THE YACHT RACE YESTERDAY.

Actual and Corrected Times of the Various Boats Taking Part.

It was predicted in these columns that the yacht race which took place yesterday would excel in interest anything of the kind during recent years. The unanimous decision of yachtsmen and spectators alike is that yesterday's race was the closest and most exciting which has ever taken place in Charlottetown Harbor.

From early morning the yachtsmen were busy as bees making their final preparations, which were not completed till 12 o'clock. At that hour all the competing sloops were lined up at Connolly's Wharf, and by 12 30 "standing room only" could be secured in the vicinity of the start.

At one o'clock, to the second, Dr's. Jenkins and Johnson, the starters, sent off Mr. Joseph McCarey's trim little sloop Madonna, and at intervals of one minute the other boats were started in the following order: Mary F., Capt. McMillan; Puritan, J. Snelgrove; Nanita, Dr. Robins; Ideal, Pinaud; Arrow, Dougherty; Alma, Lund; Muriel, Peake.

Although the morning had given promise of plenty of wind at the start and for the first round of the course the westerly wind was light, and rather uncertain. The yachts turned the first mark—off railway wharf—in the order of starting, and then came the two miles beat to windward. On this leg the Alma outfooted the Nanita and turned Brickmaker's buoy first, closely followed by the Nanita, which overhauled her at the next buoy and beat her on the long run to railway wharf. In the meantime the Ideal, which had passed the Nanita on the beat to windward, and had been replaced in turn by the latter, turned Brickmaker's buoy third and overhauled her two rivals, and the three turned the third buoy with not twenty-five feet separating them. On the long run to leeward they maintained their positions, with the Nanita gaining. Arrow and Muriel followed in the order named. On the next beat to windward the Alma and Ideal again passed the Nanita and just here the wind increased noticeably, which favored the Nanita, Arrow and Muriel. Alma again turned the second buoy first, closely followed by the Nanita, which again overhauled her at White's Point. The Ideal, which did not like the increasing wind, followed at some distance, with the others in their former order.

In rounding White's buoy Nanita claims a foul by Alma, which, if allowed, will cost the latter the race. Coming down the home stretch Nanita, as before on the same lay, outfooted Alma and finished ahead of her 38 seconds. Fifty-five seconds the later Ideal crossed the line, followed in 4 minutes and 6 seconds by the Arrow. Muriel finished last. Following is the actual and corrected time of the race:—

Actual Elapsed Time.

Alma	2.34.40
Nanita	2.37.02
Ideal	2.37.35
Arrow	2.40.41
Muriel	2.46.59

Corrected Time (Time Allowance Deducted).

Alma	2 28 37
Ideal	2.32.05
Arrow	2.34.38
Nanita	2.37.02
Muriel	2.38.00

This gives the race to Alma, with Ideal second, but as protests have been entered against both of these boats the result will not be known until a decision is given by the judges, Hon. Senator Macdonald and Mr. T. B. Aichorn.

Mr. A. Peake, the owner of Muriel, reports that his bobstay gave way when turning the first buoy, and owing to this accident his yacht made slower time than would otherwise have been the case.

The Madonna, Mary F. and Puritan, although governed by the same starters and judges as the other yachts, were sailing under a private arrangement.

As far as THE EXAMINER can learn it was a scratch match, and we give the time below without time allowance.

Soon after the start Mary F. passed Madonna, and after passing Brickmaker's Point, owing to a misunderstanding, laid away for West River buoy, which she rounded, and thereby lost much time. She was followed most of the way by Madonna, which, when she perceived her mistake, laid away for the course followed by the other yachts. In this race the yachts finished in the following order:

Actual elapsed time.

Mary F.	2.51 9
Puritan	2.57.1
Madonna	2.58.0

Mary F. made a very pretty race, notwithstanding her mistake; and Madonna, although much the smaller boat, only finished third to Puritan through her error in following Mary F. up West River.

Those who witnessed the race from the judges' boat and from the wharves were more than satisfied, and it will be in the interests of yachting to have many more such races in the harbor.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM.

SIR,—The principle of credit has been a source of great trouble and loss to our merchants since it came into existence, and will be as long as it is indulged in. I contend that the principle is wrong, and the sooner our merchants face the difficulty the sooner will their losses cease, and peace and happiness will reign throughout our beautiful Isle. Extravagance in every form can be traced to the merchant, and he is responsible in a great measure for the misery existing in our midst, for the merchant has the power of educating our people to self-control, through compelling people to pay as they go. No man or woman has a right to get anything without an equivalent, and as a large proportion of our people are indifferent to their obligations (being so educated by our merchants). Let us reverse our method and give the cash system a trial, and if we carry out its principles as faithfully as we have the credit system the result will be most gratifying to all.
