remunerative and offer excellent opportunities for earning money to prudent and pains taking young ladies.
It is gratifying to know, therefore, that Principal L. B. Miller, of the Charlot-tewtown Business College, has just formed a female class to qualify for these very employments in the United States, and we have much pleasure in spreading the good news so that the many families in the Province, who rely upon the columns of THE EXAMINER for information, can thus, if they so desire, advance the education of their daughters in a money making and pleasant direction. Letters of enquiry addressed to the Business College will be answered immediately.

— A potato digger has been patented by Mr. Burton D. Prentice, of Castalia, Ohio. The Scientific American says:— "Its construction is such that when the machine is drawn forward with the scoop in working condition the potatoes and soil are passed back upon bars, by the shaking of which the soil is liberated and the potatoes fall on the ground at the rear, ready to be gathered."

ADAM BEDE.

CHAPTER LI.

Seth was right in believing that Lisbeth would be held in restraint by timidity; and during the next three days the intervals in which she had an opportunity of speaking to Adam were too rare and short to cause her any strong temptation. But in her long solitary hours she brooded her regretful thoughts about Dinah, till they had grown very near that point of unmanageable strength when thoughts are apt to take wing out of their secret nest in a startling manner. And on Sunday morning, when Seth went away to chapel at Tredleston, the dangerous opportunity came.

Sunday morning was the happiest time in all the week to Lisbeth; for as there was no service at Hayslope Church till the afternoon, Adam was at home, doing nothing but reading, an occupation in which she could venture to interrupt him. Moreover, she had always a better dinner than usual to prepare for her sons—very frequently for Adam and herself alone, Seth being often away the entire day; and the smell of the roastmeat before the clear fire in the clean kitchen, the clock ticking in a peaceful Sunday manner, her darling Adam seated near her in his best clothes, doing nothing very important, so that she could go and stroke her hand across his hair if she liked, and see him look up at her and smile while Gyp, rather jealous, poked his muzzle up between them—all these things made poor Lisbeth's earthly paradise.

The book Adam most often read on a Sunday morning was his large pictured Bible, and this morning it lay open before him on the round white deal table in the kitchen; for he sat there in spite of the fire, because he knew his mother liked to have him with her, and it was the only day in the week when he could indulge her in that way. You would have liked to see Adam reading his Bible; he never opened it on a week day, and so he came to it as a holiday book, serving him for history, biography and poetry. He had one hand thrust between his waistcoat buttons and the other ready to turn the pages; and in the course of the morning you would have seen many changes in his face.

Sometimes his lips moved in semi-articulation—it was when he came to a speech that he could fancy himself uttering, such as Samuel's dying speech to the people; then his eyebrows would be raised, and the corner of his mouth would quiver a little with sad sympathy—something, perhaps old Isaac's meeting with his son, touched him closely; at other times, over the New Testament, a very solemn look would come upon his face, and he would every now and then shake his head in serious assent, or just lift up his hand and let it fall again; and, on some mornings, when he read in the Apocrypha, of which he was very fond, the son of Syrach's keen-edged words would bring a delighted smile, though he also enjoyed the freedom of occasionally differing from an Apocryphal writer. For Adam knew the Articles quite well, as he became a good church man.

Lisbeth, in the pauses of attending to her dinner, always sat opposite to him and watched him, till she could rest no longer without going up to him and giving him a caress, to call his attention to her. This morning he was reading the Gospel according to St. Matthew, and Lisbeth had been standing close by him for some minutes, stroking his hair, which was smoother than usual this morning, and looking at the large page with silent wonderment at the mystery of letters. She was encouraged to continue this caress, because, when she first went up to him, he had thrown himself back in his chair to look at her affectionately and say, "Why, mother, thee look'st rare and hearty this morning. Eh! Gyp wants me to look at him; he can't abide to think I love thee the best." Lisbeth said nothing, because she wanted to say
